The extremely cold weather which prevailed in Holland last Winter has done a great deal of damage to bulbs and it is therefore absolutely necessary that orders for Tulips and other imported bulbs be placed at once.

We have always advocated early buying of bulbs and pointed out the many advantages. Now, however, we must go further and state that it is ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY orders be sent at once.

Most prices quoted on Tulips and other imported bulbs in this circular and our catalog will be increased after August 1st, in some instances twenty-five per cent.

(Bulbs are offered for as long as unsold).

Special Border Collection of TULIPS

A splendid collection of moderately priced popular Tulips

IF you are looking for a moderately priced collection of Tulips of the best standard sorts, here it is. This collection is especially prepared for people who are particular about good color arrangement and varieties that will last for three or four years without having to be replaced. If you do not know anything about selecting Tulips and would leave it to us as so many customers do, we would send you this collection. Because of heavy frost damages to bulb stocks last Winter, we expect difficulty in getting full deliveries from abroad. Therefore, order at once. "First come, first served."

Fifty bulbs of a kind were used in the planting illustrated. Equally good results can be obtained with lesser quantities for a smaller garden. If you do not have a shrubbery border, plant these 12 choice varieties along your garden path!

Scilla Sibirica

One of the earliest Spring bulbs to flower. Its brilliant blue color is outstanding. Plant it in clusters of not less than 25 bulbs under shrubbery in the border or in the rock garden. It does well in half shade or full sun.

Galanthus - Snowdrops

Particularly effective under trees or shrubs in the border, also do well in thin woodland. Are best planted in colonies of not less than 25 bulbs, and do not move them as they do not like to be disturbed. They spread and naturalize quite easily and do equally well in half shade or full sun.

The Coral Lily

LILIUM TENUIFOLIUM

BYOND doubt the most brilliant Lily in cultivation. The flowers are a shining coral-red with a decidedly orange glow. To illustrate this color accurately is impossible. Like the Regal Lily, it is one of the simplest kinds to grow. It is, however, not as tall a variety. Its requirements are the same as that of the Regal Lily but it has the advantage of being very easily grown indoors. Plant three bulbs in a 5 or 6-inch pot, keep in a cool place for 6 weeks, then put in sunny window and water carefully. If planted outside, best effects are obtained if three or five bulbs are set closely together.

The Coral Lily is not a new Lily, but it has been very scarce and hard to obtain. During the past few years we have built up quite a nice stock and can offer it now in large quantities.

LILIUM REGALE

(Myriophyllum)

☞ Commonly known as the REGAL or ROYAL LILY ☞

Culture

Plant in September, October, November, March, and April. Fall planting is preferred but Spring planting is almost as good. Set bulbs 4 to 5 inches deep, in any soil not too wet, either in light shade between plants and shrubs or in full sun in the border. By any soil we mean just what we say. Regal Lily grows everywhere, in sand or hard clay, in loam, in gravelly soil, anywhere, providing it is not too wet.

Description

A vigorous grower with sturdy stem 4 to 6 feet high, densely covered with long, linear-lanceolate foliage. Center of flower flushed with yellow, shading to white at the outer edges; externally the flowers are streaked with brown on the "ribs," shaded through the almost translucent petals with a delightful pearly tint; the contrast between the rich wine color of the reverse of the petals and the gold shading of the throat is extraordinarily beautiful.

Specially Priced for Mass Garden Planting or Naturalizing

We have received hundreds of letters requesting us to sell good flowering-sized bulbs now at a fair price in preference to waiting for the largest bulbs at high prices. We are therefore offering such bulbs at these prices as long as our stock holds out.
