Revive Your Lawn Now

The "Forbes" Lawn Seed

This contains seeds of six dwarf evergreen and perennial grasses of fine lawn texture. The resultant lawn has a fine, even, rich green appearance and a permanency not usually found. It is rapid-growing and produces, in from four to six weeks, a lawn capable of withstanding heavy wear. There is no clover in this mixture.

Lb. 60 cts., 3-lb. handy ready-to-sow container $1.70, 5 lbs. $2.50, 10 lbs. $4.75, 25 lbs. $11.50, 100 lbs. $45. All delivered.

For quick results, sow $1\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. to every 400 sq. ft. (20 by 20 ft.) of new ground, or 150 lbs. to the acre. One pound to 400 sq. ft. or 100 lbs. per acre will give good new results but takes longer. Use the same quantity when replenishing.

Many lawns are in bad shape, following the severe drought this summer. Replenish yours with an immediate sowing of high-quality lawn grass seed. Write us or call up Market 2-8710. We will gladly help you.

Terrace Lawn Seed

This mixture forms a network of densely matted roots of deep-rooting character. These deep roots will better withstand drought during the summer as they reach down below the surface dryness. Lb. 75 cts., 5 lbs. $3.25, 10 lbs. $6, 25 lbs. $14, 100 lbs. $55, delivered.

Shady Place Lawn Seed

It is difficult to grow grass in the shade and under trees because the trees use up nearly all the food and moisture in the soil. This mixture will thrive better than any other. Lb. 75 cts., 5 lbs. $3.25, 10 lbs. $6, 25 lbs. $14, 100 lbs. $55, delivered.

Tulip Culture

For Outdoor Growing.—Set bulbs 4 to 5 inches deep, and 5 to 6 inches apart in good garden soil, in October or November, before ground freezes. Use a little sand around each bulb.

For Pot Culture.—Use a good potting soil or fiber and set the bulbs so that the tops show above the surface. The time to pot the bulbs is between September and the last of November. First soak the pot or bulb-pan in water. Use three or four bulbs to a 5-inch pot; six or seven to a 7-inch bulb-pan, or ten bulbs to an 8-inch bulb-pan. To allow root-growth to develop properly, break apart the skin at the base of the bulb just before potting. Keep pots in a dark, cool, airy place until roots have developed and top-growth has started (usually about twelve weeks); then bring them into the light. Pot every ten days to have a succession.

Parrot Tulips

This fine class of Late-flowering Single Tulips is very suitable for cutting purposes. The petals have peculiarly feathered and fringed edges, and the shape of the flower, especially before it opens, resembles the neck of a parrot. Parrot Tulips are large, of striking colors, growing 14 to 15 inches high.

Daffodils for Outdoors

Nothing is more effective in your April garden than a natural planting of these beautiful flowers. Along driveways or walks, in front of hedges, or in unused corners, they will show off their beauty without restraint. Year after year they will reappear to glorify your garden. Liberal plantings in irregular patches are best.

Plant the bulbs outdoors in the fall, covering with 2 to 3 inches of soil, and setting from 3 to 6 inches apart. Daffodils are also valuable for indoor winter forcing, grown in pots of soil or fiber. Cover the bulbs with one and a half times their own depth and set the smaller sorts 3 to 4 inches apart, the larger sorts 5 to 6 inches apart. Keep moistened, in a cool, darkened place for eight to ten weeks until root-development is strong. The asterisk (*) indicates those best for forcing; the letters show relative earliness.

For Winter Flowering in the House.—One bulb planted in a 5-inch pot, or four to six bulbs of one variety in an 8-inch bulb-pan, are effective. Between September and the end of November plant the bulbs in soil or fiber, so that the tops just show above the surface. Then place the pots in a dark, cool, airy place for eight weeks. Keep moist but not sodden. After the bulbs have made some top growth, remove to the light. Keep away from cold draughts, gas, and furnace heat. Taking up the pots every ten days provides a succession of bloom.

For Growing in Glasses.—Set the bulbs so that the lower end merely touches the water. Put away in a cool, airy, dark place till the roots have developed; then gradually remove to light. A small piece of charcoal will help to keep the water fresh.

For Outdoor Growing.—Set the bulbs 5 to 6 inches apart and tops of bulbs 4 inches deep. The time to plant is between September and the last of November, before the ground is frozen.

The Iris delights in a sunny, well-drained situation. All are delightfully fragrant, large and handsome, more or less beautifully mottled in the standard petals and veined in the fall petals while the beards range from delicate primrose to orange. Their beauty rivals that of the orchid. Those who have not used Iris for surrounding lakes and ponds, or cultivated them in flower borders, shrubberies, and woodland walks, should do so.

Iris are most effective if planted three to a clump in dry, sunny locations and watered sparingly. The soil should just cover the rhizome and be well firmed. A small application of ground limestone and bone-meal once a year is beneficial. Iris may be transplanted any time the ground is not frozen. S. refers to the three upright curling petals; F. to drooping petals. The German and Japanese Iris are strong, field-grown roots and the Spanish Iris are bulbs of the largest size.

Spade over the ground thoroughly to a depth of 18 inches before planting and enrich it with bone-meal. Deep planting, from 6 to 8 inches, is best, with ample sand around and beneath each bulb to provide proper drainage. Cover the bed with 6 to 8 inches of leaves or litter through the winter and remove in late spring. For indoor potting use a mixture of leaf-mold, loam and sand, with one handful of charcoal to each pot. Place the bulb half-way down in the pot and just cover with soil. After the stem-roots appear above the bulb, gradually fill pot with soil to full level. After potting, water very thoroughly and place outside in a coldframe, or bury pots in a shady place and cover with ashes or straw. After a month bring inside to 65° in partial light until 6 inches high, then expose to full light.
