SHERBROOKE GARDENS

Kirkland, Wash.
SEPTEMBER 1st, 1930

The use of colored illustrations of the five Roses and the Peony Walter Faxon on the covers of my last catalog, though quite expensive, proved to be a splendid business getter and therefore a good investment.

As the descriptions and cultural directions do not change from year to year, a supply sufficient to last two seasons was provided and I still have a large number of catalogs on hand so that a SUPPLEMENT at this time showing additions and corrected prices will suffice.

Perhaps you have mislaid your copy or have passed it along to a friend, if so I will be delighted to send another on request. To my many friends and customers I acknowledge my appreciation and gratitude assuring you that I will do my best to merit your continued patronage and good will. A dissatisfied customer is more than a "total loss" and if I have failed to satisfy, do not withhold your criticism. Please give me an opportunity to explain and adjust. Altho I realize that no one has ever yet succeeded one hundred percent, I aim to please.

Cordially,
W. E. SHERBROOKE.

Sherbrooke's Superb Peonies

My collection of the WORLD'S FINEST PEONIES is one of the two most valuable collections in the west and won the American Peony Society's SILVER MEDAL in 1927.

Special quotations will be made on any sizeable selection.

These prices are for divisions with 3 to 5 eyes on well balanced roots and should bloom the first season after planting if planted in well prepared soil, not more than two inches deep and with good drainage and exposure not too close to hot walls or large shrubbery.

The following PEONY COLLECTIONS were selected as a help to the beginner not familiar with varieties. They are all varieties of merit and calculated to create and develop enthusiasm in Peony culture.
