Rambler Roses

Everblooming or Monthly Roses

The Everblooming or Monthly Roses, which are mostly Teas or Hybrid Teas, are everywhere prized for their superb form, delightful fragrance, beautiful colors and blooms throughout the season. As most varieties require winter protection they are usually planted in the spring, but we can supply in late November. Our spring catalog will list an excellent assortment of the old favorites and some newer varieties that are popular, at 80c each, $7.50 per 10, for strong, two-year budded plants that will give you an abundance of flowers the first summer. We shall be glad to give you a list by letter on request.

PHLOX ALL SUMMER

Use Miss Lingard for very early, and an assortment of other varieties and colors will give Phlox throughout June. Cut off the old flower heads as they fade and they will give a second, sometimes a third crop, so you can have Phlox almost all Summer. The most imposing effects are produced by planting in masses of each color, say a half dozen or a dozen of a variety. Or a border may be planted, beginning with white, then white with a pink eye, the lighter shades of pink and gradually working up to red. Plant 12 to 15 inches apart, or 8 to 12 inches if in a single row. For best results they should have a rich and rather moist soil, deeply prepared.

Peonies are easily grown

Peonies Sizes, Prices and Descriptions

The guards are the wide outer petals. Bomb, crown, semi-rose and rose is the type or form of flower as follows:

Crown—Wide center or crown petals with narrower, shorter petals forming a collar or ring between them and the guards. The crown petals are not always prominent.

Bomb—Central petals of uniform width but narrower than the guards and forming a globe within the guards.

Semi-Rose—Flowers that would be classed as rose but for an occasional pollen-bearing stamen.

Rose—Perfectly full, all petals wide, no stamens. The central petals may not be as wide as the guards, but if quite distinct it would be a bomb.

Prices are for good strong divisions of 3 to 5 eyes, from blooming plants. We consider them fully equal to one-year plants, they cost less and average larger than the one-year plants usually sent out. If you want something larger order 5 to 8 eyes at 50% advance, or 8 to 10 eyes at double the printed price.

Varieties

Augustin d'Hour (Calot, 1867). Deep, rich, brilliant solferino-red; slightly silvery reflex; large, bomb; mid-season; strong, vigorous, medium tall; fine. $1.00 each.

Pennant Mixed Peonies

If you want something good at a moderate price and are not particular what varieties and colors, just so they are nice, order Pennant Mixed. This is not a cheap lot of undesirable varieties, but a really good mixture of named Peonies, the leading commercial varieties predominating. Do not ask for certain colors of these as they are grown mixed. 25c each; $2.00 per doz; 50 or more at 16c each.

SUCCESS WITH PEONIES

Hardy as the oak, Peonies are so easily grown that little need be said. Often, in neglected gardens, one sees large clumps that have flourished and bloomed for years. Yet they amply repay all attention given them. They are best in full sun but succeed with shade not more than half the day. Plant 3 to 4 feet apart, 2 feet if in single rows for hedges.

Their requirements are few. They thrive in almost any good, rich soil, moist but well drained. Water must not stand on the ground after rains. Dig deep and pulverize the soil well. If rich, use manure as a mulch only. If deficient in fertility, mix in a third of VERY WELL-ROTTED manure or a little finely ground bone. Fresh manure must not be mixed in the soil as it injures the roots. Add a little river sand or fine gravel if inclined to be sticky or heavy. Do not plant deep. Cover the buds or eyes 2 inches. Do not pack the soil hard. Alternate freezing and thawing tends to lift the plants. The first winter, after the ground begins freezing, mulch with coarse, strawy manure. When hard freezing is over in the spring, remove the coarser parts and stir the finer in, taking care not to injure the buds just beginning to appear. Cultivate well, especially the first two summers. Each winter cut off and burn the tops, but not before Sept., as plenty of foliage during the growing season is necessary for good root growth. Do not plant too near large trees and shrubs, the roots of which rob them of plant food and moisture.

Duchess d'Orleans (Guerin, 1846). Large carmine-pink guards, center soft pink and salmon, becoming amber yellow; medium to large; bomb type; fragrant; midseason; extra strong, vigorous growth; very tall; blooms freely. 30c each; $3.00 per doz.

Duke of Wellington (Calot, 1859). Indispensable; broad white guards, center very full, sulphur-white, becoming pure white; fragrant; very large, bomb type; late; blooms freely; vigorous, with long, strong stems; fine. 40c each; $4.00 per doz.

Dulcis Superba (Lemon, 1824). Beautiful bright deep rose-pink; very fragrant; crown type; large, of good form; extra early, several days before Festiva maxima; blooms freely over a long period; growth strong, vigorous; long, strong stems. 35c each; $3.50 per doz.

Elis Crousse (Crousse, 1881). Brilliant, rich, dazzling ruby-red; large; solid, compact bomb; midseason; fragrant; fine. 75c each; $7.50 per doz.

Festiva maxima (Miellez, 1851). For enormous size combined with wondrous beauty it has stood unsurpassed for 77 years. Sizes, Prices and Descriptions

The guards are the wide outer petals. Bomb, crown, semi-rose and rose is the type or form of flower as follows:

Crown—Wide center or crown petals with narrower, shorter petals forming a collar or ring between them and the guards. The crown petals are not always prominent.

Bomb—Central petals of uniform width but narrower than the guards and forming a globe within the guards.

Semi-Rose—Flowers that would be classed as rose but for an occasional pollen-bearing stamen.

Rose—Perfectly full, all petals wide, no stamens. The central petals may not be as wide as the guards, but if quite distinct it would be a bomb.

Prices are for good strong divisions of 3 to 5 eyes, from blooming plants. We consider them fully equal to one-year plants, they cost less and average larger than the one-year plants usually sent out. If you want something larger order 5 to 8 eyes at 50% advance, or 8 to 10 eyes at double the printed price.

Pennant Mixed Peonies

If you want something good at a moderate price and are not particular what varieties and colors, just so they are nice, order Pennant Mixed. This is not a cheap lot of undesirable varieties, but a really good mixture of named Peonies, the leading commercial varieties predominating. Do not ask for certain colors of these as they are grown mixed. 25c each; $2.00 per doz; 50 or more at 16c each.

SUCCESS WITH PEONIES

Hardy as the oak, Peonies are so easily grown that little need be said. Often, in neglected gardens, one sees large clumps that have flourished and bloomed for years. Yet they amply repay all attention given them. They are best in full sun but succeed with shade not more than half the day. Plant 3 to 4 feet apart, 2 feet if in single rows for hedges.

Their requirements are few. They thrive in almost any good, rich soil, moist but well drained. Water must not stand on the ground after rains. Dig deep and pulverize the soil well. If rich, use manure as a mulch only. If deficient in fertility, mix in a third of VERY WELL-ROTTED manure or a little finely ground bone. Fresh manure must not be mixed in the soil as it injures the roots. Add a little river sand or fine gravel if inclined to be sticky or heavy. Do not plant deep. Cover the buds or eyes 2 inches. Do not pack the soil hard. Alternate freezing and thawing tends to lift the plants. The first winter, after the ground begins freezing, mulch with coarse, strawy manure. When hard freezing is over in the spring, remove the coarser parts and stir the finer in, taking care not to injure the buds just beginning to appear. Cultivate well, especially the first two summers. Each winter cut off and burn the tops, but not before Sept., as plenty of foliage during the growing season is necessary for good root growth. Do not plant too near large trees and shrubs, the roots of which rob them of plant food and moisture.

Chess d'Orleans (Guerin, 1846). Large carmine-pink guards, center soft pink and salmon, becoming amber yellow; medium to large; bomb type; fragrant; midseason; extra strong, vigorous growth; very tall; blooms freely. 30c each; $3.00 per doz.

Ice of Wellington (Calot, 1859). Indispensable; broad white guards, center very full, sulphur-white, becoming pure white; fragrant; very large, bomb type; late; blooms freely; vigorous, with long, strong stems; fine. 40c each; $4.00 per doz.

Jules Superba (Lemon, 1824). Beautiful bright deep rose-pink; very fragrant; crown type; large, of good form; extra early, several days before Festiva maxima; blooms freely over a long period; growth strong, vigorous; long, strong stems. 35c each; $3.50 per doz.

Lix Crousse (Crousse, 1881). Brilliant, rich, dazzling ruby-red; large; solid, compact bomb; midseason; fragrant; fine. 75c each; $7.50 per doz.

stiva maxima (Mieliez, 1851). For enormous size combined with wondrous beauty it has stood unsurpassed for 77 years.
