Using the Checklist

The columns following the name of each species are intended to help the birder with identification.

The first three columns relate to how common the bird is during the summer, winter, or migration periods.

C - Common

U - Uncommon

O - Occasional

? - Possible

Many of the species are also associated with urban or rural interfaces. Many use habitats seasonally. Some raptors are more associated with open airspace and are very wide ranging.

The remaining categories describe the habitat(s) where one is most likely to encounter each species. These habitats are commonly referred to in most guidebooks. Some suggested locations of these habitats on the Carson National Forest are shown on the following map.

Habitat Types

If you observe a bird which is not on this list, please contact: Forest Wildlife Biologist, Carson National Forest, 208 Cruz Alta Road, Taos, NM 87571.
