Group of thirty-three new varieties of Melons

MUSKMELON—Wilson's Black African. A rather large melon of very dark green color, remaining almost green when ripe. The vine is a strong grower and a heavy yielder. The meat is green, very thick and of the very best flavor. This melon keeps for a long time after picking, making it a good market melon. Season late.

MUSKMELON—Wilson's Black. A selection of one of the variations from the Wilson Black African. The meat is very thick, of bright orange color and of a superior quality, almost melting in your mouth. It is a good keeper, remaining fresh and good for almost weeks after it is picked from the vine. These melons are of a dark green color of about 3½ pounds. Color changes only slightly when ripe. Season of ripening is early to midseason.

Price of either of the above: Pkg. 25c; oz. 60c; 4 oz. $1.60; ½ lb. $3.00; pound, $5.75

MUSKMELON:—Wilson's Golden Oval. We believe this to be the best muskmelon ever developed as a profit maker for the grower. It is as early as Hale's Best, but larger. It has a netted ribbed rind, light green in color, changing to a beautiful cream color when ripe. Hauls and handles well. The meat is very thick; a deep rich orange color, of the best quality. The melons average around 5½ pounds each; of the finest appearance. A good seller and a repeater, and good shipper. The most profitable melon we have ever grown. We originated and developed this melon by crossing Pollock's 10-25 with Shumway's Giant.

Pkt. 50c; oz. 90c; 4 oz. $2.75; ½ lb. $5.00; pound $9.00.
