DAHLIA GARDEN

197 OAKDALE AVENUE, MILL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA

1932

THIS catalog which we present to our friends contains a list of the dahlias in which we are now specializing—the Pompons, Miniatures, English Singles and Anemones.

The little Pompons have become so popular the last few years they hardly need an introduction. They appeal for favor with a big majority who prefer the small class of dahlias. They are very fine for garden effect or decoration of any kind. For exhibition they must be true to type—ball-shaped and under two inches in diameter. Their keeping qualities which is one of the most-essential for exhibition is unequalled. They may be had in most all shades of colors with the exception of the blues.

Miniatures are a new type, many of which were introduced a few years ago from England. They are larger than pompons and their bright and unusual color combinations come in peony and decorative types and many are the informal decoratives which make them very attractive because of the irregularity of form. They are so graceful and charming the public simply fall for them wherever they are exhibited. The bushes are a mass of blooms from the beginning to the end of the season.

The English Singles are very pretty and quite in a class by themselves. They are open-centered, single in form having only one row of ray florets. They are stately and artistic and especially adapted to table decoration.

The Anemone is also open-centered with a single row of ray florets but with tubular disc florets forming a pincushion effect. These are dainty and pretty.

We grow the very best in each class, all of which we recommend. Once you have grown any of these varieties you will be charmed with them.

We exhibited some of each class at four different shows winning the coveted prize for a basket of the most perfect Pompons—also first for the most artistic arrangement, the best collection, the best in pinks, reds, lavenders and yellows and for the most harmonious combination in color arrangement.

In the Miniatures we won first for the most artistic basket, also first on our English Singles. The beautiful basket of Little Jewel and Pink Pearl on the cover of this catalog was a first prize winner at the 1931 show of the Dahlia Society of California.

Wishing a most successful 1932 season to all,

Cordially,

SEEDS

Growing dahlias from seed is one of the most interesting in dahlia culture. Varieties do not come true from seed so one gets the greatest thrill through the anticipation of some new and fine varieties developing from his seedlings.

Be a good sport and destroy the plants which show mediocre blooms for you will be rewarded with some good specimens worthy of being tried a second season.

Remember—all new dahlias come from seed. Purchase the best quality and you may be the one to develop a prize-winner—the coveted goal.

We offer a high grade of seed gathered from the choicest exhibition varieties.

100 Pompon seed mixed or in colors	$1.00
Miniature or English Singles seed per pkt.	.25
