Irises, Over-the-Garden-Wall

Introduction

A very few years have served to advance us from the irises of yesterday, to the marvels of today. Hybridizers are still striving to attain new glories—taller stalks, heavier substance, greater richness of color. As in other years, we have brought together, Over-the-Garden-Wall, many of these new irises, especially those from American originators.

But the pendulum swings in the iris world, as elsewhere. From the fine achievements in the newest bearded irises of the present day, some enthusiasts are turning back to the old—to the species that have, for centuries been growing and blossoming along the shores of the Mediterranean, through Syria and Turkestan to China and Japan; up the slopes of the Pacific coast ranges, across fields and marshes into Canada, and as far south as the Gulf. And the greatest of these are, again, the latest to be found—those magnificently colored irises that Dr. Small and his associates have brought, these last few years, from Louisiana. No one can tell how old these iris species of hill and marsh may be; to most of us, they are refreshingly new.

In line with turning from the old to the new, it is a pleasure to announce here, the entry into the business of our son, Willard Maxwell Kellogg. And this has made possible another new specialty for us—the growing of rock plants. A rock garden has been constructed which will show you both unusual rock plants, and interesting small irises.

We look forward with pleasure to many visits from our friends, both old and new, as we know the rock garden will add weeks of interest to our usual short season of irises.

For your convenience, the catalogue is divided into several sections. You will find listed:—

Latest American Introductions

Novelties are always of interest; everyone desires to see and be able to talk about the newest things. This natural wish is the justification for the collection of recent American introductions, that we have attempted to bring together, these last few years. The courtesy and friendly cooperation of hybridizers throughout the country, enables us to offer our visitors the opportunity to see a planting of these American irises, second to none in the country. Each year a section of the garden is set apart for novelties and seedlings, which are left undisturbed for at least two years. This proves a time-saver for those desirous of studying the most recent introductions. Criticisms are welcomed; seldom is any one iris admired by everyone; seldom, too, is any iris disliked by all! Perhaps only a few of the multitude of irises now being registered, will prove worthy of permanent worth; but here they are, most of them, for you to see. We regret, however, the omission of the Sturtevant and Morrison irises; the list was long, and expensive for a "poor" year, and Miss Sturtevant's garden is near.

The American Iris Society gave Honorable Mentions to 26 irises last year (H. M., A. I. S. '31); we believe that fifteen of these varieties were on the market last season, and they will all be found growing Over-the-Garden-Wall. They are:—Ambera, Blackamoor, Black Wings, Chromilla, Clara Noyes, Desert Gold, Meldoric, Pink Satin, Quivera, Rameses, Red Dominion, Sacramento, San Diego, Waconda and Wambliska. We shall hope to have the others for you next season, as well as many of the '32 awards.

The alphabetical list of novelties, follows. Many of these we have not seen in bloom, so descriptions are copied from the originators.

Tall Bearded Irises

The irises of today—who shall describe them? They vary with the location, the soil, the light, the season. On the following pages we attempt to give, very briefly, the general garden effect. As is usual, the figures at the left are the garden ratings, as given in the A.I.S. symposium. (Most of them are too recent to have been rated.) In parenthesis will be found the name of the originator and year of introduction. If you miss the names of old favorites, look at "Special Lists" pages 27—29.

	AARESHORST (G. & K. '27) A dark violet bicolor, with light edged F.	$1.00
	ABORA (Hill '31) A rich red-violet self, with smooth heavy texture, and very horizontal falls. 32" H. M., A.I.S. '30.	$12.50
	ACROPOLIS (Berry '29) Light purple S. and deep velvety blackish-purple falls, which are well held. Large bloom. 40"	$25.00
	ALABASTER (And. '26) Pure white, very lovely in form, with good substance.	$.75
	ALAMEDA (M. M. '27) A striking plicata, the S. suffused blue-violet, the F. veined with the same. A clear, crisp iris, that pleases everyone. 40"	$1.00
	ALAN HOYT (Hoyt '30) A medium-toned warm buff and brown. Different.	$8.00
	ALCINA (Con.'31) A charming tall blend, the S. pale creamy buff, the F. of lavender, with a gold throat.	$8.00
88	ALQUIPPA (Hall '24) A soft yellow self. 32"	$.75
	ALLIES (Vilm. '25) One of the red irises, the S. tinged with copper. 38"	$1.25
	ALLURE (Murr. '27) Iridescent shell-pink, pale yellow and lavender. 36"	$4.50
	AMBROSIA (Sturt. '28) White, most delicately flushed with pink, exquisite in tone and form. 38"	$5.00
	AMERIND (And. '26) A bronze self, very tall. 46"	$.75
	ANDANTE (Wmsn. '30) Marvelously rich in color—dark raisin-purple—that will be hard to equal. Very early and vigorous. 36"	$5.00
	ANDREW JACKSON (Kirk. '29) One of the brightest of the early irises—a rich red-violet of heavy substance. 36"	$3.00
	ANNA M. THOMPSON (Row. '29) A vivid plicata, the S. heavily dotted with blue-purple; F. white, almost unmarked.	$5.00
	ANNDELIA (Sturt. '29) A delight—the S. a ruffled pinkish lavender, the F. white, bordered with the same. 30"	$4.00
	ANNETTE (Craw. '25) White, frilled with blue, with dainty flowers.	$.75
	ANTARES (Vilm. '26) S. yellow, F. white, both dotted with blue. 32"	$.75
	APHROJUNE (Simp. '30) A small, low-growing Aphrodite.	$1.25
	ARGOS (Vmi. '26) S. blue, shading to red; F. reddish, shading to blue.	$.75

NOTES

The new Oriental Poppies, in shades of pink, salmon and apricot, are remarkably effective with irises. And the very rich dark red poppies are unexpectedly good with some of the purple. We have a trial planting of the newer poppies, and will be glad to send the list to any who may be interested.

Another very lovely color note with irises, is furnished by the polyanthus rose, ELSE POULSEN—a very floriferous, perfectly hardy rose, of the clear pink tone that the irises need to accentuate their own lavenders. We shall be glad to receive orders for these, if customers would find it a convenience.

Special Lists of Low-Priced Irises

We give ratings at left; and dominating color, only. Fuller descriptions may be found in our 1931 catalogue. Dozen lots may be made up to suit the customer.

Dwarf Irises

The dwarf, or pumila, irises are used everywhere in rock gardens, and in protected corners of the border. Blooming early—April 25 to May 10. with us—these little irises will reward the gardener with a wealth of color and fragrance. We carry a small stock of named varieties; for color masses, we recommend the unnamed seedlings. Among the Species, pp. 38, will be found other low-growing irises, suitable for rock gardens.

Siberian Irises

Daintily poised on slender stems, above masses of narrow foliage, these little irises range in color from white, thro' palest lavender, turquoise and blue, to dark purple. They bloom with the bearded irises but, unlike these, will be happy in moist shady places. Plant deep and feed well.

We are very fortunate in having, from the Experimental Station in Ottawa, a few of Miss Preston's Siberians—Abitibi, Chaudiere, Gatineau, Kootenay, Madawaska, Mat-tawin, Nipigon, and Rideau. Also Caesar's Brother, from Mr. Morgan of Montreal; Miss Duluth from Mr. Sass; and two of the Washington's,—Ann Stahlman, and Mildred Stahlman. Stock of all of these is so limited, that we are not including them in the list. If customers are interested and care to write us, a few may be available.

Japanese Irises

The Japanese, with their huge, flat, flowers of three or six petals, take up the tale of iris bloom when the bearded irises have passed, and carry on through July. Like the Siberians, they should be planted deep and fed heavily. Remember that they need quantities of water, especially while coming into bloom.

Iris Species and Hybrids

The remarkable "find" of Louisiana irises has given a tremendous impetus to interest in all iris species. Some of these require special soil and locations; many will prove easy growing garden friends, in rock gardens and borders, near pools and streams. In the following list you will find many interesting items, including a few of the "new-old" Louisiana irises. Within a few years we hope to offer you all the species that are hardy in New England.

AMERICAN SPECIES (i. e., growing wild in some sections).

I. albispinitus . Large pure white, with gold venations. Tall. One of the loveliest of the Louisianas. May we say here, that all of these have proved hardy with us, under a light mulch of peatmoss. They like moisture and deep planting.	$10.00
I. bracteata . "A little golden beauty" for the rock garden. 6." Ore.	$1.00
I. chrysophilla . Varies from white to deep yellow. Free bloomer. 4." Ore.	$.50
I. chrysophoenicia . The huge gold and purple iris from Louisiana.	$4.00
I. cuprea . A special I. fulva , in a striking shade of red-copper.	$3.00
Dairymaid (Collected by Anderson) A pure white form of I. virginica .	$5.00
I. foliosa . Brilliant blue, with sprawling flower stalks, that delight in trimming rocks in a fairly moist location. Native of the South.	$.50
I. fulva . Varying shades of burnished copper; likes semi-shade and moisture. Native of the southern states.	$.75
I. fulva -pink. A pink form of the above.	$5.00
I. giganticaerulea . "The big Blue Flag" of Louisiana.	$4.00
I. hexagona . Tall blue. Another moisture-loving iris from the south.	$.75
I. hexagona alba . Exceptionally beautiful white form of the above.	$5.00
I. kermesinia . A claret-red form of I. versicolor . 22"	$1.00
I. prismatica . S. violet; F. white, veined with violet. From the moist meadows of the eastern coast.	$.75
I. setosa canadensis . Blue. Native of sandy beaches. 10"	$.75
I. Shrevei . A lavender-blue iris from Mississippi.	$.75

I. Shrevei , special—A white form of the above, bordered with blue.	$2.50
I. tenuis . White, with gold and purple markings. The woodland iris of Ore.; sandy soil with leafmold. 10"	$.75
I. verna . Bright lilac-blue, for the rock garden. Must have acid soil and leafmold.	$.50
I. versicolor . The native wild iris of the northern states.	$.35
I. versicolor rosea . Red form of the above.	$3.50
I. vinecolor . The wine-colored iris from Louisiana. 36"	$3.00
I. violipurpurea . Large violet purple, also from Louisiana.	$3.00
I. virginica . The same as I. Shrevei, differing slightly in shade and height. Mr. Shreve writes me that these two irises will grow in shallow water as does I. pseudacorus .	$.75

FOREIGN SPECIES

I. delavayi . Rich violet to blue; much like the Siberians, but later. Needs moisture during the blooming season. Likes bogs. 50"	$3.00
I. dichotoma . The last to bloom—forms a pink-lavender mass of small flowers in August. These open about three, closing at dusk—hence, the Vesper Iris. Seeds easily.. Established plants, 60".	$.50
I. Forresti . Clear yellow; from Yunnan. 15"	$1.50
I. graminea . Reddish violet, for rock gardens. Southern Europe. 9"	$1.50
I. guldensstaediana —syn. halophila . Varies from purple to yellow. A native of Persia. 15"	$1.00
I. hyacinthiana . Soft blue and sulphur yellow, with brown venations. Recently introduced from Kansu, China.	$1.00
I. pseudacorus . The "yellow flag" that accommodates itself to any location.	$.25
I. pseudacorus bastardi . A form of the above, collected by Yeld.	$2.50
I. pseudacorus gigantea . The giant-flowered pseudacorus.	$.75
I. Wilsoni . A pale yellow species from Western China. Slow. 36"	$2.50

STYLOSA, OR UNGUICULARIS IRIS

- I. stylosa. Deep red-purple to lilac-blue. Is hardy here, but needs a cold frame to coax it into bloom. 10" $.75

BULBOUS IRISES

- I. reticulata. Pansy violet, with bright yellow. Blooms almost with the crocuses, needing a mulch of peatmoss. Very fragrant. May also be forced in pots. Fall delivery $1.00

The Dutch, English and Spanish iris bulbs, we order from the coast. Planted outside, with a mulch, they give about a 50% bloom. In frames, or forced in pots, they are more dependable. Colors are white, yellow and blues. Prices range from $1.00 to $2.00 a dozen. Fall delivery.

To Our Customers

TERMS are net, cash with order, except that we allow a 10% discount on orders of $50.00. And to A. I. S. members, 5% on orders of $10.00. These discounts will not apply on novelties, where stock is very limited. Prices quoted on the bearded irises are for delivery after the blooming season.

REFUNDS are made for any varieties that are sold out; we do not substitute.

SHIPMENTS of irises can be made at almost any time, except during the period of bloom. Novelties, however, will not be shipped until August 1.

GUARANTEE — We make every effort to keep our stock true to name; if an error occurs, please notify us and restitution will be made. Condition upon arrival is guaranteed; anything not satisfactory should be returned immediately.

SERVICE — We are glad to assist with advice about varieties, suitable for certain locations, or to help with planting plans. We urge all who can, to visit the garden during the blooming season, and select their own colors. During the few weeks of bloom, the garden is open on Sundays, to accommodate those who cannot come during the week. The garden is situated just north of West Hartford center.
