PREFACE.

THE Catalogue of Australian Fossils was commenced in 1868 in conjunction with my friend and former colleague Mr Norman Taylor, merely with the view of carrying out our duties in connection with the Geological Survey of Victoria, but circumstances over which we had no control rendered the abandonment of the work necessary. It was not again resumed until 1871, then by myself, and through the interest evinced by several scientific friends I have been induced to continue the compilation, during leisure moments, until it has assumed its present proportions.

The subject of Australian Geology and Palæontology is even now only in its infancy, notwithstanding the rapid strides which have been made within the last few years. It naturally results therefore, that although the number of species to be listed may be small when compared with those of other countries, still, often from the absence of definite information, the compilation has been attended with no ordinary difficulties. This will, I hope, to some extent tend to explain the many imperfections to be found in the 'Catalogue,' and of which no one is more conscious than I am. The present is, so far as I know, the first attempt at a complete list of Australian fossil Organic Remains, and notwithstanding the daily increasing number of species to be still more largely augmented in the future, I trust that the present effort will be found a tolerably faithful record of Australian Palæontology up to the year 1878.

I have endeavoured to make the Catalogue as complete as circumstances will permit, but there are a few papers by colonial authors to which I have not been able to obtain access, and in consequence the data contained in them have been omitted, or imperfectly given.

In the great field of Australian Geology and Palæontology I can lay claim to no greater title than that of a compiler, but as such, I would offer my tribute of respect and admiration for the never-tiring zeal and energy, the self-denial of all home-comforts, and risk of health displayed by the pioneers of our common science in the Australian colonies, and of whose work, often carried on under the most adverse circumstances, the Catalogue is an epitome.

I refer to such men as the late S. Stutchbury, the late Rev. W. B. Clarke, F.R.S., the late Capt. Sturt, the late Sir T. L. Mitchell, the late L. Leichhardt, A. R. C. Selwyn, F.R.S., C. Gould, F.G.S., Prof. F. McCoy, F.G.S., the late W. Blandowski, Baron F. von Mueller, the late C. D'Oyly, H. Aplin, Norman Taylor, G. H. F. Ulrich, F.G.S., R. B. Smyth, F.G.S., the late R. Daintree, F.G.S., C. S. Wilkinson, F.G.S., Rev. J. E. T. Woods, F.G.S., R. A. F. Murray, H. Y. L. Brown, A. W. Howitt, F.G.S., G. Krefft, and others.

The object of the Catalogue of Australian Fossils is first, to give as complete a list as possible of the fossil Organic Remains of the Australian Continent, arranged in Stratigraphical and Zoological order; secondly, to indicate all the descriptions, figures, and more important references to each of the species; and thirdly, to point out the principal localities.

In carrying out this scheme it has been found most convenient to divide the Catalogue into five stratigraphical subdivisions, viz., Silurian, Middle and Upper Palæozoic (including the Devonian and Carboniferous), Mesozoic, Tertiary, and Post-Tertiary, in each of which the genera and species are arranged zoologically in classes, and alphabetically in order, for convenient reference.

Each page is subdivided vertically into four columns.

The first (that on the left hand of the reader) contains the name of the species and their authors; the second column is intended for the stratigraphical subdivisions of the respective sections in which the species occurs; the third and largest column is devoted to the bibliographical references, whilst the fourth contains the localities.

After the name of each genus is given that of its author and the date, then follow within brackets one or more references to descriptions of the genus in question, by its author or other writers as the case may be ; but it is to be universally understood that the first reference after a genus is that of its original description or enunciation, so far as my own researches have enabled me to ascertain. Here and there a few synonyms are given, and always the order or family to which the genus belongs.

The references to the species are of two kinds ; first, those to works in which a detailed description or figure is to be found, denoted by an * placed before them ; secondly, those in which a passing reference only is made to the species, such for instance as the announcement of the first discovery of it in Australian rocks, or of a new locality. When a species is common both to the strata of Australia and those of any other country I have invariably given quotations showing its synonymy and history previous to its discovery in the former. Unless denoted by the sign ! placed after it, every reference has been personally verified and referred to ; any errors therefore which may be found are my own, and have arisen during transcription, or are typographical.

The abbreviations used are those usually adopted in works of reference, but in case they should not at once be apparent to the reader, I have given a list of all the Works, Papers, and Reports used and consulted in the compilation, arranged alphabetically under the authors' names, so that the full title of almost every quotation can at once be seen.

In the locality column the respective Colonies in which the places mentioned are situated, are indicated by an abbreviation in italics : thus, N. S. Wales (= New South Wales), Vict. (= Victoria, formerly Australia Felix), S. A. (= South Australia), W. A. (= Western Australia), Qu. (= Queensland), Tas. (= Tasmania).

It affords me great pleasure to offer my sincere thanks to those gentlemen who have rendered me assistance. To the father of Australian Geology, the late Rev. W. B. Clarke, F.R.S., I am indebted for information on many points connected with Colonial Geology, and the general interest he took in my work. Similarly, I am under obligations to Messrs R. B. Smyth and N. Taylor (Melbourne), C. S. Wilkinson (Sydney), R. M. Johnston (Hobart Town), and the Rev. J. E. Tenison Woods (Sydney). I am indebted to Profs. Owen, F.R.S., T. Rupert Jones, F.R.S., G. Busk, F.R.S., P. M. Duncan, F.R.S., H. A. Nicholson, F.G.S., and G. S. Brady, Messrs T. Davidson, F.R.S., W. Carruthers, F.R.S., and H. B. Brady, F.R.S., Drs R. H. Traquair, F.G.S., H. Woodward, F.R.S., and I. B. Balfour, F.G.S., for information connected with their special subjects. To Messrs G. Sharman, E. T. Newton, F.G.S., and R. B. Newton (Mus. Pract. Geology), W. S. Dallas (Geol. Soc. Lond.), and C. O. Waterhouse (Brit. Mus.), I am indebted for assistance in unravelling obscure points in synonymy. Prof. L. G. de Koninck has placed me under many obligations by his courtesy in forwarding advanced proofs of his fine work on the Australian Palæozoic Fossils, by means of which I have been able to complete the Catalogue at a much earlier date than otherwise could have been done.

Through the kindness of Prof. Geikie, F.R.S., I have had afforded me the opportunity of consulting a large number of works in the Library of the University of Edinburgh; and I am also under obligations for literary assistance to Prof. F. W. Rudler, F.G.S., and Messrs W. Rupert Jones (Geol. Soc. Lond.), H. B. Wheatley (R. Soc. Lond.), T. W. Newton (R. School Mines), R. Kippist (Linn. Soc. Lond.), J. Gordon (R. Soc. Edinb.), and F. H. Waterhouse (Zool. Soc. Lond.). Lastly, the encouragement afforded me by my kind friends Dr J. J. Bigsby, F.R.S., and Mr R. L. Jack, F.G.S. (Brisbane), and my father, has assisted me to surmount many difficulties.

To the liberality and consideration of the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press the publication of the Catalogue of Australian Fossils is due, whilst to my friend the Rev. Professor T. G. Bonney, F.G.S., my warmest thanks must be tendered for bringing the manuscript under their notice.

¹ This volume bears date 1833, but the memoir containing the description of the genus Proetus, is headed, "publié à Trèves en 1831."

² As Trinucleum. It was figured, but not described, in the Philosophical Transactions (Vol. 20, 1698, p. 279, plate).

Note. The following genera are also known to occur in Victoria, Beyrichia, Cheirurus, and Sphaerexochus (Selwyn, Quart. Jour. Geol. Soc. 1858, XIV. pp. 533—34; Bigsby, Thesaurus, pp. 43—45, 65, and 73, &c.; M'Coy, Smyth's Progress Rept. 1874, p. 34). From New South Wales we have Beyrichia (Clarke, S. Goldfields, p. 286).

A species of Trinucleus, closely allied to, if not identical with, T. Caractaci, Murchison (= C. concentricus, Eaton), was discovered by the Rev. W. B. Clarke at Yarralumla, N. S. Wales (Quart. Jour. IV. p. 66).

³ Prof. M'Coy has recorded the occurrence of two new species of Fenestella in Victorian rocks.

Notes: (a) Lepidodendron. This genus appears to have been found in Australia at an early date by the explorer Leichhardt, on the Manilla River, borders of Queensland, and by Stutchbury on the Storton River (Parl. B. B. Dec. 1854). The Rev. W. B. Clarke reports specimens of Lepidodendron from the Peel River; near Goonoogoonoo; to the W. of Bathurst, Wellington Valley; and Canoona on the Fitzroy or Mackenzie River. (Quart. Jour. Geol. Soc. xvii. p. 356; S. Goldfields, p. 285; also see Keene, "On the Coal Measures of N. S. Wales, with Spirifer, Glossopteris, and Lepidodendron," Quart. Journ. xxi. p. 137.)

(b) Syringodendron. Mr Carruthers observed in a collection of plants forwarded to the Geological Society of London by the Rev. W. B. Clarke, a fragment of a Lepidodendroid plant which he could not distinguish from S. (Cyclostigma) Kiltorkense. Haughton (Quart. Jour. xxviii. p. 354).

(c) Sagenaria. A fragment in the Daintree Collection appeared to indicate, to Mr Carruthers, a third species of Lepidodendron, allied to S. (Lepidodendron) obovata. Eichwald (l.c.).

(d) Calamites, Stigmara, &c. It is to be noted that the Rev. W. B. Clarke states that Stigmara, Sigillaria, Halonina and Calamites are common in the Carboniferous rocks of N. S. Wales. (Quart. Jour. iv. p. 60.)

(e) Coniferous Trees. Trunks of Coniferæ were found by the same observer on the coast of N. S. Wales at Wanniarree in the same beds with Spirifers (Quart. Jour. iv. p. 60; see also Nicol, Edinburgh New Phil. Jour. 1832, iv. p. 153; Dana, Geol. U. S. Exploring Exp. p. 714).

² The genus Inoceramus was proposed and described in a paper read before the Linnean Society on Nov. 1st, 1814, by Mr J. Sowerby, "On a fossil shell of a fibrous structure, &c." The description appeared in pt. 2, vol. XIII. Linn. Trans., which Mr R. Kippist, Librarian to the Society, informs me was published in Dec. 1822. In the mean time Parkinson published a description of the genus (Trans. Geol. Soc. v. p. 55), the latter work bearing date 1819. This must therefore be accepted as the real date of the publication of Inoceramus, and not 1814, as is usually given in catalogues and works.

Notomya or Mæonia may just as well belong to Pachydomus, and vice versa" (Pal. Indica, III. p. 83). Mæonia (Myonia), Cleobis, and Pyramus were proposed as new genera by Prof. Dana in 1847, but in the next year he suggested that the various species contained in the three so-called genera should be brought together under the one name Mæonia, "as the gradations are such that it is difficult to draw lines of distinction" (Amer. Jour. Sc. 1848, v. p. 434). Again he says, "the divisions may, perhaps, form sub-genera" (Geol. U. S. Explor. Exped. p. 694). The section Pyramus or Pyramia is stated to correspond with Notomya, M'Coy, and is slightly antecedent to it in date. As, however, I agree with Dr Stoliczka in considering M'Coy's description "far more intelligible than that given by Dana of his genus," and as in addition M'Coy no doubt correctly indicated the affinities of his genus, I prefer to adopt the latter for the whole of the species which have been referred to these genera. In dealing with this portion of my subject I have experienced the utmost difficulty, and can only offer the present synonymy as a temporary solution, until some palæontologist is afforded an opportunity of working the subject out in detail. To his previous remarks on this subject Dr Stoliczka adds, "neither in the text nor Atlas of his later work does Dana mention which of the species belong to each of the three sub-genera: and from the descriptions and figures the reader will find it very difficult to arrive at anything like accuracy of determination."

Note. A Ventriculite is recorded by Mr F. T. Gregory, from the Greenough River, West Australia (Quart. Jour. Geol. Soc. xvii. p. 433). The siliceous cast of a Chalk Micraster was recognised by Mr Charles Moore, in a collection of fossils in the Exhibition of 1862, from the Greenough Flats, West Australia (ibid. xxvi. p. 28), and a species of Entomostraca from another West Australian collection (l. c. p. 231). In the Wollumbilla collection, scars on the interior of a Panopæa enabled Mr Moore to surmise the occurrence of Cirripedes in Australian Oolitic rocks (l. c. p. 243).

² According to Bronn, this name was first used by Agassiz in 1836, but according to Agassiz's own statement, it first appeared attached to certain plates of his "Études Critiques," submitted to the Geological Section of the meeting of Swiss Naturalists at Basle in 1838. It also appeared during this year in a paper by M. Gressly, "Observations Géologiques sur le Jura Soleurois" (Nouv. Mém. Soc. Helvétique des Sci. Nat. Neuchâtel), but appears to have been first definitely described in 1842 (Études Crit. p. 1). Goniomya is synonymous with Lysianassa, Münster, 1838 (N. Jahrbuch, 1838, p. 55), but the latter, according to Bronn, had already been used for a genus of Crustacea by Milne-Edwards.

THE CAMBRIDGE PARAGRAPH BIBLE

of the Authorized English Version, with the Text Revised by a Collation of its Early and other Principal Editions, the Use of the Italic Type made uniform, the Marginal References remodelled, and a Critical Introduction prefixed, by the Rev. F. H. SCRIVENER, M.A., LL.D., Editor of the Greek Testament, Codex Augiensis, &c., and one of the Revisers of the Authorized Version. Crown Quarto, cloth, gilt, 21s.

From the Times.

"Students of the Bible should be particularly grateful to (the Cambridge University Press) for having produced, with the able assistance of Dr Scrivener, a complete critical edition of the Authorized Version of the English Bible, an edition such as, to use the words of the Editor, 'would have been executed long ago had this version been nothing more than the greatest and best known of English classics.' Falling at a time when the formal revision of this version has been undertaken by a distinguished company of scholars and divines, the publication of this edition must be considered most opportune."

For a full account of the method and plan of the volume and of the general results of the investigations connected with it we must refer the reader to the editor's Introduction, which contains a mass of valuable information about the various editions of the Authorized Version."

From the Athenæum.

"Apart from its religious importance, the English Bible has the glory, which but few sister versions indeed can claim, of being the chief classic of the language, of having, in conjunction with Shakspeare, and in an immeasurable degree more than he, fixed the language beyond any possibility of important change. Thus the recent contributions to the literature of the subject, by such workers as Mr Francis Fry and Canon Westcott, appeal to a wide range of sympathies; and to these may now be added Dr Scrivener, well known for his labours in the cause of the Greek Testament criticism, who has brought out, for the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press, an edition of the English Bible, according to the text of 1611, revised by a comparison with later issues on principles stated by him in his Introduction. Here he enters at length into the history of the chief editions of the version, and of such features as the marginal notes, the use of italic type, and the changes of orthography, as well as into the most interesting question as to the original texts from which our translation is produced. . . . Dr Scrivener may be congratulated on a work which will mark an important epoch in the history of the English Bible, and which is the result of probably the most searching examination the text has yet received."

From Notes and Queries.

"The Syndics of the University Press deserve great credit for this attempt to supply biblical students and general readers with a copy of the Bible, which presents the arrangement of an unbroken text in paragraphs accommodated to the sense (the numerals, indicating the chapters and verses, being removed to the margin); with the broad distinction between the prose and poetical portions of Scripture duly maintained, and with such passages of the Old Testament as are quoted in the New being marked by the use of open type."

From the Spectator.

"Mr. Scrivener has carefully collated the text of our modern Bibles with that of the first edition of 1611, restoring the original reading in most places, and marking every place where an obvious correction has been made; he has made the spelling as uniform as possible; revised the punctuation (punctuation, as those who cry out for the Bible without note or comment should remember, is a continuous commentary on the text); carried out consistently the plan of marking with italics all words not found in the original, and carefully examined the marginal references. The name of Mr. Scrivener, the learned editor of the 'Codex Augiensis,' guarantees the quality of the work."

From the Methodist Recorder.

"This noble quarto of over 1300 pages is in every respect worthy of editor and publishers alike. The name of the Cambridge University Press is guarantee enough for its perfection in outward form, the name of the editor is equal guarantee for the worth and accuracy of its contents. Without question, it is the best Paragraph Bible ever published, and its reduced price of a guinea brings it within reach of a large number of students. . . But the volume is much more than a Paragraph Bible. It is an attempt, and a successful attempt, to give a critical edition of the Authorised English Version, not (let it be marked) a revision, but an exact reproduction of the original Authorised Version, as published in 1611, minus patent mistakes. This is doubly necessary at a time when the version is about to undergo revision. . . To all who at this season seek a suitable volume for presentation to ministers or teachers we earnestly commend this work."

From the London Quarterly Review.

"The work is worthy in every respect of the editor's fame, and of the Cambridge University Press. The noble English Version, to which our country and religion owe so much, was probably never presented before in so perfect a form."

added a new chapter to the Bible, and, starting as the statement may at first sight appear, it is no exaggeration of the actual fact, if by the Bible we understand that of the larger size which contains the Apocrypha, and if the Second Book of Esdras can be fairly called a part of the Apocrypha."—Saturday Review.

THEOLOGY—(ANCIENT).

SAYINGS OF THE JEWISH FATHERS, comprising Pirke Aboth and Pereq R. Meir in Hebrew and English, with Critical and Illustrative Notes. By CHARLES TAYLOR, M.A. Fellow and Divinity Lecturer of St John's College, Cambridge, and Honorary Fellow of King's College, London. Demy 8vo. cloth. 10s.

"The most promising mode of rendering its [the Talmud] valuable parts accessible seems to be that of the separate publication of the more important tracts with a translation and critical apparatus. This is what Mr Charles Taylor has achieved for the interesting Mishnah tract Masseketh Aboth or Pirke Aboth, which title he paraphrases as 'Sayings of the Fathers.' These fathers are Rabbis who established schools and taught in the period from two centuries before to two centuries after Christ. They are the men who, living in the age immediately succeeding the completion of the Hebrew Canon of Scripture, were first able to look on that Scripture as a whole and to compare passage with passage, discover the bearing of one assertion on another, and thus work out the first system of Biblical interpretation, theology, and ethics. Their system was in full vigour in the time of Christ, and was duly imparted to all students—among others, of course, to our Lord Himself and to the learned Pharisee, St Paul. To a large extent it was accepted in the early ages of the Christian Church, and, through the authority conceded to the Fathers of the Church, became the unquestioned and orthodox system of interpretation till modern times. Hence it is peculiarly incumbent on those who look to Jerome or Origen for their theology or exegesis to learn something of their Jewish predecessors. The New Testament abounds with sayings which remarkably coincide with, or closely resemble, those of the Jewish Fathers; and these latter probably would furnish more satisfactory and frequent illustrations of its text than the Old Testament."—Saturday Review.

"The 'Masseketh Aboth' stands at the head of Hebrew non-canonical writings. It is of ancient date, claiming to contain the dicta of teachers who flourished from B.C. 200 to the same year of our era. The precise time of its compilation in its present form is, of course, in doubt. Mr Taylor's explanatory and illustrative commentary is very full and satisfactory."—Spectator.

"If we mistake not, this is the first precise translation into the English language accompanied by scholarly notes, of any portion of the Talmud. In other words, it is the first instance of that most valuable and neglected portion of Jewish literature being treated in the same way as a Greek classic in an ordinary critical edition. . . The Talmudic books, which have been so strangely neglected, we foresee will be the most important aids of the future for the proper understanding of the Bible. . . The Sayings of the Jewish Fathers may claim to be scholarly, and, moreover, of a scholarship unusually thorough and finished. It is greatly to be hoped that this instalment is an earnest of future work in the same direction; the Talmud is a mine that will take years to work out."—Dublin University Magazine.

"A careful and thorough edition which does credit to English scholarship, of a short treatise from the Mishna, containing a series of sentences or maxims ascribed mostly to Jewish teachers immediately preceding, or immediately following the Christian era. . . Mr Taylor has his treasure-house replete with Rabbinic lore, and the entire volume (especially the "Excursuses") is full of most interesting matter. . . We would also call special attention to the frequent illustration of phrases and ideas occurring in the New Testament."—Contemporary Review.

SELECT DISCOURSES,

by JOHN SMITH, late Fellow of Queens' College, Cambridge. Edited by H. G. WILLIAMS, B.D. late Professor of Arabic. Royal Octavo. 7s. 6d.

"The 'Select Discourses' of John Smith, collected and published from his papers after his death, are, in my opinion, much the most considerable work left to us by this Cambridge School [the Cambridge Platonists]. They have a right to a place in English literary history."—MR MATTHEW ARNOLD, in the Contemporary Review.

"Of all the products of the Cambridge School, the 'Select Discourses' are perhaps the highest, as they are the most accessible and the most widely appreciated...and indeed no spiritually thoughtful mind can read them unmoved. They carry us so directly into an atmosphere of divine philosophy, luminous with the richest lights of meditative genius... He was one of those rare thinkers in whom largeness of view, and depth, and wealth of poetic and speculative insight, only served to evoke more fully the religious spirit, and while he drew the mould of his thought from Plotinus, he vivified the substance of it from St Paul."

"It is necessary to vindicate the distinction of these men, because history hitherto has hardly done justice to them. They have been forgotten amidst the more noisy parties of their time, between whom they sought to mediate....What they really did for the cause of religious thought has never been adequately appreciated. They worked with too little combination and consistency. But it is impossible in any real study of the age not to recognise the significance of their labours, or to fail to see how much the higher movement of the national mind was due to them, while others carried the religious and civil struggle forward to its sterner issues."—Principal TULLOCH, Rational Theology in England in the 17th Century.

"We may instance Mr Henry Griffin Williams's revised edition of Mr John Smith's 'Select Discourses,' which have won Mr Matthew Arnold's admiration, as an example of worthy work for an University Press to undertake."—Times.

GREEK AND LATIN CLASSICS, &c. (See also pp. 18—20.)

SELECT PRIVATE ORATIONS OF

with Introductions and English Notes, by F. A. PALEY, M.A. Editor of Aeschylus, etc. and J. E. SANDYS, M.A. Fellow and Tutor of St John's College, and Public Orator in the University of Cambridge.

PART I. containing Contra Phormionem, Lacritum, Pantaenctum, Boeotum de Nomine, Boeotum de Dote, Dionysodorum. Crown Octavo, cloth. 6s.

"The fame of Mr Paley as one of the best practical Grecians of this age would alone be sufficient to secure attention for this book among the Head Masters of our Public Schools and the Tutors of our Colleges . . . . It contains, in the small compass of 240 pages, six of the speeches of the great Athenian orator, which are less commonly read than his 'Philippics' and the 'De Corona,' because they rank among his 'private orations.' And yet, equally with the greater speeches of the same orator, they will be found to illustrate not only the details of finance, loans, interest, banking, and other mercantile transactions in Greece in the time of Philip, but also the laws and general polity of that Athenian State, which was the model of the ancient world. . . . . We gather from the Preface that the task of illustrating these speeches from external sources, such as Boeckh's work on 'The Public Economy of Athens' and from other German books, has fallen upon Mr Sandys. We may add that the introductions prefixed to the Speeches, and also the English foot-notes, leave very little to be desired by the student in the interpretation of the author's meaning."—Times.

"Mr Paley's scholarship is sound and accurate, his experience of editing wide, and if he is content to devote his learning and abilities to the production of such manuals as these, they will be received with gratitude throughout the higher schools of the country. Mr Sandys is deeply read in the German literature which bears upon his author, and the elucidation of matters of daily life, in the delineation of which Demosthenes is so rich, obtains full justice at his hands. . . . We hope that this edition may lead the way to a more general study of these speeches in schools than has hitherto been possible. . . . The index is extremely complete, and of great service to learners."—Academy.

PART II. containing Pro Phormione, Contra Stephanum I. II.; Nicostratum, Cononem, Calliclem. 7s. 6d.

"The six selected Orations, aided by introductions and notes which supply all that is needed for understanding the original text, will place clearly before the student some tolerably complete pictures of life and lawsuits at Athens in the fourth century B.C. For those who are preparing for the Cambridge Tripos, the assistance which this volume can give will be found of the utmost value."—Times.

" . . . . . the edition reflects credit on Cambridge scholarship, and ought to be extensively used."—Athenæum.

"In this volume we have six of Demosthenes' private speeches, well selected and very carefully edited. The notes are very full and minute, and the introductions to the speeches will reward careful study."—Speciator.

"To give even a brief sketch of these speeches [Pro Phormione and Contra Stephanum] would be incompatible with our limits, though we can hardly conceive a task more useful to the classical or professional scholar than to make one for himself. . . . It is a great boon to those who set themselves to unravel the thread of arguments pro and con to have the aid of Mr Sandys's excellent running commentary . . . and no one can say that he is ever deficient in the needful help which enables us to form a sound estimate of the rights of the case. . . . . [The speeches against Conon and Callicles] seem to us eminently to deserve introduction into higher school reading; if read with the notes and comments of the edition before us, they would give the tiro no vague idea of life as it was in Demosthenic Athens and Attica. . . . . It is long since we have come upon a work evincing more pains, scholarship, and varied research and illustration than Mr Sandys's contribution to the 'Private Orations of Demosthenes'."—Saturday Review.

PLATO'S PHÆDO,

literally translated, by the late E. M. COPE, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. Demy Octavo. 5s.

London: Cambridge Warehouse, 17 Paternoster Row.

ARISTOTLE.

THE RHETORIC. With a Commentary by the late E. M. COPE, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, revised and edited for the Syndics of the University Press by J. E. SANDYS, M.A., Fellow and Tutor of St John's College, Cambridge, and Public Orator. With a biographical Memoir by H. A. J. MUNRO, M.A. Three Volumes, Demy Octavo. £1. 11s. 6d.

"It is into the Commentary, then, that Mr Cope has thrown all his strength. Nor do we require to read far in order to realize our anticipations with regard to his scholarship and diligence. Mr Cope was familiar with Aristotle and with Greek;

but in these volumes the proof is most convincingly present throughout the handling of the matter and the manner of his author. He was familiar also with the best Aristotelian scholarship of the Continent, and he has liberally shared this advantage with his readers.

Mr Sandys has performed his arduous duties with marked ability and admirable tact, so that it may fairly be doubted whether the Commentary really suffers from want of the author's own editorial care. He has everywhere tried, with reverent fidelity, to do as Mr Cope would have done, had he not been prevented by untimely fate. Besides the revision of Mr Cope's material already referred to in his own words, Mr Sandys has thrown in many useful notes; none more useful than those that bring the Commentary up to the latest scholarship by reference to important works that have appeared since Mr Cope's illness put a period to his labours. When the original Commentary stops abruptly three chapters before the end of the third book, Mr Sandys carefully supplies the deficiency, following Mr Cope's general plan and the slightest available indications of his intended treatment. In Appendices he has reprinted from classical journals several articles of Mr Cope's; and, what is better, he has given the best of the late Mr Shilleto's 'Adversaria.' In every part of his work—revising, supplementing, and completing—he has done exceedingly well."—Examiner.

"A careful examination of the work shows that the high expectations of classical students will not be disappointed. Mr Cope's 'wide and minute acquaintance with all the Aristotelian writings,' to which Mr Sandys justly bears testimony, his thorough knowledge of the important contributions of modern German scholars, his ripe and accurate scholarship, and above all, that sound judgment and never-failing good sense which are the crowning merit of our best English editions of the Classics, all combine to make this one of the most valuable additions to the knowledge of Greek literature which we have had for many years.... A glance at the very complete indexes, for which our heartiest thanks are due to the care of the Public Orator, will show the extent of the contributions thus made to our knowledge of Aristotle's language. It involves, too, frequent discussion of points of syntax, in which we have again and again to admire the same precise scholarship which reproduced for us the Gorgias and the Phædo with a photographic accuracy far more welcome than any lax paraphrase, however graceful. But what we have especially to admire is the clearness with which the train of thought is brought into the fullest light, and illustrated from a wonderful acquaintance with Aristotle's other writings.... Mr Sandys's own additions are of much value, although they are generally very brief, except in the third book. Indeed, while recognising the strong reason against swelling the bulk of the Commentary, we are inclined sometimes to wish them a little more numerous."—Spectator.

"This work is in many ways creditable to the University of Cambridge. The solid and extensive erudition of Mr Cope himself bears none the less speaking evidence to the value of the tradition which he continued, if it is not equally accompanied by those qualities of speculative originality and independent judgment which belong more to the individual writer than to his school. And while it must ever be regretted that a work so laborious should not have received the last touches of its author, the warmest admiration is due to Mr Sandys, for the manly, unselfish, and unflinching spirit in which he has performed his most difficult and delicate task. If an English student wishes to have a full conception of what is contained in the Rhetoric of Aristotle, to Mr Cope's edition he must go."—Academy.

ARABIC.

POEMS OF BEHÁ ED DÍN ZOHEIR OF EGYPT.

With a Metrical Translation, Notes and Introduction, by E. H. PALMER, M.A., Barrister-at-Law of the Middle Temple, Lord Almoner's Professor of Arabic and Fellow of St John's College in the University of Cambridge. 3 vols. Crown Quarto.

Vol. I. The ARABIC TEXT. 10s. 6d.; Cloth extra, 15s.

Vol. II. ENGLISH TRANSLATION. 10s. 6d.; Cloth extra, 15s.

"Professor Palmer's activity in advancing Arabic scholarship has formerly shown itself in the production of his excellent Arabic Grammar, and his Descriptive Catalogue of Arabic MSS. in the Library of Trinity College, Cambridge. He has now produced an admirable text, which illustrates in a remarkable manner the flexibility and graces of the language he loves so well, and of which he seems to be perfect master.... The Syndicate of Cambridge University must not pass without the recognition of their liberality in bringing out, in a worthy form, so important an Arabic text. It is not the first time that Oriental scholarship has thus been wisely subsidised by Cambridge."—Indian Mail.

"It is impossible to quote this edition without an expression of admiration for the perfection to which Arabic typography has been brought in England in this magnificent Oriental work, the production of which redounds to the imperishable credit of the University of Cambridge. It may be pronounced one of the most beautiful Oriental books that have ever been printed in Europe: and the learning of the Editor worthily rivals the technical get-up of the creations of the soul of one of the most tasteful poets of Islâm, the study of which will contribute not a little to save the honour of the poetry of the Arabs. Here first we make the acquaintance of a poet who gives us something better than monotonous descriptions of camels and deserts, and may even be regarded as superior in charm to al Mutanabbi."—MYTHOLOGY AMONG THE HEBREWS (Engl. Transl.), p. 194.

"Professor Palmer has produced the complete works of Behá-ed-dín Zoheir in Arabic, and has added a second volume, containing an English verse translation of the whole. He thinks, and we believe rightly, that this is the first time a translation of the entire works of an Arabic poet has ever been produced in England; and he has done his work well. It is a difficult problem how to translate an Eastern poet. A prose version is generally unreadable; and if verse be chosen, it is still hard to give any notion of the movement of the original. Professor Palmer has, we think, grappled successfully with the problem..... It is time the English public altered their views about Oriental poetry. A fair translation has enlightened them about Omar Khayyám and Persian poetry; and now Professor Palmer's very able rendering of Behá-ed-dín should show them that they have been under an illusion about Arab poetry. It is very different from Persian; in some respects not so fine; but it is certainly worthy of careful study. And Behá-ed-dín is a good specimen of the later style of Arab poetry. It is only fair to add that the book, by the taste of its arabesque binding, as well as by the beauty of the typography, which reflects great credit on the Cambridge University Press, is entitled to a place in the drawing-room."—Times.

"For ease and facility, for variety of metre, for imitation, either designed or unconscious, of the style of several of our own poets, these versions deserve high praise..... We have no hesitation in saying that in both Prof. Palmer has made an addition to Oriental literature for which scholars should be grateful; and that, while his knowledge of Arabic is a sufficient guarantee for his mastery of the original, his English compositions are distinguished by versatility, command of language, rhythmical cadence, and, as we have remarked, by not unskillful imitations of the styles of several of our own favourite poets, living and dead."—Saturday Review.

"Zoheir is exhibited by Mr Palmer as a bold, lively, and versatile writer, who casts an unexpected light on the varied moods of thought and feeling that could gain popularity among intelligent men at Cairo in the thirteenth century of our æra."—The Guardian.

"This sumptuous edition of the poems of Behá-ed-dín Zoheir is a very welcome addition to the small series of Eastern poets accessible to readers who are not Orientalists..... In all there is that exquisite finish of which Arabic poetry is susceptible in so rare a degree. The form is almost always beautiful, be the thought what it may. But this, of course, can only be fully appreciated by Orientalists. And this brings us to the translation. It is excellently well done. Mr Palmer has tried to imitate the fall of the original in his selection of the English metre for the various pieces, and thus contrives to convey a faint idea of the graceful flow of the Arabic..... Altogether the inside of the book is worthy of the beautiful arabesque binding that rejoices the eye of the lover of Arab art."—Academy.

ELEMENTS OF NATURAL PHILOSOPHY.

By Professors Sir W. THOMSON and P. G. TAIT. Part I. 8vo. cloth, 9s.

"This work is designed especially for the use of schools and junior classes in the Universities, the mathematical methods being limited almost without exception to those of the most elementary geometry, algebra, and trigonometry. Tyros in Natural Philosophy cannot be better directed than by being told to give their diligent attention to an intelligent digestion of the contents of this excellent vade mecum."—Iron.

THE ANALYTICAL THEORY OF HEAT.

By JOSEPH FOURIER. Translated, with Notes, by A. FREEMAN, M.A., Fellow of St John's College, Cambridge. Demy Octavo, 16s.

"Fourier's treatise is one of the very few scientific books which can never be rendered antiquated by the progress of science. It is not only the first and the greatest book on the physical subject of the conduction of Heat, but in every Chapter new views are opened up into vast fields of mathematical speculation.

"Whatever text-books may be written, giving, perhaps, more succinct proofs of Fourier's different equations, Fourier himself will in all time coming retain his unique prerogative of being the guide of his reader into regions inaccessible to meaner men, however expert."—Extract from letter of Professor Clerk Maxwell.

LAW.

THE FRAGMENTS OF THE PERPETUAL
EDICT OF SALVIUS JULIANUS,

collected, arranged, and annotated by BRYAN WALKER, M.A. LL.D. Law Lecturer of St John's College, and late Fellow of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. Crown 8vo., Cloth, Price 6s.

THE COMMENTARIES OF GAIUS AND RULES
OF ULPIAN. (New Edition, revised and enlarged.)

With a Translation and Notes, by J. T. ABDY, LL.D., Judge of County Courts, late Regius Professor of Laws in the University of Cambridge, and BRYAN WALKER, M.A., LL.D., Law Lecturer of St John's College, Cambridge, formerly Law Student of Trinity Hall and Chancellor's Medallist for Legal Studies. Crown Octavo, 16s.

"As scholars and as editors Messrs Abdy and Walker have done their work well. . . . For one thing the editors deserve special commendation. They have presented Gaius to the reader with few notes and those merely by way of reference or necessary explanation. Thus the Roman jurist is allowed to speak for himself, and the reader feels that he is really studying Roman law in the original, and not a fanciful representation of it."—Athenæum.

"The number of books on various subjects of the civil law, which have lately issued from the Press, shews that the revival of the study of Roman jurisprudence in this country is genuine and increasing. The present edition of Gaius and Ulpian from the Cambridge University Press indicates that the Universities are alive to the importance of the movement, and the fact that the new edition has made its appearance within four years from the original production of the book, should encourage the Syndics to further efforts in the same direction. The auspices under which Messrs Abdy and Walker produce their book are a guarantee that it is a scholarly and accurate performance; and Mr Abdy's practical experience as a County Court Judge supplies a link between theory and practice which, no doubt, has had a beneficial effect upon their work."—Law Journal.

THE INSTITUTES OF JUSTINIAN, translated with Notes by J. T. ABDY, LL.D. Judge of County Courts, late Regius Professor of Laws in the University of Cambridge, and formerly Fellow of Trinity Hall; and BRYAN WALKER, M.A., LL.D. Law Lecturer of St John's College, Cambridge; late Fellow and Lecturer of Corpus Christi College; and formerly Law Student of Trinity Hall. Crown Octavo, 16s.

"We welcome here a valuable contribution to the study of jurisprudence. The text of the Institutes is occasionally perplexing, even to practised scholars, whose knowledge of classical models does not always avail them in dealing with the technicalities of legal phraseology. Nor can the ordinary dictionaries be expected to furnish all the help that is wanted. This translation will then be of great use. To the ordinary student, whose attention is distracted from the subject-matter by the difficulty of struggling through the language in which it is contained, it will be almost indispensable."—Spectator.

"The notes are learned and carefully compiled, and this edition will be found useful to students."—Law Times.

"Dr Abdy and Dr Walker have produced a book which is both elegant and useful. . .

Instead of a general historical summary in the form of an Introduction, we find a number of disquisitions on various points, partly historical and partly purely legal, in the Appendix at the end. We conceive that these short essays, treating of patria potestas, marriage, adoption, and the like, will be of much service to the student, as presenting, in a compendious form, yet not too scantily to be useful, that which would otherwise have to be gleaned with labour from a large surface. The new book is also distinguished by another special feature; an 'Analysis of the Institutes' is given, in a tabular form, at the beginning. . . The 'Analysis' is, undeniably, a useful addition, and the authors deserve credit both for the idea and for the style of execution."—Athenæum.

GROTIUS DE JURE BELLI ET PACIS,

London: Cambridge Warehouse, 17 Paternoster Row.

HISTORY.

HISTORY OF NEPĀL,

translated by MUNSHĪ SHEW SHUNKER SINGH and PANDIT SHRĪ GUNĀNAND; edited with an Introductory Sketch of the Country and People by Dr D. WRIGHT, late Residency Surgeon at Kāthmāndū, and with facsimiles of native drawings, and portraits of Sir JUNG BAHĀDUR, the KING OF NEPĀL, &c. Super-royal 8vo. Price 21s.

"The Cambridge University Press have done well in publishing this work. Such translations are valuable not only to the historian but also to the ethnologist;.....Dr Wright's Introduction is based on personal inquiry and observation, is written intelligently and candidly, and adds much to the value of the volume. The coloured lithographic plates are interesting."—Nature.

"The history has appeared at a very opportune moment...The volume...is beautifully printed, and supplied with portraits of Sir Jung Bahadur and others, and with excellent coloured sketches illustrating Nepalese architecture and religion."—Examiner.

"In pleasing contrast with the native history are the five introductory chapters contributed by Dr Wright himself, who saw as much of Nepal during his ten years' sojourn as the strict rules enforced against foreigners even by Jung Bahadur would let him see."—Indian Mail.

"Von nicht geringem Werthe dagegen sind die Beigaben, welche Wright als 'Appendix' hinter der 'history' folgen lässt, Aufzählungen nämlich der in Nepāl üblichen Musik-Instrumente, Ackergeräthe, Münzen, Ge-wichte, Zeittheilung, sodann ein kurzes Vocabular in Parbatīyā und Newārī, einige Newārī songs mit Interlinear-Uebersetzung, eine Königsliste, und, last not least, ein Verzeichniss der von ihm mitgebrachten Sanskrit-Mss., welche jetzt in der Universitäts-Bibliothek in Cambridge deponirt sind."—A. WEBER, Literaturzeitung, Jahrgang 1877, Nr. 26.

"This native history is a most interesting contribution to our knowledge of Nepal; and the accuracy of the translation is certified by the fact of its having been made by the Meer Moonshee attached to the British Residency at Khatmandoo, who has lived in Nepal for nearly 30 years, assisted by the Pundit Shree Gunanund, who is a native of Nepal, and whose ancestors have for many generations been the compilers of this history."—Times.

"On trouve le portrait et la généalogie de Sir Jang Bahadur dans l'excellent ouvrage que vient de publier Mr Daniel Wright,..... sous le titre de 'History of Nepal, translated from the Parbatīyā, etc.'"—M. GARCIN DE TASSY, in La Langue et la Littérature Hindoustanie in 1877. Paris, 1878.

SCHOLAE ACADEMICAE:

Some Account of the Studies at the English Universities in the Eighteenth Century. By CHRISTOPHER WORDSWORTH, M.A., Fellow of Peterhouse; Author of "Social Life at the English Universities in the Eighteenth Century." Demy octavo, cloth, 15s.

"The general object of Mr Wordsworth's book is sufficiently apparent from its title. He has collected a great quantity of minute and curious information about the working of Cambridge institutions in the last century, with an occasional comparison of the corresponding state of things at Oxford. It is of course impossible that a book of this kind should be altogether entertaining as literature. To a great extent it is purely a book of reference, and as such it will be of permanent value for the historical knowledge of English education and learning."—Saturday Review.

"This work follows the modern historical method; it is not an argumentative romance with a few facts let in where they support a favourite view, but a careful exhumation of dead records; which are made to bring before us a live past, by being placed in due connection by a man who understands them and loves his subject.... In the work before us, which is strictly what it professes to be, an account of university studies, we obtain authentic information upon the course and changes of philosophical thought in this country, upon the general estimation of letters, upon the relations of doctrine and science, upon the range and thoroughness of education, and we may add, upon the cat-like tenacity of life of ancient forms.... The particulars Mr Wordsworth gives us in his excellent arrangement are most varied, interesting, and instructive. Among the matters touched upon are Libraries, Lectures, the Tripos, the Trivium, the Senate House, the Schools, text-books, subjects of study, foreign opinions, interior life. We learn even of the various University periodicals that have had their day. And last, but not least, we are given in an appendix a highly interesting series of private letters from a Cambridge student to John Strype, giving a vivid idea of life as an undergraduate and afterwards, as the writer became a graduate and a fellow."—University Magazine.

"Only those who have engaged in like labours will be able fully to appreciate the sustained industry and conscientious accuracy discernible in every page. . . . Of the whole volume it may be said that it is a genuine service rendered to the study of University history, and that the habits of thought of any writer educated at either seat of learning in the last century will, in many cases, be far better understood after a consideration of the materials here collected."—Academy.

LIFE AND TIMES OF STEIN, OR GERMANY AND PRUSSIA IN THE NAPOLEONIC AGE, by J. R. SEELEY, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History in the University of Cambridge. [In the Press.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE FROM THE EARLIEST TIMES TO THE ROYAL INJUNCTIONS OF 1535, by JAMES BASS MULLINGER, M.A. Demy 8vo. cloth (734 pp.), 12s.

"We have hitherto had no satisfactory book in English on the subject. . . . The fourth chapter contains a most interesting account of 'Student Life in the Middle Ages,' but an abstract of it would take up so much space that we must refer our readers to the book itself. Our difficulty throughout has been to give any adequate account of a book in which so much interesting information is condensed, and we must for the present give up any hope of describing the chapters on 'Cambridge at the Revival of Classical Learning' and 'Cambridge at the Reformation,' though a better account nowhere exists of one of the most eventful periods of our history. . . . We trust Mr Mullinger will yet continue his history and bring it down to our own day."—Academy.

"Any book which throws light on the origin and early history of our Universities will always be gladly welcomed by those who are interested in education, especially a book which is so full of varied information as Mr Mullinger's History of Cambridge. He has brought together a mass of instructive details respecting the rise and progress, not only of his own University, but of all the principal Universities of the Middle Ages. . . . We hope some day that he may continue his labours, and give us a history of the University during the troublous times of the Reformation and the Civil War."—Athenæum.

"Mr Mullinger's work is one of great learning and research, which can hardly fail to become a standard book of reference on the subject. . . . We can most strongly recommend this book to our readers."—Spectator.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE OF ST JOHN THE EVANGELIST, by THOMAS BAKER, B.D., Ejected Fellow. Edited by JOHN E. B. MAYOR, M.A., Fellow of St John's. Two Vols. Demy 8vo. 24s.

"It may be doubted whether there is any MS. in existence which Cambridge men have been more anxious to see committed to the press, under competent editorship, than the History of St John's by that Socius Ejectus Thomas Baker, whose life Walpole desired to write. . . . It is perhaps well for Baker's reputation . . . that it was reserved for so peculiarly competent an editor as Mr Mayor to give this history to the world. . . . If it be highly to the credit of the Syndics of the Pitt Press to have printed the book, the manner in which he has edited it reflects no less credit upon Mr Mayor."—Notes and Queries.

"To antiquaries the book will be a source of almost inexhaustible amusement, by historians it will be found a work of considerable service on questions respecting our social progress in past times; and the care and thoroughness with which Mr Mayor has discharged his editorial functions are creditable to his learning and industry."—Athenæum.

"The work displays very wide reading, and it will be of great use to members of the college and of the university, and, perhaps, of still greater use to students of English history, ecclesiastical, political, social, literary and academical, who have hitherto had to be content with 'Dyer.'"—Academy.

"It may be thought that the history of a college cannot be particularly attractive. The two volumes before us, however, have something more than a mere special interest for those who have been in any way connected with St John's College, Cambridge; they contain much which will be read with pleasure by a far wider circle. Many of the facts brought under our notice are of considerable value to the general historical student. . . . Every member of this ancient foundation will recognize the worth of Mr Mayor's labours, which, as it will appear, have been by no means confined to mere ordinary editorial work. . . . The index with which Mr Mayor has furnished this useful work leaves nothing to be desired."—Spectator.

"This little volume (III.) is on every account well suited, either for schools or for the Local Examinations."—Times.

"Mr Pretor's 'Anabasis of Xenophon, Book IV.' displays a union of accurate Cambridge scholarship, with experience of what is required by learners gained in examining middle-class schools. The text is large and clearly printed, and the notes explain all difficulties. . . . Mr Pretor's notes seem to be all that could be wished as regards grammar, geography, and other matters."—The Academy.

EURIPIDES. HERCULES FURENS. With

Introductions, Notes and Analysis. By J. T. HUTCHINSON, B.A., Christ's College, Cambridge, and A. GRAY, B.A., Fellow of Jesus College, Cambridge, Assistant Masters at Dulwich College.

"Messrs Hutchinson and Gray have produced a careful and useful edition. . . . Generally the editors of the play for this series pave the student's way by adequate notes wherever they are wanted. . . . The condensed note on v. 637 with reference to the connexion of the Chorus with the poet's old age, and the retrospect of his literary life, is very much to the purpose; and, on the whole, this volume, like those with which we have grouped it, speaks very well for modern Cambridge scholarship."—Saturday Review.

LUCIANI SOMNIUM CHARON PISCATOR ET DE LUCTU

with English Notes. Edited for the Syndics of the University Press, by

M. T. CICERONIS ORATIO PRO ARCHIA

M. T. CICERONIS PRO L. CORNELIO BALBO

ORATIO. Edited by J. S. REID, M.L. late Fellow of Christ's College, Cambridge. Price 1s. 6d.

"Mr Reid's Orations for Archias and for Balbus profess to keep in mind the training of the student's eye for the finer and more delicate matters of scholarship no less than for the more obvious; and not only deal with the commonplace notabilia of a Latin oration as they serve the needs of a commonplace student, but also point out the specialities of Cicero's subject-matter and modes of expression. . . . We are bound to recognize the pains devoted in the annotation of these two orations to the minute and thorough study of their Latinity, both in the ordinary notes and in the textual appendices."—Saturday Review.

"There seems to be no ground for fearing, as the editor suggests, that, in this case at least, a book for boys may be thought not fit for men. The classical work before us is fitter, in many respects, for men than for boys. There are certainly few men indeed who are competent to write the notes which Mr Reid appends to the text, and there are not many who can read the notes without profit."—Educational Times.

P. OVIDII NASONIS FASTORUM LIBER VI.

With a Plan of Rome and Notes by A. SIDGWICK, M.A. late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and Assistant Master in Rugby School. Price 1s. 6d.

"Mr Sidgwick's editing of the Sixth Book of Ovid's Fasti furnishes a careful and serviceable volume for average students. It eschews 'construes' which supersede the use of the dictionary, but gives full explanation of grammatical usages and historical and mythical allusions, besides illustrating peculiarities of style, true and false derivations, and the more remarkable variations of the text."—Saturday Review.

GAI IULI CAESARIS DE BELLO GALLICO

COMMENTARIUS SEPTIMUS. With two Plans and English Notes by A. G. PESKETT, B.A. Fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge. Price 2s.

"In an unusually succinct introduction he gives all the preliminary and collateral information that is likely to be useful to a young student; and, wherever we have examined his notes, we have found them eminently practical and satisfying. . . . The book may well be recommended for careful study in school or college."—Saturday Review.

"Mr Arthur Sidgwick's 'Vergil, Aeneid, Book XII.' is worthy of his reputation, and is distinguished by the same acuteness and accuracy of knowledge, appreciation of a boy's difficulties and ingenuity and resource in meeting them, which we have on other occasions had reason to praise in these pages."—The Academy.

"As masterly in its clearly divided preface and appendices as in the sound and independent character of its annotations. . . . There is a great deal more in the notes than mere compilation and suggestion. . . . No difficulty is left unnoticed or unhandled."—Saturday Review.

"Those students are to be deemed fortunate who have to read Cicero's lively and brilliant oration for L. Murena with Mr Heitland's handy edition, which may be pronounced "four-square" in point of equipment, and which has, not without good reason, attained the honours of a second edition."—Saturday Review.

"These Orationes are the best piece of work we have received from the best writer of Latin prose. "The editorial work is excellently done, but the book contains more than is required for University Local Examinations, and is rather suited to the higher forms of public schools."—The Academy.

- M. ANNAEI LUCANI PHARSALIAE LIBER PRIMUS, edited with English Introduction and Notes by W. E. HEITLAND, M.A. and C. E. HASKINS, M.A., Fellows and Lecturers of St John's College, Cambridge. Price 1s. 6d.

"A careful and scholarlike production."—Times.

"'Lucan's Pharsalia, Book I,' edited by Messrs. Heitland and Haskins, is called by them an experiment, and can scarcely be intended for use in the Local Examinations. We are, however, very glad to see the curriculum of school books enlarged, and an English edition of Lucan has long been a desideratum."—The Academy.

"In nice parallels of Lucan from Latin poets and from Shakspeare, Mr Haskins and Mr Heitland deserve praise."—Saturday Review.

"Prussia under Frederick the Great, and France under the Directory, bring us face to face respectively with periods of history which it is right should be known thoroughly, and which are well treated in the Pitt Press volumes. The latter in particular, an extract from the world-known work of Madame de Staël on the French Revolution, is beyond all praise for the excellence both of its style and of its matter."—Times.

"The choice made by M. Masson of the second book of the Memoirs of Madame de Staël appears specially felicitous. . . . This is likely to be one of the most favoured of M. Masson's editions, and deservedly so."—Academy.

FRÉDÉGONDE ET BRUNEHAUT. A Tragedy in Five Acts, by N. LEMERCIER. Edited with Notes, Genealogical and Chronological Tables, a Critical Introduction and a Biographical Notice. By GUSTAVE MASSON. Price 2s.

"Like other books in the 'Pitt Press Series,' this is neatly printed, and the notes are short and serviceable. Of the tragedy itself the best trait is its style, which has been described as 'Cornelian.'"—Athenæum.

A BOOK OF BALLADS ON GERMAN HISTORY. Arranged and Annotated by WILHELM WAGNER, Ph.D., Professor at the Johanneum, Hamburg. Price 2s.

"It carries the reader rapidly through some of the most important incidents connected with the German race and name, from the invasion of Italy by the Visigoths under their King Alaric, down to the Franco-German War and the installation of the present Emperor. The notes supply very well the connecting links between the successive periods, and exhibit in its various phases of growth and progress, or the reverse, the vast unwieldy mass which constitutes modern Germany."—Times.

DER STAAT FRIEDRICH'S DES GROSSEN.

By G. FREYTAG. With Notes. By WILHELM WAGNER, Ph.D., Professor at the Johanneum, Hamburg. Price 2s.

"These are recent additions to the handy reprints given in the 'Pitt Press Series.' In both the intention is to combine the studies of literature and history. . . In the second of these little books, the editor gives, with some alterations, a fairly written essay on Mr Carlyle's hero. The notes appended to the essay, like those following the ballads, are mostly concise and useful."

"Prussia under Frederick the Great, and France under the Directory, bring us face to face respectively with periods of history which it is right should be known thoroughly, and which are well treated in the Pitt Press volumes."
