BY THOMAS HENRY TAUNTON, M.A.

In the pages of this work the reader will occasionally meet with "a horse of great power, immense girth of loin, high shoulder, broad hoof, and such a head! the ear, the frontal, the nostril!—You seldom see a human physiognomy half so intelligent, half so expressive of that high spirit and sweet generous temper, which, when united, constitute the ideal of thorough-breeding, whether in horse or man. The Racer is a noble animal; but it is his misfortune that the better his breeding, the worse his company."

What will he do with it? By LORD LYTTON.

PREFACE.

Hic juvenes discant, et ament meminisse seniles.

(Here the young may learn, and the aged love to remember.)

THIS publication is designed not only for those more or less acquainted with the history of the Turf, and who may have acquired an abiding interest in all that concerns it, but for such of the general community as may desire to know something of those equine celebrities which have figured, in the most captivating of all our national pastimes, as winners of the three great classic races, of the Ascot, Goodwood, and Doncaster Cups, and of other cups, stakes, and matches at different race meetings throughout the kingdom, during the past and present centuries.

In the arrangement of the work strict chronological order has been observed, whereby the comparative merits of the various competing horses can be accurately gauged and estimated at their proper standard.

VOL. I. possesses an interest quite distinct from the other three consecutive volumes; inasmuch as, in the early part of the last century, not only did the horses of that period differ greatly in character and conformation from those of a more recent date, but the comparison was rendered still more marked by the lack of skill in their delineation.

In VOL. II., commencing with the few remaining horses of the last century, the interest begins to quicken, and goes on increasing till the end of VOL. IV. is reached. As will be seen by reference to the printed list of Horses, VOLS. II., III., and IV. include most of the winners of the Derby, Oaks, and St. Leger.

* The Portrait of Moses was painted by Mr. James Ward, R.A.

J. F. HERRING.

MR. J. F. HERRING in early life was the well-known coachman of the York and London Highflyer; but, in the year that Jack Spigot won the Doncaster, St. Leger, he discarded the reins for the mahl-stick and easel. Doncaster, and its Town-Moor associations, whetted his zeal for the brush, long before he took to it as a profession; and many a horse and mail-coach, sketched by him, crept on to the tavern-walls and signs. Smolensko and Comus were among his earliest essays. His dining-room was filled with the prints from his works, among which figured Sultan, with his beautiful Arab head, and dish-nose, not however more beautiful than Attila. Langan's was another of his glorious heads, as were those also of Doctor Syntax, Mameluke, Partisan, and the lovely Venison, with his deep, fiery eye and tapering nose.

Herring was wont to say that the coarsest horse he ever painted was Ardrossan, as his neck was even heavier than that of the Godolphin Arabian. Welbeck too (sire of the neat little Bedlamite), was also in the list of his ugly ones; but Mr. J. G. Lambton's Don Juan, by Orville, was one of his special delights, as were also Magistrate and Filho-da-Putá; while the Duchess, by Cardinal York, who always ran in the highest company and held her own, was his prima-donna among the small, as Crucifix and Queen of Trumps were among the larger, mares. No horse, however (Mr. Herring declared), that he ever painted, impressed him so much as Bay Middleton, and he always expressed his belief that this magnificent son of Sultan possessed heart and energy enough to do just what he liked with his competitors on the Turf. Mr. Herring painted three horses for Her Majesty, viz., Korseed (a white Arab), Bag dad (a black charger of Prince Albert's), and Said (an Arab kept for the use of the children).

THE YORK HIGHFLYER COACH.

THE WHIP.

(From the SPORTING MAGAZINE for August, 1823.)

HAVING been favoured by Mr. J. H. Green, of Ludlow, with a facsimile of "The Whip," taken while it was in the possession of Mr. Charlton, we considered that our readers would be pleased at its forming one of the embellishments of this work.

The Whip is of very antique appearance, and by no means a splendid trophy. The handle, which is very heavy, is of silver, with a ring at the end of it for a wristband, which is made of the mane of Eclipse. The upper part is like all other whips, except the lash, which is made of the tail of Eclipse. It is reported to be the identical whip which Charles II. was in the habit of riding with, and which he presented to some Nobleman,* whose arms it bears, as being the owner of the best horse in England. This gave rise to the challenge, which for many years promoted admirable sport on the turf, till his present Majesty won it with Auriel, in the year 1787, in whose possession it continued till Mr. Charlton challenged for it, with his celebrated horse Master Henry.†

We should be happy to give place to a more satisfactory description, if favoured with it by any correspondent, who may make researches on the subject. Lord Foley having challenged for The Whip with his horse Sultan, which Mr. Charlton declined, his Lordship now retains the prize.

* Lord Montague, who possessed the finest breed of horses in the kingdom.

THE WHIP.

(From the SPORTING MAGAZINE for December, 1829.)

SIR,

In case you should approve the following lines (on seeing The Whip pronounced as unworthy of an attempt to obtain possession of it), I shall feel obliged by their insertion in your Magazine.

(Signed) MAMELUKE.

And was it said—"a valuable horse
Should not be made to run the Beacon Course,
Nor stake two hundred pounds of useful tip,
For a prize—not worth a Lawyer's fee—The Whip?"
Should there remain no monument to tell,
How Second Charles for Plates exchanged the Bell?
And how he raised the best of sports on high,
From the drear depths of lone obscurity?
For what did Kings, on famed Olympia's plain,
Stretch every nerve, and loosen every rein,
Hindmost or foremost, persevering staunch—
For what, I ask?—'Twas for an "Olive Branch :"
Then why in vain essay to dock and nip
The sprouting honours of King Charles's Whip?
What! though no DINNER STAKES now greet the sight,
Nor PORT nor CLARET thirsty souls invite;
What! though no "GARDEN STAKES" can boast their reign,
Nor ancient "OATLANDS" † spread their rich domain!
Can these alone a true-born Sportsman fire?
These only fan an Englishman's desire?
Not so—the glory of The Whip shall last
(If I may judge the future by the past)
While grow on land POTOOOOOOOO, SHARKS in seas;
While DRONES give trouble to the lab'ring bees;
While CREEPERS spread, while smiths the ANVIL raise,
And, in each sign, ST. GEORGE the DRAGON slays:
While lives, in Egypt's variable story,
The SULTAN'S, MAMELUKE'S and MEMNON'S glory.

* A silver bell, anciently run for at Newmarket, and elsewhere, in the reign of James the First.

† The Dinner, Port, Claret, Garden, and the Oatlands Stakes were some of the richest prizes run for, at Newmarket, in bygone days.

HAPHAZARD'S PERFORMANCES.

At Richmond, won 40 gs., and ran third for the Cup, won by Sir W. Gerard's b. c. Asheton, by Beningbrough. Haphazard* did not run in 1805, and only once in 1806, at Lewes, for the Ladies' Purse, in which he was beaten by Dick Andrews, and then retired to the Stud, where he will be best remembered in having been the sire of Filho da Puta.

* "The Druid," in writing of Haphazard, says that "he was a gay, nag-looking horse, with a low back, and very fine action, but never a great favourite. Billy Pierse thought he had hardly ever been on a truer four-mile horse than him and Agonistes, both of the same age, both by Sir Peter, and companions in the Raby Stable. His finest race on Haphazard was against Marcia (ridden by Frank Buckle, at York August Meeting in 1803), for the Great Subscription Purse, when Haphazard won by half a length." Ben Smith rode Cinnamon, third and last. From "Silk and Scarlet."

CHAMPION.

CHAMPION was a bay colt, bred by Christopher Wilson, Esq., in 1797, who sold him to Lord Darlington, after winning the St. Leger. Orville was the first of Beningbrough's get that ever started; and Wm. Edwards always declared that, while Selim was the speediest, Orville was the best for all distances, he ever rode. His lungs and courage were inexhaustible. Orville ran a four-mile trial with Haphazard, at Lewes, and gave him such a tying-up (at even weights), that the latter never again appeared in public; and, on the same day, he beat Walton for the King's Plate. Orville was over 16 hands high, was a most difficult horse to ride, and, under the saddle, was very inanimate, and required vigorous riding.

He was a mere feather at the time, and begged hard for a curb-bridle, but the Earl's trainer knew the colt to be such a slug that he only replied, 'The further he runs away, the further he'll beat 'em.' However, John Jackson, on Alonzo, and Shepherd, on Sir Solomon, agreed together to make the St. Leger Winner run away. Accordingly they got the lad between them, and, by sly strokes of the whip, on either side, most effectually waked up Orville for him. In vain poor little Edwards shouted out, 'I'll tell the Jockey Club of you,' till Jackson finished the matter by kneeling the bewildered lad on to the rails. But for this Orville must have won."—From "Scott and Sebright," by "The Druid."

* "The Druid," in "Silk and Scarlet," says—"Orville was the first of Beningbrough's get that ever started; and William Edwards always declared that, while Selim was the speediest, Orville was the best for all lengths that he ever rode. His lungs and courage quite inexhaustible. As a proof of this he ran a four-mile trial with Haphazard at Lewes,† even weights, at four o'clock in the morning; and gave him such a tying-up, at the end of three miles, that Sam Chifney did not persevere with Haphazard, who started no more in public. The King's Plate was run that afternoon, and Will Edwards landed Orville home first, after a punishing race with Walton. Orville was a very difficult horse to ride, and so inanimate and dead-skinned that nothing but a whip that would curl well round him could make any impression. There was a great deal of the coach-horse about him, and he stood very much over with one knee."

† This was in 1805. The Druid is in error in stating that it was the King's Plate that was run for that afternoon. It was a Subscription Plate of 100 gs., in which Orville and Walton alone contended.

WALTON.

WALTON, own brother to Ditto, was a bay horse, bred by Sir Hedworth Williamson in 1799, and got by Sir Peter Teazle, out of Arethusa (bred by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in 1792), by Dungannon, out of a mare by Prophet (son of Regulus), out of Virago (Saltram's dam), by Old Snap, out of a mare by Regulus (son of the Godolphin Arabian), out of a sister to Black and all Black (commonly called Othello), by Mr. Pantan's Old Crab, out of Miss Slamerkin, by Young True Blue, her dam, by Lord Oxford's Dun Arabian, out of Lord D'Arcy's Black-legged Royal Mare.

"The Druid," in Silk and Scarlet, says: "Sir John Shelley bought the clever, but cobby-looking Walton, when he was beaten for the Craven Stakes by Aniseed, in the year that Old Eleanor was third. He was awkward to ride, and Buckle said of him that he was 'always on his head for the first mile.' His stock had no great character about them;* but although he had only seven mares in his first season, Phantom, a winner of the Derby, Vandyke Junior, and Rainbow were among his lucky hits; Bay Middleton, Ishmael, and Voltaire were out of Phantom mares; and George IV. was latterly as fond of Walton's son, Waterloo, as he had been in his younger days of the Trumpators and Gohannas. Walton's most distinguished son, Partisan, strained back to Highflyer, through his dam Parasol, by Pot8o's, out of Prunella. Trainers used to say of him that he was the finest actioned horse that ever went over Newmarket; and, after proving the sire of Venison, Mameluke, Gladiator, and Glaucus, he was eventually sold for 165 gs." Herein "The Druid" appears to have made out a case against himself. Besides those mentioned by "The Druid," Walton was the sire of Mr. Craven's Tooley, a very successful runner; of Mr. Dundas's Robin Adair, ditto; of Sir J. Shelley's Crecy, ditto; of Mr. Andrew's Nectar, winner of the Riddlesworth, the 2000 Guineas, and 700 gs., all at Newmarket, in the same year; of Sir J. Shelley's b. f. Leopoldine, who, as a three-year-old, won 1000 gs. at Ascot, and 450 gs. at Newmarket; of the Hon. Geo. Watson's Harmodius, winner of the Gascoigne Stakes, at Doncaster, and 710 gs., in the same year; of Mr. Peirse's Wrangler, who won 1000 gs. at York, and 500 gs. at Doncaster, as a three-year-old, and, next year, the Great Subscription Purse at York ; of Sir E. Smith's St. Patrick, winner of the Doncaster St. Leger ; of Mr. Gascoigne's Elizabeth, winner of two Great Subscription Purse at York, and other good Stakes ; of Mr. Payne's Privateer, winner of the Port Stakes and 500 gs. at Newmarket, and 400 sovs. at Ascot, in the same year ; and of several other winners, very far above mediocrity.

At Newmarket (First Spring), 11st, R. C., won the King's Plate, beating b. h. Duxbury, five years, 11st, second, and Mr. Howorth's ch. h. Slapbang, by Delpini, aged, 12st; 7 to 4 on Walton. At Newmarket (Second Spring), 8st 7lbs, B. C., match for 200 gs. (hf.-forfeit), received 100 gs. from Colonel Mellish's b. c. Little Joey, by Coriander, four years, 7st 11lbs. Sir Harry Dimsdale, by Sir Peter, four years, 10st 4lbs, second. Parasol the favourite.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st 6lbs, B. C. (Beacon Course, four miles, one furlong, and 143 yards), match for 200 gs., beat the Duke of Grafton's b. m. At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 3lbs, R. C. (three miles, four furlongs, and 139 yards), won £50, beating br. h. Pipylon (now Colonel Mellish's), six years, 8st 3lbs, and b. m. Walton, however, with Houghton Lass and Enterprise, not having run the proper course, and Orville being the only one that did, the Stakes were awarded to Orville, as having fulfilled the conditions of the race. At Lewes, 8st 5lbs, two and a half miles, won the County Plate, beating Colonel Mellish's b. f. Lady Brough, by Stride, (son of Phænomenon), four years, 7st 3lbs; 4 to 1 on Walton. S. mg., four miles, won the Ladies' Plate of 60 gs., beating Lord Egremont's b. c. Cardinal Beaufort, by Gohanna (winner, this year, of the Derby, the Pavilion Stakes, and 200 gs. at Brighton), three years, 5st 12lbs, second; Mr. Ladbroke's ch. c. Impostor (afterwards named Sasenagh), by Waxy, three years, 5st 12lbs, third; and Enterprise, four years, 7st 7lbs, last; 5 to 4 on Walton, and 6 to 4 against the Cardinal.* Walton now retired to the Stud.

Although "The Druid" states, doubtless on good authority, that Sir John Shelley purchased Walton after his defeat by Aniseed (who, by the way, won a large amount for her previous owner, Mr. G. Crompton) in the Craven Stakes, in 1804, he ran throughout the whole of his racing career in the name of his breeder, Sir Hedworth Williamson.

* (Omitted.) S. mg. (at Lewes, August 3rd), for a Subscription Purse of 10 gs. each, ten subscribers, Walton was beaten, after a severe and punishing race, by Orville, four miles, 8st 12lbs each, both six years old; only these two ran. Walton did not run in 1806; but, in 1807, he ran once at Newmarket, in the Craven Stakes, when, carrying 9st 7lbs (A. F.), he ran second to the Prince of Wales' ch. c. Selim, by Buzzard, rising five years, 8st 9lbs, in a field of eleven high-class horses.

* This is not a very uncommon error on the part of engravers. The Duke of Grafton's ch. h. Antinous, by Blank, is spelt, in the Engraving, "Antonius." In Mr. Herring's picture of Caravan, his dam, Wings, is described by the engraver as being by Emilius, instead of by The Flyer. There is no such horse as Antonius or Pipeling to be found either in the Racing Calendar, or in the Stud-Book. Mr. Clifton Tomson painted both Hyale and Pipylin for Mr. Sitwell.

THE TURF PONY

Of Christopher Wilson, Esq., "The Father of the Turf."

THIS pony was well-known at Newmarket, and also at all the principal race meetings in the North, and was universally admired for his shape, strength, and wonderful activity, being, withal, as gentle as a lamb. His highly-esteemed owner was even better known, as the Father of the Turf, a title accorded to him on the death of Sir Charles Bunbury. By his conciliatory and equable disposition, he effectually united the Sportsmen of the North with those of the South, and succeeded in divesting alike their matches and their feelings of that bitter spirit of rivalry, which, unfortunately for the interests of the Turf, had in former days so strongly prevailed, and caused so much acrimony between them.

THE following notice of Colonel Mellish appeared in the Daily Telegraph of September 8th, 1879 :—

Among the many horses which have awakened that Yorkshire roar of which Sir Francis Hastings Doyle speaks, the owners of some experienced in their time vicissitudes of fortune not less startling than those which overtook the family of "handsome Jack St. Leger," in whose honour the great race of the North was christened by the Marquis of Rockingham. Two brief entries, in the Annual Register, inform us that "John St. Leger, Esquire," was married to Miss Butler, an heiress with £40,000; and, at the same time, that his kinsman, George St. Leger, lay dying in a mean lodging at the Bowling Pins, Rolls Court, Fetter Lane.

THE LATE COL. MELLISH.

There have, however, been far more disquieting reverses in the person of one of the most popular and ardent supporters of the Turf that ever graced a racecourse with his presence. In 1804 and 1805 the brilliant Colonel Mellish carried away the great race of the North, for two years in succession, with Sancho and Staveley, the former being ridden by the renowned Frank Buckle, and the latter by John Jackson. Who that can recall the "unequalled popularity," as Nimrod terms it, of Colonel Mellish, when at the height of his prestige and fame, can doubt that the racecourse furnishes themes as suggestive as any that ever awakened the eloquence and provoked the denunciations of the most dauntless preacher. After a career upon the Turf which, from his admirable judgment in racing matters, would have been as successful as it was honourable, Colonel Mellish fell a victim to that fatal passion for the dice-box which has rung the knell of so many enthusiastic sportsmen. Colonel Mellish was the son of the Squire of Blyth, near Doncaster, from whom he inherited a noble mansion and large estate. He was an accomplished scholar, and his acquirements served him conspicuously in after life. He entered the 11th Light Dragoons; but was speedily transferred to the "Prince of Wales' Own," the 10th Hussars. He was one of the very best whips of the day, a first-rate rider across country, and the best handicapper of horses that had ever been known at Newmarket. A famous horse, belonging to him, named Eagle, by Volunteer, first awakened in Admiral Rous, when a boy at Westminster School, that passion for horse-racing, which was only extinguished by his death, in 1877. The days are long gone by when great matches were in fashion; but if we desire to comprehend the thrilling excitement which once accompanied famous engagements between a couple of much fancied steeds, the still surviving accounts of the great match, at Lewes for 3000 gs. each, in which Colonel Mellish's yellow-bay colt, Sancho, met and defeated Lord Darlington's br. c. Pavilion, by Waxy, both four years old, 8st 3lbs each, four miles, will supply ample materials for our contemplation.* "Which of you will engage me for his coachman, if I am beaten?" asked the gay Colonel, as he rode up to the Prince Regent's crowded German waggon, on Lewes racecourse, just as the flag was about to fall, which was to set Sancho and Pavilion going on their four-mile journey. At this time the Colonel's love for gaming had brought Blyth into the market; but the Peninsular war afforded him a chance of winning distinction in another and a nobler field. He went out to the Peninsula as Aide-de-camp to Sir Rowland Ferguson; and, just before the battle of Vimiera, a general officer rode up to Sir Rowland, exclaiming that, "Were not the thing impossible, I should have declared that a month ago I had left that officer (pointing to Colonel Mellish), in the Cock-pit at York." Colonel Mellish returned from the Peninsula with the Duke of Wellington's endorsement "as one of the best officers in the service;" and, though his patrimony had passed out of his hands for ever, yet a successful marriage had enabled him to settle down upon a farm at Hodsack Priory, hard by those acres in Yorkshire which had once known him as the owner. Pulmonary consumption, however, had marked him for a prey; and, long before the arrival of that forty-fifth year when, in Garrick's words, "The spirit's cool; that time is long enough to play the fool," one of the most fascinating and accomplished patricians of the age in which he lived had passed away. The table on which Colonel Mellish and the Prince Regent played French-Hazard through the livelong night, previous to the final evacuation of Blyth by its reckless inheritor, is still to be seen at Doncaster.

* This match took place on the 1st August, 1805, the result of Sancho's defeat by Pavilion, by a head only, in the Claret Stakes, of 200 gs. each, at Newmarket, in the preceding May, 8st 7lbs each, D. I., Lord Egremont's b. c. Hannibal (Derby winner in 1804), and the Duke of Grafton's br. f. Pelisse (Oaks winner in 1804), being third and fourth.

SELIM.

SELIM was a chestnut colt, bred by General Sparrow, in 1802, at whose decease, in 1805, he was purchased by the Prince of Wales. Selim, own brother to Castrel and Rubens, was got by Buzzard (son of Woodpecker), out of a mare by Alexander, her dam, by Highflyer, out of a dau. of Alfred (son of Match'em), out of a mare by Engineer (son of Sampson), out of Bay Malton's dam, by Old Cade, out of Lass of the Mill, by Old Traveller, out of Miss Makeless, by Young Greyhound, out of a mare (bred by Mr. Crofts in 1731), by Old Partner, her dam, by Woodcock, out of a mare by Mr. Croft's Bay Barb, &c., &c.

"The Druid," in his work entitled "Silk and Scarlet," says that "Woodpecker was a large, coarse horse, with wide lop ears, almost like a prize rabbit, which descended in a marked way to his stock; that his greatest hit was with Buzzard, who was out of a mare by Dux, and that the blood of this great unknown was destined to flow in the veins of the most wonderful leash of brothers that ever sought glory in the Stud Book." He further observes that "their dam (the Alexander Mare) was such a weed to the eye, that the Duke of Queensberry (her then owner), could not get £25 for her, and therefore gave her away to his surgeon at Newmarket. Misfortune was the dam of Buzzard, and her sire, Dux, was a son of Match'em; Mr. Craven's Bronze, winner of the Oaks in 1806, was sister to the leash of brothers. Castrel (the eldest of the three brothers, and also bred by General Sparrow), says the Druid, "was a magnificent chestnut of sixteen hands high, and with great quality; and, but for his roaring, there were few better on the Turf. Selim," he adds, "was given by the Prince to Col. Leigh, when his horses were sold. He was full of quality, and so majestic altogether that no one would have suspected him to be the workman he was at all distances."

Rubens did not get a very large amount of stock in England; but Defence, by Whalebone, Ascot, by Reveller, Recovery, by Emilius, and Coronation, by Sir Hercules, were all out of his daughters. His forte was more stamina than speed.

"The Druid," in "Scott and Sebright," observes that "short legs, high-bred nostrils and very prominent eyes were the principal trade marks of the Waxy stock, and the mottled-brown Whalebone was the smallest among them. The standard could never make him more than fifteen hands and half an inch; and, as he did not seem likely to become fashionable (as a sire), he was sold at seven, for 510 gs. His old Petworth groom, Dryman, says of him that 'he was the lowest and longest, and most-double jointed horse, with the best legs and worst feet I ever saw in my life.' The Earl of Egremont tried to train him after he bought him, with Octavius, at Mr. Ladbroke's sale, but he never ran after he came into the Earl's possession. When in training his chief occupation was to rear and knock his hoofs together like a pair of castanettes. His hunters were good, and mostly bays or browns, and Myrrha and Sir Hercules were the last of his racing stock."

FRANK BUCKLE.

THIS eminent jockey was born at Newmarket, but the actual day of his birth is not known, though the register of his baptism is dated July 10th, 1766. His father was a saddler, and died when Frank was twelve years old. An uncle was left guardian, who apprenticed Frank to a saddler; but the youngster showed his contempt for the raw material of the pigskin by throwing up his indentures, and patiently waiting to become better acquainted with it when converted into a saddle. Buckle made his first appearance at Newmarket, as a jockey, on the 17th of May, 1783, on a horse called the Wolf, on which occasion, being then seventeen years of age, he rode 3st 3lbs. In 1807 he married a Miss Jane Thornton (his second wife), the daughter of a Vet at Lichfield, and removed to Peterborough, where he occupied a farm under Earl Fitzwilliam; and it was no uncommon practice for him to start from Peterborough on his hack at an early hour of the morning for Newmarket, and, after riding a trial there, to reach home for a six o'clock tea, a distance of ninety-two miles, besides the work on the course. His chief competitor in the pigskin was the well known Hibernian, Dennis Fitzpatrick, who rode Diamond in his great match against Hambletonian. As far as weight went, Buckle could ride 7st 8lbs without any trouble; but, during his late years, he settled down to 8st. His seat was as firm, his nerve as good, his ardour and judgment as keen to the last as at any period during his long racing career. His last race was on Colonel Udny's Conservator, on the 5th of November, 1831, the very day of that month on which, fifty years before, he had entered the Hon. Richard Vernon's stables and service. Lord Grosvenor, Sir Charles Bunbury, and Colonel Mellish were Buckle's chief masters; though we find him riding for different owners, including the Hon. George Watson, Mr. Cookson, Colonel Udny, the Duke of Grafton, &c. Buckle rode in most of the important matches at Newmarket, his chief opponent being William Arnall, who, in his turn afterwards, was confronted by James Robinson, Sam Chifney, and Patrick Conolly. The veteran jockey, Buckle—the jockey of his day—closed his earthly career at Peterborough in 1832. He was attacked on the 31st of January with inflammation, and succumbed to the disorder on the 7th of February, in the 66th year of his age. Honest, true, and able, Frank Buckle, on quitting the turf, left a blank, not easy to fill up. Warm in his friendships, frank and free in his demeanour, and of the strictest integrity, he was greatly esteemed in private life, while, in his professional calling, his relinquishment of the pigskin, and his death, which happened a few weeks after, were universally lamented by the habitués of the turf.

In 1792, Buckle won his first Derby, on Lord Grosvenor's ch. c. John Bull, by Fortitude.

In 1794, his second, on Lord Grosvenor's br. c. Dedalus, by Justice.

In 1802, his third, on the Duke of Grafton's b. c. Tyrant, by Pot80's.

In 1811, his fourth, on Sir John Shelley's b. c. Phantom, by Walton.

In 1823, his fifth and last, on Colonel Udny's b. c. Emilius, by Orville.

In 1797, Buckle won his first Oaks, on Lord Grosvenor's b. f. Nike, by Alexander.

In 1798, his second, on Mr. J. H. Durand's b. f. Bellissima, by Phænomenon.

In 1799, his third, on Lord Grosvenor's ch. f. Bellina, by Rockingham.

In 1802, his fourth, on Mr. Wastell's gr. f. Scotia, by Delpini (son of Highflyer).

In 1803, his fifth, on Sir Thomas Gascoigne's b. f. Theophania, by Delpini.

 In 1823, his ninth and last, on the Duke of Grafton's br. f. Zinc, by Woful (son of Waxy).
 In 1800, Buckle won his first St. Leger, on Mr. C. Wilson's b. c. Champion, by Pot80's.
 In 1804, his second and last, on Colonel Mellish's b. c. Sancho, by Don Quixote.

Caterpillar, by Haphazard, second, Mr. Glover's b. c. Illusion, by Haphazard, third; also, not placed, the Duke of Rutland's ch. c. Solyman, by Selim, the Duke of York's ch. c. Aladdin, by Giles, Lord Derby's br. c. Viceroy, by Sancho, b. c. Alcohol (afterwards sold to Lord George Cavendish), by Whiskey, Hocuspocus, and four others. Even on Smolensko, 4 to 1 against Solyman, 7 to 1 against Caterpillar, and 9 to 1 against Viceroy.

Smolensko's appearance on the course, and the race for the Derby, are thus described in the Old Sporting Magazine for June, 1813:—"The moment Smolensko appeared there was a burst of admiration on all sides. His fine eye, the splendid symmetry of his limbs, the grace and power of his action, and his perfect docility, became in turn subject of comment and approbation. At half past three o'clock the horses were at the post; and, at starting, a fine burst took place, each striving for the lead, which Solyman obtained. Smolensko, however, soon shot ahead, the rest keeping close at his heels, Lord Jersey's Caterpillar being nearly level with him. They all went at score from the start, at a very hot pace. On coming to the sharp turn, called Tadnor's point (presumably Tattenham Corner), Caterpillar passed Smolensko, upon whom Goodisson had hitherto kept a tight rein, with occasionally a strong pull. About 100 yards from the winning-post, Goodisson gave Smolensko his head, when he shot by Caterpillar like lightning, winning easily by a length."

At Egham, for three years old, 8st 10lbs, won the Magna Charta Stakes of 175 gs., beating the Duke of York's ch. c. Eurus, by Giles (son of Trumpator), 8st 5lbs, in a canter. At Newmarket (First October), for three years old, 8st 9lbs each, D. I., ran third and last in a sweep of £96, won by Mr. Andrew's br. c. The Corporal, by Orville, beating Lord Foley's ch. c. Macedonian, by Alexander, second; 4 to 1 on Smolensko, who, in running, strained one of his back sinews. At Newmarket (Second October), not having recovered from his lameness, he paid 80 gs. (compromise) to Lord Foley's Benedict, by Remembrancer. At Newmarket, Houghton, 8st 7lbs each, D. I., match for 200 gs., beat General Grosvenor's b. c. Redmond, by Whiskey, easily.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st 7lbs each, A. F. (T. Goodisson), match for 200 gs., beat Sir G. Armytage's b. c. Tiger, by Sir Paul (Wm. Arnall); 2 to 1 on Tiger, who, in 1813, won the Peregrine Stakes of 50 gs. each, at York, and ran third to Altsidora in the Doncaster St. Leger. At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 12lbs (T. Goodisson); won a handicap sweep of 450 gs., beating Mr. Dundas' ch. c. Pyramus, by Meteor, 7st 7lbs, second; also, not placed, the Hon. J. Villiers' bl. c. Don Cossack, by Haphazard, 8st 8lbs, ch. c. Phosphor, 8st, and Colonel Udny's b. c. Punic (who died at the close of this year), by Gohanna, 7st 10lbs; all rising four years old; 5 to 4 against Smolensko, 7 to 4 against Pyramus, and 8 to 1 against Phosphor. This was Smolensko's last appearance on the Turf.

It is somewhat remarkable that Smolensko and Lord Jersey's Caterpillar were both out of Mentor mares, also that the first three in the Oaks, in 1813, were all by Waxy, and that T. Goodisson rode the winners of Derby and Oaks.

It is stated that during the race for the Derby, indescribable excitement and confusion prevailed. Large bodies of horsemen were galloping furiously in all directions. Several collisions took place, resulting in many falls, and causing some injuries; a few gigs were run-away with, overturned, and smashed; a phaeton was also overthrown, the lady who was seated in it, being very seriously injured, and a gentleman, in endeavouring to save her, had his arm broken. Such a scene was never witnessed on any race-course. A very large sum of money changed hands on this Derby. Before the race, Sir Charles Bunbury was offered 5000 gs. (an enormous sum in those days), for Smolensko, and, subsequently 4000 gs., both being refused.

The smaller portrait of Smolensko was painted and etched by Mr. Clifton-Tomson, the eminent artist of Nottingham, who also etched the portrait of Cockfighter in Vol. I. The other, with Tom Goodisson up, was painted by J. N.* Sartorius, and engraved by W. Ward, engraver to H.R.H. the Prince Regent.

TRAMP.

TRAMP was a bay colt, bred by R. Watt, Esq., of Bishop Burton, near Beverley, Yorkshire, in 1810. He was got by Dick Andrews (son of Joe Andrews, by Eclipse), out of a mare by Gohanna, out of Flaxinella, by Trentham, out of a mare by Woodpecker, out of Everlasting, by Eclipse, out of Hyæna, by Old Snap, out of Miss Belsea, by Regulus, &c., &c.

The Druid (in "Scott and Sebright"), says, "Jemmy Rooke had charge of Joe Andrews and Dick Andrews in his possession, on Wychwood Forest (Oxon), when he was sold up; and it was quite a curiosity to see the latter, with his giraffe-like neck, eat from the top of the rack. In ugliness of ears, and head altogether, he was unrivalled; and so light was he in the body, as to require very little training. Tramp, like all the tribe, was very narrow, when young, but he gradually became one of the grandest-boned and grandest-looking horses in England, well worthy to be the sire of the renowned Lottery."

Tramp was a nice level horse, standing just fifteen hands and two inches high, being long and low, and rather straight in his back: of all his sons, Tyke resembled him the most. Tramp was a wonderful four-mile horse, and the Subscription Purse at York, in 1814, when Prime Minister (a son of Sancho) only just beat him, produced greater excitement than had ever been known on the Knavesmire, except in the great match between the Flying Dutchman and Voltigeur. John Jackson, on Tramp, forced the pace round the bason-turn; but, by the wood, Shepherd (on Prime Minister), headed him again; however, Tramp got the lead, and cries of "Now, Tramp!" "Now, Minister!" rent the air. Fifty yards from home Shepherd got the Minister's nose in front, and increased it to half a neck, by which distance he won. Until he possessed Blacklock, Mr. Watt would never keep a stallion, and so he parted with Tramp for £300. His new owner kept him for two years, and then sold him for £1400. A cross, between Tramp and a Whisker mare, produced Liverpool, bred by Mr. Watt. Tramp was very successful as a stallion; for, at the time of his death, the total value of the stakes won by his stock amounted to £67,501 5s. Among these, we find two winners of the Derby (St. Giles and Dangerous), one of the St. Leger (Barefoot), and two of the Whip (Zinganee and Little Red Rover). In the month of December, 1835, poor old Tramp, worn out with age, was shot at How Bridge farm, near Malton. Joe Andrews (Tramp's grandsire) died, in obscurity, many years before his son, Dick, made his blood famous with the chestnut Altisidora, Manuella, and Tramp. Dick Andrews was a narrow horse, with a long, lean head and neck, but showed great breeding.

Arnall), won the Newmarket Stakes of 50 gs. each, h. ft., twenty-three subscribers, beating Lord Grosvenor's b. f. Zadora, by Trafalgar (son of Sir Peter), second, the Duke of Rutland's br. c. the Oatlands, at Newmarket), by Sorcerer, Lord Egremont's b. c. Wanderer, by Gohanna, the Duke of Rutland's ch. c. Osman (winner, this year, of 1350 gs., at Newmarket, and 800 gs., at Ascot), by Selim, Sir G. Webster's b. f. Grand Duchess, by Dick Andrews, Lord F. Bentinck's b. c. Monkey, by Shuttle, and seven others. Betting at starting, 5 to 2 against Blucher, 7 to 2 against Bourbon, 4 to 1 against Perchance, 7 to 1 against Grand Duchess, and 10 to 1 against Wanderer. "This race excited unusual interest, the sporting world being much divided in opinion as to the comparative merits of the horses. Blucher and Bourbon were however the decided favourites, from their public running, though the Haphazard colt (Perchance) and Grand Duchess found many backers. The Haphazard colt (who ran second to Olive, in the 2000 gs.), took the lead, at a ripping pace, and was never headed, till within a very few strides from home, when Will Arnall, on Blucher, challenged, and, after a desperate struggle, won by a neck, all the rest being beaten off. The pace all through was tremendous." (Sporting Magazine for June, 1814). At Egham, 8st 10lbs, won the Magna Charta Stakes, of 175 gs., beating, in a canter, Mr. T. Scaith's b. f. by Haphazard, 8st 2lbs, both three years old; 5 to 1 on Blucher. At Newmarket (First Spring), colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 4lbs, ran second in the Port Stakes of 450 gs., won by the Duke of Grafton's br. f. Wire, by Waxy, beating Wanderer, third, and Medora, last; 6 to 4 on Blucher, and 2 to 1 against Wire. This was Blucher's last race.*

* When the allied sovereigns visited England, in 1815, the veteran Field-Marshal Blucher paid a visit to Newmarket, at the Second October Meeting, and expressed a great desire to see the horse which bore his name, and which, he had just been informed, had won the Derby the year before. As Blucher was not on the course, Lord Stawell sent a special messenger to Newmarket for him, and, when he appeared, requested Wm. Arnall to mount him and give him a good gallop in front of the Stand. This done, the gallant old soldier then rode him a short distance, and, on dismounting, expressed himself much pleased with his easy style of going.

MEDORA.

MEDORA was a ch. filly, bred by Colonel Adeane in 1811, and sold, when a yearling, to the Duke of Rutland. She was got by Selim, out of a mare by Sir Harry (son of Sir Peter), her dam, by Volunteer, out of a mare by Herod, out of Goldengrove, by Blank, out of Spinster (alias the Widdrington Mare), by Old Partner, her dam, by Bloody Buttocks, out of a mare by Old Greyhound, out of a daughter of Makeless, &c., &c. The portrait of Medora was engraved by J. Scott, from a fine painting by Sartorius, the younger, and was taken when she was in foal with Pucelle, by Muley.

MEDORA'S PERFORMANCES.

She ran three times more, without success, and was put to the Stud. She was the dam of the Duke of Grafton's Posthuma, by Orville, of his ch. filly Pucelle, by Muley, of the Duke of Richmond's Gulnare (Oaks winner in 1827), by Smolensko, and several other good runners.

PARTISAN.

PARTISAN was a bay colt, bred by the Duke of Grafton in 1811. He was got by Walton, out of Parasol, by Pot80's, out of Prunella, by Highflyer, out of Promise, by Snap, out of Julia (bred by Thomas Panton, Esq., of Newmarket, in 1756), by Blank. For remainder of pedigree, see Whalebone). Partisan was a bright bay, with one white hind-foot; he stood 15 hands and 2 inches high, and was very muscular in form, without heaviness. As a three year old his performances were by no means promising. From the circumstance of the previous winter having been long and very severe, Mr. Robson (the Duke's trainer) was unable to get him into anything like racing condition; and thus his true form was not ascertained till the following year, when, as a four-year old, he showed to great advantage, beating Bourbon twice, and several other good horses, to whom he gave weight. He was entered for the Derby of 1814, but could not be got ready. Speed was Partisan's forte.

PARTISAN'S PERFORMANCES.

At Newmarket, Craven, for horses rising three years old, 8st 7lbs each, ran fourth and last in a sweep of 200 gs. each, won by Lord Lowther's b. c. Bourbon, by Sorcerer, beating the Duke of Rutland's ch. c. Osman, by Selim, second, and a bay colt by Sorcerer, third. At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st each (ridden by Frank Buckle), match for 200 sovs., beat Lord Maynard's b. c. Pinions, by Walton; 5 to 2 on Partisan. At Newmarket (Second Spring), 8st 7lbs each, R. M. (F. Buckle), match for 200 gs., beat Lord Foley's b. c. Magician, by Sorcerer; 4 to 1 on Partisan. At Newmarket (July), 8st 4lbs each, not placed for the Town Plate, won by Osman; eight ran. At Newmarket (First October), 8st each, A. F. (F. Buckle), match for 200 gs., beat Lord Egremont's bay filly by Orville. At Newmarket (Second October), 7st 10lbs (F. Buckle), won a sweep of 200 gs. each, beating the Duke of Rutland's b. c. Curlew, by Gamenut, four years, 8st 4lbs, and ch. f. Medora, by Selim, three years, 8st 4lbs; also received 50 gs. forfeit from Lord Suffield's Little Turk, by Selim.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st (F. Buckle), match for 200 gs., beat Mr. Bouverie's ch. f. Scheherazade, by Selim, rising five years old, 8st 6lbs. At Newmarket (Second Spring), for four years old, 8st 10lbs (Buckle), won 450 gs., beating Bourbon, 8st 10lbs, second, and Osman, 8st 5lbs. At Newmarket (Second October), 9st 2lbs, ran second in the Garden Stakes, won by Mr. Andrew's b. c. by Orville, three years, 7st 4lbs; six ran.

1816.

At Newmarket (First Spring), 9st (Buckle), won 350 gs., beating Bourbon, 8st 10lbs, Lord George Cavendish's bl. c. Blackamoor, by Stamford, rising five years, 7st 11lbs, and one other; Bourbon the favourite. Partisan ran once more, without success, and retired to the Stud.

"Partisan was a beautiful short-legged horse, with a lovely head, straight hocks, and a somewhat clubby off fore-foot. The trainers of his day, one and all, were wont to refer to him with much fondness, as being like a piece of machinery in his action. Venison, if not the best, was certainly the gamest of all his sons; but that little horse could never do himself justice, as his very long and sweeping action unfitted him for forcing the running, as he was often obliged to do. Gladiator, another of his distinguished sons, was a very bloodlike, dark chestnut, very delicate, and requiring great care in his preparations. John and William Scott gave £100 for him, as a yearling, and sold him to Lord Wilton for £200, with a contingency of half the Derby or St. Leger Stakes, if he won either or both. With Bay Middleton out of the way, he would have won the first ; and he never started again. He was eventually sold for 2000 gs., and sent to France. For Sweetmeat's sake alone he was worth all the money, and even more, for he left us also Queen Mary, the dam of Blink Bonny, and grand-dam of Caller Ou. Partisan was also the sire of Mameluke and Glaucus, a quartette worthy to rank with the Whale-bones." He also begat Zeal (winner of the 1000 gs.), Patron (winner of the 2000 gs.), Cyprian (winner of the Oaks), Godolphin, Skiff, Rapid Rhone, and several other winners.

GIBSIDE FAIRY.

GIBSIDE FAIRY was a very dark bay filly, bred by the Earl of Strathmore, of Streatlam Castle, and Gibside Park, Durham, in 1811. She was got by Hermes (son of Mercury, by Eclipse), out of Vicissitude, by Pipator, out of Beatrice, by Sir Peter Teazle, out of Pyrrha, by Match'em, out of Duchess, by Whitenose (son of the Godolphin Arabian), out of Miss Slamerkin, by Young True Blue, out of a mare by Lord Oxford's dun Arabian, out of Lord D'Arcy's Black-legged Royal Mare. Vicissitude (foaled in 1800), Beatrice (1791), Pyrrha (1771), and Duchess (1748), were all four bred by Mr. Fenwick, of Bywell, Northumberland.

"Vicissitude," says the Druid, "was forfeited, with her dam, to Lord Strathmore, because the owner had not paid for the expense of their keep. Vicissitude, though bred by Mr. Fenwick, in whose possession Beatrice was when covered by Pipator, was foaled at Streatlam Paddocks, where Lord Strathmore kept his Stud, after removing it from Esher, in Surrey, at which place Pipator and Queen Mab were originally located, Queen Mab being then the nursing mother of the Esher Stud. She was the youngest of the ten chestnuts, five colts and five fillies, which her dam (the famous Tartar Mare), threw to Eclipse—Jupiter and Mercury being two out of the ten. Gibside Fairy carried Emma (the dam of Mundig and Cotherstone), just one year and one day. Emma was also the grand-dam of West Australian; and both she and Gibside Fairy were two famous brood-mares in the Stud of John Bowes, Esq., who inherited a large property on the death of the Earl of Strathmore." On the Tur Emma ran respectably, but did not achieve great success, resembling in this respect several other renowned Belgravian mothers; to wit, Mandane, Marpessa, Pocahontas, Queen Mary, &c. Gibside Fairy was also the dam of Maria (sister to Emma), by Whisker, who was the dam of Euclid, by Emilius, and of several other good racers.

Gibside Fairy ran but once, in 1813, when two years old, at Catterick Bridge, where she won the Yearling Stakes of 140 gs., beating Mr. Scarisbrick's brown colt by Staveley, Sir Wm. Maxwell's br. c. Jock McKivers, by Grazier (a son of Sir Peter), and Sir W. Graham's bay colt by Cardinal York (son of Sir Peter).

PRUDENCE.

PRUDENCE (sister to Pledge), was a brown filly, bred by the Duke of Grafton in 1811, and was one of his most esteemed brood mares. She was got by Waxy, out of Prunella (bred by his Grace in 1788), by Highflyer, out of Promise, by Old Snap, out of Julia, by Blank, out of Spectator's Dam, by Old Partner, out of Bonny Lass, by Bay Bolton, &c., &c.

Prudence was never trained for racing, but did good service in the Duke's Stud, at Euston, being the dam of the following excellent runners:—viz. of his Grace's ch. f. Rowena, by Haphazard, foaled in 1817 (winner of the 1000 Guineas, and second to Lord Egremont's b. f. Caroline, by Whalebone, in the Oaks, in 1820); of his Grace's br. c. Reginald, by Haphazard, foaled in 1818 (winner of the 2000 Guineas, second to Mr. Hunter's gr. c. Gustavus, by Election, in the Derby, in 1821); of his Grace's b. f. Rebecca, by Soothsayer, foaled in 1821 (winner, in 1824, at Newmarket Craven, of the Riddlesworth Stakes of 200 gs. each, h. ft., twenty-five subscribers, value 2000 gs., ridden by Frank Buckle; and, also, of the Dinner Stakes, of 300 gs. each, p. p., ten subscribers, ridden by Frank Buckle, and beating the Derby winner, Cedric; also ran second to Cobweb in the 1000 Guineas, and third to Cobweb in the Oaks); of his Grace's ch. c. At Newmarket (First Spring), Frank Buckle, won a Produce Sweep of 100 sovs. each, &c.; and, at Epsom, ridden by Wm.

Arnull, ran second in the Derby won by Middleton (which see). The defeat of Rufus by Middleton caused great sensation in sporting circles, his victory in the minds of many being well assured, notwithstanding Lord Jersey's dark colt started first favourite). Of his Grace's b. c. Roderick, by Rubens, foaled in 1824; Ronald, foaled in 1826, by Centaur; and Rupert, foaled in 1827, by Emilius, all of whom were very fair performers, but not fortunate as winners. Prudence missed to Selim in 1816, to Soothsayer in 1820, and to Merlin (son of Castrel) in 1823 and 1825. The Sporting Magazine for September, 1828, says: "The foal in the plate (not Rupert) was by Emilius, and foaled in 1828."

DOCTOR SYNTAX.

DOCTOR SYNTAX was a brown colt, bred by Humphrey Osbaldeston, Esq., of Hunmanby, Yorkshire, in 1811, who sold him, when a yearling, to Mr. Knapton, of Huntington, near York, from whom he was purchased by Ralph Riddell, Esq., of Felton Park, Northumberland. He was got by Paynator (son of Trumpator), out of a mare by Beningbrough, out of Jenny Mole, by Carbuncle (a son of Babraham Blank), out of a mare by Prince T'Quassaw, her dam, by Regulus, out of a mare by Old Partner. Writing of Dr. Syntax, "The Druid" observes, "The Doctor, as they so fondly termed him in the North, was in every way a very remarkable horse to look at, being barely fifteen hands high, very broad at the base of the nose, with an eye as full and bright as a hawk's, a high drooping rump, and short quarters. He was very short in his coat, which was mouse-coloured. A slight canter would bring out his veins so strongly, that he looked as if covered with network. He had splendid legs, and a strong muscular head; but could never bear either whip or spur; but Bob Johnson could always get every ounce out of him by merely stroking and talking to him." Bill Scott, who rode him in four of his races, used to hiss at him furiously. His defeat by Reveller, for the Cup at Preston, will never be forgotten there.

WHISKER.

WHISKER was a b. c. bred by the Duke of Grafton, in 1812, and was got by Waxy, out of Penelope, by Trumpator, out of Prunella, by Highflyer, out of Promise, by Old Snap, out of Julia, by Blank, out of Spectator's Dam, by Old Partner, out of Bonny Lass, by Bay Bolton, out of a mare by the Darley Arabian, &c.

"In early times the northern and southern breed of horses was kept very distinct; and the rich bay, Whisker, was the first of the southern cracks to go north, and he pitched his tent at Catterick. Many of the northmen never came further south than to Newmarket. The Tykes were in ecstasies when they got Whisker into Yorkshire; and they, as well as the Durham breeders, of whom the Duke of Cleveland was the most prominent, patronized him to a large extent. For the Hon. Edward Petre he left The Colonel, for Mr. Richard Watt, of Bishop Burton, he left Memnon, and for Mr. John Bowes, the famous brood mare, Emma.

"In general appearance, Whisker was as near perfection as a horse could be; and his blood has descended, through The Colonel and Chatham, to Woolwich (who was a perfect wonder over a distance of ground), and, through Economist, to Harkaway, and his son King Tom. Irrespective of Emma, the Whisker mares were always of an uncommon stamp. Liverpool, Tearaway, Euclid, Knight-of-the-Whistle, The Era, Mango, Mundig, Cotherstone, Meteor, Mowerina and Theon, were all of them out of Whisker's daughters; and the famous mare, Catherina, who survived all the others, dying at the age of thirty-two, ran in 171 races." (From "The Druid.")

At the furzes, Raphael and Whisker joined the leaders, Busto still leading, a position he maintained to within 200 yards of home, where Raphael came up and deprived him of the lead; but was, on the instant, challenged by Whisker. These two ran locked together, till about four strides from the winning-post, when Whisker got his head in front; and, despite John Jackson's strenuous efforts on Raphael, won a magnificent race by half a head, Busto being only a neck behind Raphael. FILHO DA PLATA

FILHO-DA-PUTA.

FILHO-DA-PUTA was a brown colt, bred by Thomas Hornby Morland, Esq., of Finchley, Middlesex, in 1812, and sold, when five weeks old, together with his dam, to Sir Wm. Maxwell, Bart. He was got by Haphazard (son of Sir Peter), out of Mrs. Barnet, by Waxy, out of a mare by Woodpecker, out of Heinel, by Squirrel, out of Principessa, by Blank, out of a mare by the Cullen Arabian, out of Grisewood's Lady Thigh, by Old Partner, out of a mare (bred by Mr. John Crofts in 1723), by Old Greyhound, out of Sophonisba's dam, by the Curwen Bay Barb. Filho-da-Putá was fully sixteen hands high, and as good as he looked; but, like Touchstone, he went very wide in his gallop behind. He was beaten in his great match with Sir Joshua, in consequence of his suddenly rearing at the starting post, whereby he lost several lengths, which he could not recover, and so was defeated by a neck. Wm. Arnall rode Sir Joshua, and Tom Goodisson piloted Filho. Mr. Houldsworth offered to run the match over again, for double the amount; but the Neville party said "No," being satisfied with their good luck. Filho gave Sir Joshua 7lbs, both being four years old. Filho died August 25th, 1835, at Rock Hill Paddocks, near Mansfield, Notts. About two months after the St. Leger, a report was published in some of the Sporting papers to the effect that Filho-da-Putá was a four-year-old, and so disqualified from starting for that race. Sir Wm. Maxwell hereupon published, in refutation of the report, the following certificate from Mr. Morland, the colt's breeder:—"Mrs. Barnet foaled a brown colt, with a snip or star, afterwards named Filho-da-Putá, got by Haphazard, on Tuesday night, April 14th, 1812. She was sold by me, with the above-named colt at her foot, to Sir Wm. Maxwell, on the 24th of May following, and delivered to Sir William at the Veterinary College, St. Pancras, on the 9th of June, 1812, being then just eight weeks old. Witness my hand at Finchley, Middlesex, this 17th day of November, 1815. (Signed) T. Hornby Morland."

S. mg., 8st, ran third for the Cup, won by Leopold, 6st 10lbs, beating Sir Bellingham Graham's b. f. The Duchess, by Cardinal York, three years, 6st 8lbs, second, and five others. Even on Filho, and 5 to 1 against Leopold. This was Filho's last race.

The Filho-da-Putá and Sir Joshua match was one that excited fully as much interest as that equally celebrated one between Diamond and Hambletonian. The Sporting Times, in its issue of March 5th, 1881, has the following remarks:—" 'The Druid' has given Arnold* as Filho-da-Putá's rider, and this name is also given in a picture belonging to a descendant of the owner of the horse. In a visit we paid to Newmarket on Saturday last (February 26th, 1881), we sought out Mr. R. Boyce, whose father trained Sir Joshua. In reply to the following question: 'Do you recollect the match between Sir Joshua and Filho-da-Putá?' Mr. R. Boyce replied, 'Yes I do; my father trained Sir Joshua, and I went on to the Heath with the horses;' and, 'Do you recollect who rode Sir Joshua?' 'Yes, certainly, William Arnall's father.' We called on

* "The Druid," in his work entitled "Silk and Scarlet," page 186, gives "Arnall" and not "Arnold," as the name of Filho-da-Putá's rider.

Wm. Arnall, who told us that his father rode Filho, and referred us to a Mr. Prince, who saw the match, and who confirmed this dictum, adding thereto the following account of the race. 'The match was run off in March, during a heavy fall of snow. Coming down the Bushes Hill, Filho-da-Putá slipped, and nearly fell, and it was this mishap that lost him the race.' " †

† "The Druid" attributes Filho's defeat to his rearing at the starting-post. Probably it was the two incidents combined.

Hyale was also the dam of Mr. Sitwell's Clasher and Clinker, by Sir Peter, and of Mr. Thornhill's Sam (winner of the Derby in 1818), and of Lord Grey's Prince of Orange, by Beningbrough. Anticipation won many of his races at high weights and long distances, beating some of the best and stoutest horses of his day. He got many excellent hunters, well-known in Shropshire, but his racing stock was not of much account.

BLACKLOCK was a bay colt, bred by Mr. Kirby, of York, in 1814, and sold to Richard Watt, Esq., of Bishop Burton, in 1815. He was got by Whitelock, out of Rosalind, by Coriander, out of Wildgoose, by Highflyer, out of Coheirress, by Pot8o's, out of Manilla, by Goldfinder, out of a mare by Old England (son of the Godolphin Arabian), out of Miss Cade, by Old Cade, out of Miss Makeless, by Young Greyhound, out of a mare by Old Partner, &c. Whitelock (a son of Hambletonian), was a b. c., bred by Wm. Garforth, Esq., in 1803, from his chestnut mare, Rosalind, by Phænomenon, out of Atalanta, by Match'em. "The Druid" says, "Whitelock was a naggish sort of horse, with a big coarse head, and plump forelegs. He became the property of Sir Mark Sykes, who named him from a white lock in his tail, and by whom he was sold to Mr. Sylvester Reed for 300 gs. Mr. Reed had the offer of Blacklock for £50; but he neither liked his forelegs nor the recollection of his dam when he saw her crawling past his windows, in York, on her way to the stables of Mr. Moss, who had bought her for £3. Blacklock's most desperate race was the four miles over York Course with Magistrate, whom he defeated by half a head. The severity of the running, however, finished them both. Magistrate never ran again; and, after his defeat, on the following day, by St. Helena, Blacklock was saddled no more. The famous mare, The Duchess, by Cardinal York, led Blacklock in most of his exercise gallops; and, on one occasion, Tom Peirse exclaimed, in his anguish, when he saw the great half-moon head and seven-league stride of Blacklock at work, 'Father's going to kill the mare with that half-thick of a horse.' Wm. Peirse, Tom's father, trained both The Duchess and Blacklock."

Sober Robin, by Orville, Brother to Raphael, by Rubens and thirteen others; 5 to 4 on Blacklock, and 20 to 1 against Ebor Tommy Sykes, Mr. Watt's stud-groom, was so confident Blacklock would win, that his only orders to Jackson were, "Ride him as thou lik'st, only lay thee hands down, and let him stride along, and he'll distance the lot; look out for me at the distance-post, and I'll tell thee then what to do." At the distance, where Blacklock had a three-lengths lead Sykes shouted out—"Pull till'em, John, pull till'em, thou hast it all thy own way," words which also fell on the ear of Bob Johnson, who instantly pulled Ebor on one side that Jackson might not see him, and snapped him on the post by a head. Sykes was frantic with rage; and, from that moment, never ceased scheming to procure Jackson's dismissal from Mr. Watt's service, in which he eventually succeeded. But for Sykes' interference, Blacklock would have won easily. S. mg., for three years old 8st 5lbs each (Jackson), won the Gascoigne Stakes of 340 gs., beating Mr. T. Duncombe's ch. c. Old Sporting Magazine for September, 1831, says :—" I saw Sultan run all his races ; but, if defeated, I never saw him run a jaded shuffling, spirit-broken horse. He had his favourite courses, in which, though carrying very heavy weights, he never had his equal." " From the high form which Sultan showed in the Derby, he speedily rose into high favour for the Doncaster St. Leger. A few days, however, before that event came off, with the betting only 3 to 1 against him, in taking his morning gallop over the course, he unfortunately broke down, and was with difficulty got into Mr. Maw's stables at Belle-vue, adjoining the course. The consternation that ensued bars all words, and cuts description short " (Sporting Magazine for September, 1832). Sultan was the sire of Lord Exeter's ch. c. Augustus, of his ch. c. Beiram, of his b. f. Green-Mantle, of his br. f. Galata, of his br. f. Varna, his ch. f. Mecca, and of several other great winners with which his Lordship was credited. Sultan also begat Mr. Houldsworth's Frederica, Circassian, and Destiny (the winner of the 1000 Guineas, and second to Cyprian in the Oaks) ; also of Lord Chesterfield's br. f. Eva, and of his b. c. Jereed ; of Lord Jersey's b. c. Achmet (winner of the 2000 Guineas), of his ch. c. Glencoe, of his renowned b. c. Bay Middleton ; these two last alone sufficing to exalt the fame of any sire to its highest pitch of excellence, to say nothing of Aurelius, Caliph, Cæsar, Clarion, Kremlin, Turban, and a host of winners far too numerous to mention.

"THE STALLION ARBUTUS.

"SIR,—In consequence of seeing some remarks on stallions, signed 'A North Countryman,' in your last, I am induced to trouble you with a few on a stallion in our neighbourhood. I mean the grey horse Arbutus, by Walton, now covering at Norton Grange, Malton. Arbutus is, I think, one of the finest horses I know; he is most beautifully formed, with extraordinary bone and muscle; indeed, when looking at him, with his majestic head and neck, you are puzzled which to admire the most, his beauty and symmetrical proportions, or his enormous power. His back and quarters are as fine as any Arab, and his tail is elegantly placed, with a deal of the Arab character. His action is very good, and the groom informed me that he had the best of tempers, &c.—Yours,

"A YORKSHIREMAN."

* * "It is rather singular, but Mr. A. Cooper saw this horse when at Malton, painting Fleur de Lis, and was so pleased with him that he has promised us his portrait."—ED.

PARAGON.

PARAGON was a bay horse, with black points, without any white, and stood just fourteen hands and one inch high ; considered an average size for a pure Arab. He had good legs, with muscular power, rarely equalled, with well-formed feet. His only fault, very uncommon with Arabs, was his somewhat large head. He was, however, known to be of the purest breed, and was purchased from Col. W. Raleigh Gilbert, at Bengal, in 1827, by Sir Anthony Buller, and embarked for England on board the Carn Brae Castle. His portrait, taken at Bengal before he left India, was pronounced by Col. Gilbert to be a very faithful likeness. He was of a most docile nature, and was often taken into the mess-room, and made to jump over the table.

PARAGON'S PERFORMANCES.

At Ghazeepore, then three years old, and the property of Mr. George Wilson, an Indigo Planter, he won the Cup, 8st 7lbs each, for Arabs only, beating five others, whose names are not given, also a handicap plate, of 50 gold mohurs.

1826.

11st each, match for 200 gold mohurs, the celebrated White Arab Claude (ridden by Sam Frost, an ex-Newmarket jockey), was defeated in fine style by Paragon, ridden by his owner, Colonel Gilbert. Distance two miles. Paragon was only beaten twice. The portrait of Colonel Gilbert, who is about to mount Paragon, is excellent. Paragon, in the possession of Sir Anthony Buller, covered thoroughbred mares at five gs., and half-bred mares at two gs., at Pound, four miles from Tavistock and ten miles from Plymouth. Of his stock very little is known; but two or three of his get ran at Plymouth races. Colonel (afterwards General) Sir Walter Raleigh Gilbert, was, at this period, one of the five most distinguished gentlemen riders in England, the other four being Colonel Bouverie, Lord Wilton, Captain Peyton (son of Sir Henry Peyton), and Mr. Molony, the latter of whom rode in many large and important races on the flat.

Richard stood a trifle over 15 hands and 3 inches high. He possessed enormous power, with good lasting properties, and was a very great weight carrier. He had one of the strongest and shortest of backs ever seen, though he had, as well, good general length. Indeed he showed strength and power in every part. The bone under his knees, though large, would not measure with that of Muley. His action, both before and behind, was very good, and he bent his knees remarkably well: his temper was excellent. His racing stock was of small account, but he got some superb hunters, with rare bone and substance.

MOSES.

MOSES was a b. c. bred by H.R.H. the Duke of York in 1819. He was got by Whalebone or Seymour (a son of Delpini), out of Sister to Castanea (bred by Lord Egremont in 1807), by Gohanna, out of Grey Skim, by Woodpecker, out of Silver's dam, by Herod, out of Young Hag, a grey mare, by Lord Portmore's grey horse Skim, out of Hag (also a grey mare, and bred by Lord Portmore in 1744), by Old Crab, out of Ebony, by Flying Childers, out of Old Ebony (sister to Brown Betty, and bred by the Duke of Rutland), by Basto, out of his Grace's mare, by Mr. Massey's Black Barb. Whalebone is universally regarded as the sire of Moses.

MOSES' PERFORMANCES.

At Newmarket (First Spring), for colts rising three years old, 8st 7lbs each, T. Y. C. (ridden by T. Goodisson), won a sweep of 200 gs. each, h. ft., four subscribers, beating Colonel Udny's br. c. Partisan, and Lord Geo. Cavendish's b. c. by Middlethorp (son of Shuttle), last. At Epsom, colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 2lbs (T. Goodisson), won the Derby Stakes of 50 gs. each, h. ft., beating Mr. Rogers' b. c. Figaro (J. Robinson), second, the Duke of Grafton's ch. c. Hampden, by Rubens (F. Buckle), third; also, not placed, General Grosvenor's b. c. Marcellus (winner in 1823 of the Ascot Cup), by Selim, Lord Exeter's br. c. Stamford, by Haphazard, Mr. Bouverie's b. c. Morisco, by Muley, Lord Egremont's b. c. Wanton, by Frolic (son of Hedley), and five others. Betting, at starting, 3 to 1 against Hampden (winner this year of a match for 200 gs., at Newmarket, Craven, against Mr. Thornhill's br. c. by Pericles), and 6 to 1 each against Moses and Morisco. At Ascot, 8st 12lbs (T. Goodisson), won the Albany Stakes of 225 gs., beating Stamford, 8st 7lbs (Buckle), second, and Mr. West's ch. f. Angelica, by Fyldener (son of Sir Peter), 8st 3lbs (Sam. Barnard), third and last ; 5 to 2 on Moses.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st 7lbs each, D. I. (Ditch in two miles and 105 yards), ridden by T. Goodisson, won the Claret Stakes of 200 gs. each, h. ft., eight subscribers, beating Morisco (now Sir John Byng's) who, as second horse, withdrew his stake ; only these two ran. At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 10lbs, D. M., Ditch mile (T. Goodisson), match for 200 gs., was beaten by Mr. Lane Fox's b. c. Macduff, by Macbeth (son of Sorcerer), 8st, both rising four years old. After this defeat Moses quitted the Turf.

JAMES WARD, Esq., R.A.,

WHOSE portrait is here given, was a pupil to his brother, Mr. William Ward, the eminent mezzotinto engraver, in which art he greatly excelled. He then made several copies and imitations from the works of his relative, the celebrated George Morland, many of which might easily be taken for the originals of that artist ; but, his genius soon discovering its strength, he gave a loose rein to his abilities, beating Morland and Mezzotinto by many lengths. His portrait of "Nonpareil," the favourite charger of George the Fourth, and also that of "Soothsayer," were in the possession of that king, as was the portrait of "Moses" in that of the Duke of York. The portrait of "Princess Royal" was painted for Sir Thomas Mostyn, Bart., that of "Eagle" for Thomas Garle, Esq., and that of "Dr. Syntax" for Ralph Riddell, Esq.

TOM GOODISSON.

Of the Goodisson family "The Druid" remarks that "Charles and Tom were the sons of Dick Goodisson, who was slightly old Sam Chifney's senior, and who found his way from Selby, in Yorkshire, to Newmarket, and gradually wound himself into Old Q.'s (the Duke of Queensberry's) good graces by his flash of lightning style at the post. He brought both of his sons up to his profession. Charles died in his twenty-seventh year, four seasons before his father ; and Tom who was a very safe rider and a fine judge of pace, won more great races in his principal Patron the Duke of York's life-time than almost any jockey out." Besides Moses, Tom Goodisson rode the following Derby winners, viz.—The Duke of Grafton's Pope, in 1809, and Sir. C. Bunbury's Smolensko, in 1813. He also won the Oaks on the Duke of Grafton's Minuet, in 1815 ; and the 2000 Guineas on Smolensko, in 1813.

THEODORE.

THEODORE was a b. c. foaled in 1819, the property of the Hon. Edward Petre. He was got by Woful, out of Rosalind (Blacklock's dam), by Coriander, out of Wildgoose, by Highflyer, out of Coheiress, by Pot80's, out of Manilla, by Goldfinder, out of a mare by Old England (son of the Godolphin Arabian), her dam, by the Cullen Arabian, out of a mare by Old Cade, out of Miss Makeless, by Young Greyhound, out of a mare by Old Partner, &c., &c.

THEODORE'S PERFORMANCES.

At York (August), colts 8st 5lbs, fillies 8st 2lbs, was not placed in a sweep of 320 gs., won by Mr. R. Watt's b. f. Marion, by Tramp, beating ten others. At Doncaster, 5st 10lbs, ran second in a sweep of 100 gs., won by Mr. Lambton's gr. c. Dunsinane, by Macbeth, four years, 9st 3lbs; four ran. At Richmond, won 180 gs., beating Orator, by Prime Minister, Baron Bowes, by Woful, and two others, all two years old; 6 to 4 on Orator.

At Catterick, for horses rising three years old, colts 8st 3lbs, fillies 8st, won a sweep of 25 gs. each, beating Sir Philip Musgrave's b. c. Wanton, by Woful, and one other. At York, colts 8st 3lbs, fillies 8st, won the York St. Leger, beating Lord Scarborough's b. c. Regalia, by Catton, and five others. At Newcastle (ridden by J. Jackson,) won a sweep of 25 gs. each, beating Mr. Lambton's b. c. Adam Blair, by Don Cossack (son of Haphazard), and one other; 5 to 2 on Theodore. At Doncaster, colts 8st 2lbs, fillies 8st (J. Jackson), won the Great St.

Leger, of 1800 gs., beating Mr. R. O. Gascoigne's ch. f. Violet, by Comus, the Duke of Leeds' gr. c. (sold to Mr. Gascoigne, and named Professor), by Comus, third; also, not placed, Mr. Gascoigne's ch. c. Corinthian, by Comus, Mr. Lambton's ch. c. Lorenzo, by Leopold, Mr. Watt's b. f. Muta and his b. f. Marion, both by Tramp, Lord Queensberry's b. c. Pilgarlick, by Woful, Sir W. Milner's bl. c. Angler, by Walton, Mr. Forth's br. c. Magnus Troil, by Partisan, Mr. O. Powlett's gr. c. Swap, and twelve others; 2 to 1 against Swap, 9 to 2 against Muta (winner this year of the Great Sapling Produce Stakes at York), 15 to 1 against Corinthian, 20 to 1 against Lorenzo, 40 to 1 against Violet, and 100 to 1 (no takers) against Theodore, whose victory was an astounding surprise; for, though a very speedy horse, he was so lame and unsound that he could scarcely walk when he appeared on the course. Mr. Petre thought so badly of his chance that he sold his book, with full control of the horse for this race, to Mr. Rhodes Mills for £200, who made some thousands by the bargain. When John Jackson was ordered to ride him, he burst into tears, exclaiming, "What! ride such a cripple as that?" Jackson's instructions were to race all through at his best pace, and most rigidly he observed them; for he struck his spurs into Theodore's flanks the moment they started, never giving him time to think of his corns or other ailments. He went off with the lead, was never headed, and won triumphantly by four lengths. One bet of £1000 to a crown was laid against him, another of £100 to a walking-cane. Phosphorus won the Derby under somewhat similar circumstances. S. mg., 8st 5lbs each (J. Jackson), for the Gascoigne Stakes (St. Leger Course), was beaten by Swap (Wm. Scott); 7 to 2 on Theodore.

At Doncaster, 8st 8lbs, ran second in a handicap sweep of 100 gs. each, h. ft. (St. Leger Course), won by Lord Scarborough's b. c. Regalia, by Catton, four years, 8st (G. Nelson), beating one other. S. mg., for all ages, 8st 5lbs, ran third and last in the Club Stakes, won by Lord Fitzwilliam's b. h. Sandbeck, by Catton, five years, 8st 12lbs (W. Clift), beating Lorenzo, 8st 5lbs, second; 6 to 4 on Theodore.

At Manchester, 8st 10lbs (W. Scott), won the Gold Cup, beating Sir Thomas Stanley's ch. c. General Mina (winner this year of the Great Manchester Stakes, the Stand Cup at Chester, Gold Cups at Knutsford and Burton, and the Leamington Stakes, at Warwick), by Camillus (son of Hambletonian), four years, 8st 2lbs (Robert Johnson), second, and one other ; 3 to 1 on The General. At Leeds (June 24th), 8st 13lbs, two miles (ridden by W. Scott), ran second for a Gold Tureen of £150, won by Mr. J. Ferguson's b. c. Wanton, by Woful, 8st 10lbs, beating Lord Kelburne's br. h. May Day, by Ardrossan, 8st 10lbs (J. Garbutt), third and last ; even on Theodore : all five years old. The following note was at the foot of the engraving representing this race. "Our artist has represented the three horses as they appeared on coming in at the rails ; and those acquainted with John Jackson's features and style of riding will easily recognize his portrait on Wanton. At the finish, all three horses were so near together that it was impossible for anyone but the judge to say which had won. Jackson rode admirably ; he nursed his horse, in a beaten state, never using whip or spur, lest he should swerve. So near a thing was it, that each jockey thought he had won. The painting, by Mr. Herring, was lent to our artist by Mr. H. Peirse, of Richmond, Yorkshire." At York, 8st, Theodore ran second in the Fitzwilliam Stakes, won by Sandbeck, six years, 8st 3lbs, beating Wanton, third, May Day, and Violet. He ran twice more this year, without success, and was sold to Mr. Wm. Carleton.

1825.

At Edinburgh, 8st 12lbs (T. Lye), won the Gold Cup, beating Sir D. Moncrieffe's b. h. Shuffler, by Walton, six years, 8st 12lbs, and one other. S. mg., 8st 8lbs (T. Lye), heats three miles, won the Members' Plate, beating Sir D. Moncrieffe's gr. c. Benvorlick, by Viscount (son of Stamford, by Sir Peter), three years, 6st 6lbs, in both heats ; also, 8st 12lbs, heats two miles (T Lye), won £50, beating two others. At Inverness he was twice beaten by Lord Kennedy's b. c. Skiff, by Partisan, in the Trial Stakes, and for the Cromarty Gold Cup. Theodore ran once more, and retired from the Turf.

JOHN JACKSON.

"THE Druid," in his work entitled, "Silk and Scarlet," observes that, "about 1807, Shepherd, Jackson, Billy Pierse, and Ben Smith had all the best of the Northern riding. Jackson, who only yielded to Bill Scott, in the number of his Leger victories, had a rare start with Mr. J. Hutchinson's stable, which he knew right well how to use. He had the prettiest seat of the four. On race-evenings Jackson was often exceedingly quarrelsome. In the harlequin jacket (of Mr. Watt) on Tramp, Blacklock, and Altisidora, he had a great time of it. No man was more honest and respectable; but although he had been able to ride 7st 7lbs, almost to the last, he had but little left when he died. Before he took to his inn at Northallerton, named 'The Black Swan,' he held the Racecourse Farm; and the horses made the turn just below his front door. On both afternoons he was wont to keep open house for his friends; but his kindness was sadly abused, and scores, who scarcely knew him by sight, were found deep in his beef and beer." Jackson retired from the Turf in his fifty-fifth year, and died, in very needy circumstances, on the 5th of August, 1839, aged seventy-one. He confined his riding engagements exclusively to the North.

In the course of his racing career, he won eight St. Legers, as under, viz.—

In 1791, on Mr. J. Hutchinson's Young Traveller, by King Fergus.

In 1794, on Mr. J. Hutchinson's Beningbrough, by King Fergus.

In 1796, on Mr. Cookson's Ambrosio, by Sir Peter Teazle.

In 1798, on Sir Thomas Gascoigne's gr. c. Symmetry, by Delpini.

In 1805, on Colonel Mellish's b. c. Staveley, by Shuttle.

In 1813, on Mr. Watt's Altisidora, by Dick Andrews.

In 1815, on Sir Wm. Maxwell's Filho-da-Putá, by Haphazard, whose victory, "The Druid" states, "had worked the Sporting Baronet up to such a pitch of delight and excitement that he thrust his stick through half a dozen pier-glasses, at the 'Reindeer,' and lamented that there were not more at hand."

In 1822, on the Hon. Edward Petre's b.c. Theodore, by Woful.

Theodore was trained by Mr John Croft, and was tried a few days before the St. Leger with his stable companions, Violet, by Comus, the grey colt, by Comus, and Corinthian; but, owing to the bad state of his feet, he was beaten in a few hundred yards; and so great a cripple was he, when brought to the post, that it is said Jackson shed tears in having to "ride such a brute."

The Count, and Mozart. "The Druid," in his work entitled "Scott and Sebright," page 177, devotes two whole pages to Isaac's memory. He made his début on the Turf, at York, August Meeting, 1833, as Mr. T. O. Powlett's gr. c. by Figaro, out of Jack Spigot's dam, and he ran either on the flat or in hurdle races into the year 1846, being then fifteen years old. "The Druid" says, "a hurdle race in 1842 saw the last of him in public, and then Mr. Robins, of Stoneleigh Park, gave him a run out for four or five years, till he had to be shot for infirmity." Now, in 1843, he won £40 at Warwick and £110 at Abingdon, and ran four times. In 1844 he ran three times, twice at Warwick and once at Worcester. Angelica ran three times, in 1824, without success, namely, at Bibury, in the Bibury Stakes, and twice at Worcester, and was then put to the Stud. Mr. West bred from her two chestnut colts and a filly, by his horse Claude Lorraine, by Rubens, but neither one of the three was of much account, though Angelica herself was so well bred.

EMILIUS.

EMILIUS was a bay colt, bred by Colonel Udny in 1820, and was got by Orville, out of Emily, by Stamford, out of a mare by Whiskey, out of Grey Dorimant, by Dorimant, out of Dizzy, by Blank, out of Dizzy, by Driver, out of a dau. of Smiling Tom, a son of the Conyers Arabian, and bred at Hampton Court in 1724. "The Druid" says of Emilius that he "was Orville's best son, inherited his plain head, but was not so coarse in appearance. He was a muscular, compact horse, with a great chest and powerful arms, but rather short legs, the hinder ones being unusually straight. He had a somewhat large middle piece, good back ribs, and a very muscular neck, slightly arched, but not too long. When, at Mr. Thornhill's decease (who had purchased Emilius from Colonel Udny in 1824 for 1800 gs.), the Riddlesworth Stud was broken up, his executors let Emilius on hire, and he died soon after the close of his first season, at Easby Abbey, Yorkshire. His stock, after he went to the North, were mostly small, the youngest of them being England's Glory, out of Prairie Bird. Emilius was perfectly well till just before his death, which was caused by one of the stable-boys giving him a feed of whole unbruised oats, which he was quite unable to masticate. He was buried in a paddock close to the White Cannons of Easby, and a stone which had served as a threshold to the box where, in after years, Weatherbit stood, was built into the wall to mark the spot, and thus Frank Buckle's last Derby winner was canonized. The line of Emilius did not go on in very regular order. The Bizarre line too, through Orville, stopped with Rat-trap, who started first favourite for the Derby in 1837, but who will be better remembered by the severest and most punishing of races which (ridden by Arthur Pavis), he contested with Mango (Nat. Flatman), at Ascot, in 1837. As regards the line of Emilius, Recovery and his singularly pretty stock fell into disrepute. Euclid died very early, and Theon, who showed a deal more quality than any of the family, had very few blood mares sent to him but he got some superb hunters." Lastly, the mighty Plenipotentiary whose magnificent frame gave higher promise, left no mark behind him at the Stud.

LOTTERY.

L OTTERY (first named Tinker), was a brown-bay colt, bred by Richard Watt, Esq., of Bishop Burton, Yorkshire, in 1820. He was got by Tramp, out of Mandane, by Pot8o's (which see for the remainder of his pedigree). Lottery was a very bloodlike horse, and the best of all Tramp's sons; but his temper was very bad. He was drilled by James Garbutt in a fallow field in Holderness; and, though the spirit was nearly galloped out of him, his courage never was subdued. When he could not get his rider out of the saddle, he would lie down, and roll. Mr. Watt was so apprehensive of serious mischief, that he wanted to have him shot; but, being persuaded to sell him, he found a ready purchaser in Mr. Whittaker, of Dowthorpe Hall, for 450 gs., and who subsequently refused 3000 gs. for him. One morning, while at exercise, he rushed at a farm labourer, and struck him with his foreleg; and, on another occasion, when Shepherd rode down to the paddock to have a look at him, he became so furious, that Shepherd dismounted from his back, and the two horses galloped off to the stable together. Lottery stood fully sixteen hands high; and his racing-like points and figure speak for themselves. He was indeed the horse of a century, and many of his races were splendid exhibitions of courage and speed. His finest race was for the Doncaster Cup, in 1825, when he made his own running all the way, beating Longwaist by half a neck, and leaving the rest of the field half a mile behind. In private, Lottery could run clean away from his half-brother, Barefoot, and he was without doubt the best horse of his day; but, after becoming the property of Mr. Whittaker, he was miserably treated and mismanaged, serving mares and being only half trained at the time that he was engaged to compete in long courses and with some of the best horses of his time. At York, on one occasion, his condition was so bad as to excite the public indignation, which vented itself in exclamations of "Take him away, he is not fit to run a yard." This was at the Spring Meeting in 1826, when he ran two severe races, in one of which, carrying 9st 4lbs, he was beaten by Fleur-de-Lis, four years, 7st 13lbs, and, in the other, 9st 4lbs, he ran second to Humphrey Clinker, four years, 8st. Lottery was eventually 'purchased' by the French Government, and stood, as a stallion, at the Bois de Boulogne, in company with Cadland and Physician.

LOTTERY'S PERFORMANCES.

At Doncaster (then named Tinker), he was one of the fifteen horses that were withdrawn, after the false start, for the St. Leger, won by Barefoot. They ran the full course; and John Jackson, who rode Tinker in the false start, said that he showed very bad temper, and would not make any effort to run; so Mr. Watt sold him to Mr. Whittaker, who named him Lottery.

1824.

At York (Spring), 8st 3lbs each, ran fifth and last in a sweep of 20 gs. each, won by Mr. Russell's b. c. Abron, by Whisker (R. Johnson); five ran. At Newcastle, 10st 7lbs each, four miles, won the King's Plate, beating Lord Kelburne's ch. c. Caledonian, by Stamford, and one other. At York (August), 8st 7lbs (G. Oates), won 250 gs., beating Abron, 8st 4lbs, by six lengths. S. mg., 7st 12lbs (G. Oates), won the Cup, beating Sir Wm. Milner's bl. h. Angler, by Walton, five years, 8st 7lbs, by ten lengths. At Doncaster, in the Fitzwilliam Stakes, was beaten by b. c. Buzzard, by Blacklock; also (G. Oates), ran second for the Cup, won by the Duke of Leeds' b. h. Mercutio, by Mowbray, five years, 8st 3lbs (H. Edwards), beating Theodore, five years, 8st 3lbs, Buzzard, Brutendorf, and three others. S. mg. (at Doncaster), 8st 3lbs (G. Oates), won 120 gs., beating Barefoot (H. Edwards), 8st 3lbs, easily; 2 to 1 on Lottery. At Lincoln, 8st, for the Cup, was beaten by Mr. Howorth's

gr. f. Minna, by Camillus, four years, 7st 11lbs; six ran. G. Nelson rode Minna.

At York (Spring), 9st, two miles (Ben Smith), won £120, beating Lord Kelburne's br. c. Osmond, by Filho-da-Putá, four years, 8st 3lbs (T. Shepherd, second, Earl Fitzwilliam's b. c. Florismart, by Amadis (son of Don Quixote), 8st 3lbs, Mr. Lumley's br. c. Borysthenes, by Smolensko, and one other; 2 to 1 against Florismart, and 5 to 1 against Lottery. S. mg., 8st 7lbs (B. Smith), won the Cup, beating Mr. Russell's br. c. Mustachio, by Whisker, four years, 7st 12lbs, Abron, five years, 8st 7lbs, and four others; even on Lottery. At Lancaster, 8st 8lbs each, for the Cup, was beaten by Barefoot (H. Edwards); four ran; 6 to 4 on Lottery. At Preston (July 13th), 8st 10lbs (G. Nelson), won the Cup, beating Mustachio (R. Johnson), 8st, Canteen, 8st, and two others. At York (August), 8st 10lbs (Nelson), won the Fitzwilliam Stakes, beating Mr. Wilson's br. h. Plumper, by Prime Minister (son of Sancho), five years, 7st 3lbs, in a canter. At Doncaster, 9st 1lb (Nelson), won the Fitzwilliam Stakes, beating Figaro, six years, 9st 5lbs, Canteen, 8st 9lbs, Mr. Payne's ch. c. Helenus, by Soothsayer, 8st 9lbs, and five others; even on Lottery. S. mg., 8st 10lbs (Nelson), won the Cup of 350 gs., beating Mr. F. Craven's b. c. Longwaist, four years, 8st 3lbs, second, Mr. Lumley's gr. c. Falcon, by Interpreter, three years, 7st, third, Figaro, Starch, Cedric, Zealot, by Partisan, and four others; 13 to 8 against Lottery, 5 to 2 against Cedric, and 7 to 1 against Longwaist. Lottery took the lead, making very severe running all the way to the distance post, where he was challenged by Longwaist, who, after a magnificent finish, was defeated by half a neck. Distance two miles and five furlongs. At Lincoln, 8st 10lbs, for the Cup, was again beaten by Minna, five years, 8st 7lbs. Ran once more, without success.

At York (Spring), 9st 4lbs, was not placed in a sweep of 20 sovs. each, won by Fleur-de-Lis, four years, 7st 13lbs, beating Actæon, four years, 8st 3lbs, second, and three others. S. mg., 9st 4lbs, ran second in a sweep of £280, won by Lord Fitzwilliam's b. c. Humphrey Clinker, by Comus, four years, 8st (W. Clift); five ran: high odds against the winner. At Preston, 9st 5lbs (R. Johnson), won the Cup of 300 gs., beating Lord Derby's gr. c. Autocrat, by Grand Duke (a son of Archduke, who won the Derby in 1799), four years, 8st, second, Sir W. Wynn's br. f. Signorina, by Champion (son of Selim), 7st 12lbs, third, and Mr. Clifton's b. h. Brutandorf, five years, 8st 10lbs (on whom 3 to 1 was freely laid), last. He ran four times more this year, without success, and was now taken out of training. He was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Never was a horse so shamefully messed about as was Lottery. Naturally erratic and queer-tempered in his disposition, his defects were sadly aggravated by neglect and mismanagement; otherwise, he would have been one of the most brilliant performers on the British Turf.

ISABELLA-

She ran four times more this year, without success.

1825.

At Beccles, 9st, heats two and a half miles, won £50, beating two others in both heats. At Ipswich, 8st 11lbs (F. Boyce), won the 50 sovs., beating Colonel Wilson's b. c. by Interpreter, Augur, 9st, and one other, in both heats (two miles). At Chelmsford, 8st 13lbs, heats two miles (T. Goodisson), won the King's Plate, beating Colonel Wilson's bl. m. Black Daphne, by Juniper, five years, 8st 13lbs, the Duke of Grafton's ch. f. Pucelle, by Muley, four years, 8st 5lbs, and one other. S. mg., 8st 9lbs (T. Goodisson), won the County Cup Stakes, three miles, beating b. f.

ORELIO.

THIS distinguished animal, the property of General Carfrae, in India, was foaled in 1820. No record exists of his pedigree ; but he was known to be an Arab of very high lineage, and one of the most, if not the most, renowned of racers in India. No matter what weight he carried, or what distance he had to cover, Orelia's superiority became so palpable that in most of the rich prizes to be run for, Orelia was specially excepted, and not allowed to start. There exists a brief account of his early performances, but it is not to hand. Orelia was only beaten once, at Madras, in 1828, by the famous Arab Wildblood, over a four mile course, Orelia conceding him 12lbs, and being defeated by a neck only. General Carfrae offered to run the race over again next day, at the same weights and distance, staking 100 gold mohurs to 70, but the offer was declined by Colonel Showers, the owner of Wildblood. On this occasion of his defeat Orelia was ridden by Salter, and Wildblood by Hall. Orelia was sold by General Carfrae to Colonel Short, in 1831, by whom he was imported into England. He was the sire of Fitz Orelia (bred in India by General Carfrae, in 1826), whose dam was an Arab mare (afterwards imported into England by Colonel Short in 1828), called Furrah. This mare (formerly the property of General Carfrae), was the dam of the famous grey mare Peri, by a noted Arab stallion, and of a bay filly (bred in England by Colonel Short), by Whisker, of a bay colt by Actæon (son of Scud), of a bay filly, by Augustus (son of Sultan), and of a bay colt (foaled in 1835), by the renowned Orelia himself. All of the above were bred by Colonel Short, in whose possession Orelia died in 1837. Furrah was likewise the dam of a bay colt by Orelia, named Omar, and of a bay filly, own sister to Omar, both bred by Colonel Short. Furrah slipped her foal by Orelia, during her passage to England, in 1828, and was barren in 1829, 1832 and 1833, and was eventually sold to Mr. Booth, of Sheffield for £35.

CEDER.

CEDRIC.

CEDRIC was a ch. c. bred by Sir John Shelley, Bart., in 1821, and was got by Phantom, out of Sister to Parrot, by Walton, out of Sister to Repeater, by Trumpator, out of Demirep, by Highflyer, out of Brim, by Squirrel, out of Helen, by Blank, out of a mare by Old Crab, out of Sister to Old Partner, by Jigg, her dam, by the Curwen Bay Barb, out of a mare by Mr. Curwen's Old Spot (son of the Selaby Turk), out of a dau. of the chestnut white-legged Lowther Barb, out of the famous Vintner Mare, whose pedigree was never made known; but Mr. John Crofts, of Barforth, Yorkshire, had seen her run, and was wont to say that she was the best bred mare in England. She ran a great many times in the north of England, and beat the very best horses in that part of the country, though she was a brood mare for some years before she was trained for racing.

CEDRIC'S PERFORMANCES.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st 7lbs (J. Robinson), won a sweep of 300 gs., beating the Duke of Grafton's b. c. Banquo, by Phantom, three years, 8st 4lbs (F. Buckle). S. mg., colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 4lbs, R. M. (Robinson), ran second in the Dinner Stakes of 300 gs. each, h. ft., ten subscribers, won by the Duke of Grafton's b. f. Rebecka, by Soothsayer, out of Prudence (F. Buckle), beating also Lord George Cavendish's br. f. by Orville (sold to Mr. R. Wilson, and named Georgina), third and last. At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 4lbs each (Robinson), won a sweep of 600 gs., beating Lord Stradbroke's ch. c. Cydnus, by Quiz; also, 8st 5lbs each (Wm. Arnall), match for 200 gs., beat Lord Exeter's br. c. Progress, by Pericles; 3 to 1 on Cedric. At Epsom (J. Robinson), won the Derby of £1725, beating Sir W. Milner's br. c. Osmond, by Filho-da-Putá, by two lengths, Mr. Tomes' b. c. Sir Gray, by Rubens, Mr. Rush's b. c. McAdam, by Pioneer (son of Whiskey), Lord George Cavendish's br. c. Dragoman, by Interpreter, Mr. Greville's b. c. Don Carlos, by Election, the Duke of Grafton's b. c. Skiff, by Partisan, br. f. Lyrnessa, by the Flyer, ch. c. Grenadier, by Waterloo, Mr. Thornhill's ch. c. Reformer, by Whisker, Mr. Batson's b. c. Serab, by Phantom, Mr. Houldsworth's br. c. Elephant, by Filho-da-Putá, and three others : 9 to 2 against Cedric, 5 to 2 against Reformer, 5 to 1 against Elephant, and 16 to 1 against Osmond. At Ascot, 8st 5lbs each (Robinson), won 500 gs., beating Dragoman, and Mr. Messer's ro. c. Vargas, by Orville. S. mg., 8st 7lbs each (Robinson), won £225, beating Mr. Bigg's b. c. Bulow, by Blucher; any odds on Cedric. At Newmarket (First October), colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 3lbs (Robinson), won the Grand Duke Michael of 1450 gs., beating H.R.H. the Duke of York's b. c. Orion, by Phantom, Don Carlos third, Dragoman fourth, and three others. At Newmarket (Second October), w. o. for a sweep of 100 sovs. each, £60 forfeit, twenty subscribers (value £1080), Grenadier, by consent, withdrawing his stake.

At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st (Robinson), match for 300 sovs., beat Lord G. Cavendish's b. c. Bizarre, by Orville, rising five years old, 8st 2lbs (Wm. Arnall); 5 to 4 on Cedric. They who saw this race would never forget it; not only was it the most exciting, but the truest run race ever witnessed. The magnificent riding of each jockey was beyond all praise. Very large sums changed hands on this great occasion, greater, it was said, than in the famous match between Sir Joshua and Filho-da-Putá. The pace throughout, owing to the riding orders from the respective owners of the competitors, was tremendous. Both horses kept very close together the whole distance (A. F.), Cedric winning, in the end, by half a length. At Doncaster, 8st 3lbs, was not placed for the Cup, won by Mr. Whittaker's br. h. Lottery, by Tramp, five years, 8st 10lbs (G. Nelson), beating Mr. F. Craven's b. c. Long-waist, four years, 8st 3lbs, by half a neck, Mr. F. Lumley's gr. c. Falcon, by Interpreter (son of Soothsayer), three years, 7st, Mr. Farquharson's br. h. Figaro, by Haphazard, six years, 9st, Lord Sligo's br. h. Starch, by Waxy Pope, six years, 9st, and three others. This was Cedric's last appearance on the Turf. If not the best colt of his year, he was a good honest horse, and an excellent racer, as his performances testify.

COBWEB.

COBWEB was a bay filly, foaled in 1821, bred by and the property of the Earl of Jersey. She was got by Phantom, out of Filagree, by Soothsayer, out of Web (sister to Whalebone), by Waxy, out of Prunella, by Highflyer, out of Promise, by Snap, out of Julia, by Blank, out of Spectator's dam, by Old Partner, out of Bonny Lass, by Bay Bolton, &c., &c. The engraving of this famous mare, by Webb, is from a highly finished and admirable likeness in oils by the younger Marshall. When this portrait was taken, Cobweb was nine years old, and had just dropped her third foal. All, who had ever seen Cobweb in training, pronounced her to be the Queen of racing mares. The elegance of her outline, her splendid symmetry, and legs so finely and beautifully formed, and black as ebony itself, combined to render the materials and proportions of which she was composed altogether matchless.

COBWEB'S PERFORMANCES.

At Newmarket, Craven, for three years old fillies, 8st 4lbs each (Sam Barnard), won a sweep of 100 sovs. each, beating the Duke of Portland's bl. f. by Teasdale (son of Mr. Teazle, by Sir Peter), easily by two lengths. At Newmarket (First Spring), in a sweep of 100 sovs. each, h. ft., three subscribers, she received the forfeits (£100). S. mg., 8st 4lbs each (J. Robinson), won the 1000 Guineas, beating the Duke of Grafton's b. f. Rebecca, by Soothsayer, second, Mr. Craven's br. f. Milto, by Muley, third, Lord Egremont's b. f. Spree, by Frolic (son of Hedley, by Gohanna), fourth and last; 11 to 8 on Rebecca, 5 to 2 against Cobweb, and 4 to 1 against Mr. Fulwar Craven's Milto. At Epsom, 8st 4lbs each (J. Robinson), won the Oaks (value 1200 gs.), beating Mr. Yates' gr. f. Fille-de-Joie, by Filho-da-Putá, by a length and a half; also (not placed), the Duke of Grafton's ch. f. Tiara, by Castrel, and his b. f. Rebecca, Lord George Cavendish's b. f. Principessa, by Blucher, Mr. Fulwar Craven's b. f. Miss Jigg, by Partisan, Lord Derby's br. f. Lady Eleanor, by Milo, Mr. Prendergast's br. f. Witch, by Soothsayer, General Grosvenor's br. f. Lynessa, by The Flyer, Lord Verulam's ch. f. Verbena, by Comus, Mr. Goddard's br. f. Pedigree, by Anticipation, Mr. R. Wilson's br. f. Georgina, by Orville, b. f. Spree, and two others; betting, at starting, 11 to 8 on Cobweb, 9 to 2 against Rebecca, 9 to 1 against Fille-de-Joie, and 11 to 1 against Lady Eleanor. Cobweb was now taken out of training, being as sound and well as it was possible for a horse to be; and with a glorious future before her on the Turf, she was consigned to the Stud. The following observations will be found in the Sporting Magazine for June, 1830: "Fully concurring in the high character given in your April number of Lord Jersey's Cobweb, I have no doubt she is the finest brood mare in the kingdom; and, certainly, one of the very highest form that ever appeared on the English Turf. To amateurs of the Turf her portrait is the most interesting that has appeared for many years in the Sporting Magazine, and does unbounded credit both to the pencil and taste of Mr. Lambert Marshall. Her small muzzle brings forcibly to my recollection the old prevailing notion that it is an infallible sign of the highest breeding when the muzzle of a racer is so small that he could drink out of a tumbler. Cobweb, no doubt, derived a portion of her excellence from her very superior form and organization, peculiar and precious gifts bestowed upon her, and which capricious nature refused to so many others equally well-bred as herself."

LONGWAIST.

LONGWAIST was a bay colt, foaled in 1821, the property of Fulwar Craven, Esq., by whom he was afterwards sold for 3000 guineas to John Mytton, Esq., of Halston, Salop. He was got by Whalebone, out of Nancy, by Dick Andrews, out of Spitfire, by Beningbrough, out of a mare by Young Sir Peter (son of Doge), her dam, by Engineer (son of Sampson), out of a mare by Wilson's chestnut Arabian, &c., &c. When Mr. Mytton's Stud was sold at Halston, by Mr. Beardsworth, of Birmingham, Longwaist was knocked down to Mr. Alexander Nowell, of Underley, for 860 gs., and this famous horse died there, in 1835, by striking his head against the stable doorway. Mr. Nowell had just before refused 5000 gs. for him.

Bravura was such an unusually dark grey as often to have been taken for a black filly by casual observers. She did not throw anything of note at the Stud, though so well-bred herself.

CANTEEN.

CANTEEN was a bay colt, bred by the Duke of Buccleuch in 1821, and sold, when a yearling, to the Marquis of Sligo. Canteen stood about 15 hands and 2 inches high. His blood, inferior to that of no horse in the Kingdom, united that of Herod and Eclipse, in direct descent; and, from his performances, he must be considered one of the speediest and gamest horses of his day.

At Epsom (ridden by James Robinson), won the Derby Stakes of £1950, beating the Duke of Grafton's ch. c. Rufus (winner this year of the Riddlesworth of 2800 gs., of 7000 gs., and 300 gs., all at Newmarket, Craven), by Election, second, Mr. Batson's ch. c. Hogarth, by Rubens, third; also (not placed), Mr. J. Rogers' ch. c. Muleteer, by Muley, Mr. Smith's br. c. Tamar, Mr. Benson's b. c. Dauntless, and Mr. Scaith's ch. c. Whipcord, all by Whalebone, Mr. Shard's b. c. Hougoumont, by Waterloo, Mr. Windham's ch. c. by Granicus (a son of Sorcerer), Sir Gilbert Heathcote's roan colt, Oberon, by Phantom, the Duke of York's b. c. Frogmore, by Phantom, Mr. Milnes' ch. c. Actæon, by Scud, Mr. Yates' b. c. Cain, by Paulowitz (whose rider fell in the race), Lord Orford's ch. c. Fleance, by Comus, Mr. F. Benson's b. c. Comrade, by Partisan, Colonel Udny's b. c. by Muley, and one other. Betting, at starting, 7 to 4 against Middleton, 11 to 5 against Rufus, 10 to 1 each against Hogarth, Hougoumont and Muleteer, 18 to 1 against Dauntless, and very high odds against any other. Rufus (ridden by Wm. Arnall) was brought to the post in superb condition, and looked all over a first-rate racehorse; but in the preparatory canter, it was evident he would find a very dangerous opponent in Middleton, whose fine sweeping action was universally admired, insomuch so, that in several instances, 5 to 4 was taken about him before the horses reached the post. As they topped the hill, the whole of them were in a cluster, Rufus leading by half a length, followed by Muleteer (Wm. Wheatley), Hogarth (Sam Chifney), Hougoumont (George Dockeray), and Colonel Udny's b. c. by Muley (Frank Buckle); then came, two good lengths from the first division, Frogmore (T. Goodisson), Middleton (Robinson), Actæon (Harry Edwards), and Oberon (P. Conolly). The pace was tremendous, and yet they all passed Tattenham Corner well, not one as yet being beaten. Entering the straight, Rufus was still leading, and after crossing the road, Sam Chifney carried Hogarth into the second place, Robinson simultaneously bringing Middleton into the third, who soon after headed Hogarth, though Chifney's amazing efforts to hold his place were worthy both of himself and the occasion. It was indeed the most memorable feature in the race. A quarter of a mile from home, Rufus was seen suddenly to flag, and Arnall to raise his whip. Just before this he had been watching Hogarth, and on the instant, Robinson came alongside of him, made his rush, shot by him on the whip hand, and won, hands down, by three lengths. Muleteer was fourth, and the rest quite beaten off. The result conclusively proved that, as between Rufus and Middleton, the winner was far away the faster and better horse of the two. Robinson rode in his coolest and finest manner. Middleton did not start again.

At Newcastle, 7st 11lbs (Nelson), won the Cup, beating General Sharpe's b. h. Canteen, five years, 8st 7lbs, and Mr. Russell's br. h. Abron, by Whisker, six years, 10st, last; 15 to 8 on Fleur-de-Lis. Canteen won the King's Plate the day before. S. mg., 8st 2lbs (G. Nelson), won the Town Plate. At Doncaster, 8st (Nelson), won the Doncaster Stakes, beating Actæon (H. Edwards), 8st, second, Crowcatcher, 8st, Lottery, 9st, and one other; 6 to 4 on Fleur-de-Lis. S. mg., 8st 3lbs (Nelson), won the Cup, beating Earl Fitzwilliam's b. c. Mulatto, three years, 7st, br. c. Humphrey Clinker, four years, 8st 3lbs, Mr. Geo. Payne's ch. h. Helenus, by Soothsayer, five years, 8st 10lbs, and Jerry, 8st 10lbs; 5 to 4 on Fleur-de-Lis. Helenus made the running to the bottom of the hill, where Fleur-de-Lis took the lead, Mulatto (T. Lye), and Lord Fitzwilliam's Humphrey Clinker (W. Clift), being close up with the leaders. It was a most beautiful sight to the Red House, the four being very close together, at high pressure speed. Just after passing the Red House, Mulatto headed Helenus (R. Johnson), and then got slightly in front of Fleur-de-Lis, but at the distance she again resumed the lead, and a splendid race home, between her and Mulatto, resulted in his defeat, with very great difficulty, by half a neck, Humphrey Clinker being two lengths behind Mulatto; Jerry was never in the race from start to finish.

At York (Spring), 8st 9lbs (Geo. Dockeray), won £280, beating Jerry, six years, 9st 1lb, and two others. At Manchester, 8st 7lbs, ran second for a tureen of 100 gs., won by Mr. Nowell's b. h. Longwaist, six Signorina, by Champion, five years, 8st 8lbs, and Euphrates, aged, 9st. At Doncaster, 8st 9lbs (Nelson), won the Doncaster Stakes, beating Memnon, 8st 9lbs (Sim Templeman), by half a length. S. mg., for the Cup, won by Mulatto, Memnon and Fleur-de-Lis ran a dead heat for second place. Fleur-de-Lis was now sold to His Majesty.

At Ascot, 9st (Robinson), not placed for the Cup, won by Mr. Molony's br. f. Bobadilla, by Bobadil (son of Rubens), three years, 6st 7lbs (T. Lye), beating Mr. Stonehewer's b. f. Souvenir, by Orville, four years, 7st 13lbs (A. Pavis), second, and four others. At Oxford, 9st, four miles (T. Goodisson), won the Cup, beating Mr. J. Day's b. g. Liston, by Ambo, aged, 9st 4lbs (Jas. Chapple). At Newmarket (Second October), 9st (J. Robinson), won the Oatlands, beating Lord Verulam's b. h. Helas, by Woful, five years, 7st 12lbs, and three others. At Newmarket (Ho.), 8st 8lbs (Robinson), match for 200 sovs., beat Mr. George Payne's Belzoni, by Blacklock, five years, 8st 2lbs (W. Arnall).

At Newmarket (April 20th), 9st 9lbs, A. F. (Jas. Robinson), ran second in the Craven Stakes, won by Mr. W. Chifney's b. c. Zinganee, by Tramp, rising four years old, 8st 4lbs (Sam Chifney), beating Lord G. H. Cavendish's b. c. Amphion, said to have been the most beautiful horse that ever trod the Turf, by Partisan, 8st 13lbs, third, Lord Verulam's b. f. Brocard, by Whalebone, rising five years, 8st 13lbs, and five others. At Epsom, 9st 5lbs (J. Robinson), won the Craven Stakes, beating Colonel Standen's ch. h. Conrad, by Whisker, five years, 8st 9lbs (Dockeray), second, and ten others. At Stockbridge, 9st 2lbs (Robinson), won £160, beating Brownlock, 9st 2lbs. At Goodwood, 9st 3lbs (Robinson), won the Cup, beating Mr. Gully's b. h. Mameluke, by Partisan, 9st 3lbs (J. Day), Lord Exeter's br. f. Varna, by Sultan, three years, 7st 4lbs, Lamplighter, six years, 9st 6lbs, and two others. At Doncaster, 9st

(J. Robinson), ran third for the Cup, won by Lord Cleveland's br. c. Voltaire, by Blacklock, three years, 7st (T. Lye), beating Major Yarburgh's b. c. Laurel, by Blacklock, five years, 8st 10lbs (G. Nelson), third, Lord Fitzwilliam's b. h. Medoro, by Cervantes, five years, 8st 10lbs (John Day), Lord Scarborough's br. c. Cistercian, by Catton, three years, 7st (J. Gilbert), and the Hon. E. Petre's ch. h. Granby, by Cannon Ball, five years, 8st 10lbs (W. Scott) ; 2 to 1 against Laurel (who won this Cup in 1828), 5 to 2 against Voltaire, and 7 to 2 against Fleur-de-Lis. Granby led off at a tremendous pace, followed by Laurel, Voltaire, Medoro, Fleur-de-Lis, and Cistercian, in the order named. At the Red House, Laurel took the lead, and came along to the distance, at terrific speed, where Robinson called on Fleur-de-Lis, but the grand old mare was unable to respond. Lye then challenged Laurel with Voltaire, passed him easily, and won, hands down, by nearly a length. At Lincoln, 9st (J. Robinson), won the Grand Falconer's Cup (given by the Duke of St. Albans), of 200 gs., beating Laurel, 8st 10lbs, Colonel King's br. f. Bessy Bedlam, by Filho-da-Putá, four years, 8st 3lbs, and three others.

(Now, by the late King's death, the property of His Majesty, William the Fourth). At Goodwood, 9st 9lbs (G. Nelson), won the Cup of 300 sovs., with sweep of £770, beating His Majesty's b. h. Zinganee (John Day), second, five years, 9st 10lbs, His Majesty's ch. h. The Colonel, five years, 10st, third (A. Pavis) ; also Lord Jersey's b. g. Glenartney, by Phantom (G. Edwards), and five others. At Doncaster, 9st (Nelson), not placed for the Cup, won by Lord Kelburne's br. c. Retriever, by Smolensko, four years, 8st 3lbs (T. Lye), beating b. h. Medoro (Lord Fitzwilliam's), by Cervantes, 9st (Harry Edwards), second, Laurel, 9st (S. Templeman), third, and three others ; 11 to 8 against Fleur-de-Lis, and 3 to 1 against Laurel. No others quoted.

1831.

At Goodwood, 9st 11lbs (Nelson), ran second for the Cup, won by Lord Chesterfield's b. c. Priam, by Emilius, four years, 9st 5lbs, beating Mr. Stonehewer's b. f. Variation (winner of the Oaks last year), by Bustard (son of Castrel), four years, 8st 11lbs, third and last; 6 to 5 against Priam, 5 to 4 against Fleur-de-Lis, and 5 to 1 against Variation. Fleur-de-Lis (George Nelson), took the lead, making good and steady running, followed by Priam (P. Conolly), two full lengths behind, and at a like distance, by Variation. This position was maintained till past the distance post, when Priam came up in his fine splendid style, lay alongside Fleur-de-Lis for a few strides, and then took a decisive lead, going in an easy winner by two lengths; Variation (ridden by Jas. Robinson), being half a length only behind Fleur-de-Lis. It was altogether a beautiful and most interesting race. All three horses were in the pink of condition, especially Fleur-de-Lis. She never looked more beautiful in her life, so bright, so buoyant, so light, so strong, and so full of her old fire and spirit; but the fact is that she never at any time possessed Priam's speed, which, on this occasion, proved too great for her; and being, moreover, eight years old, she had doubtless lost somewhat of her old powers of running. Game she was to the last. Looking at the weight which Priam carried, as a four year old, the result of this race placed him, unquestionably, at the head of all the horses of his time. Fleur-de-Lis did not run again. She was bred by the Revd. Christopher Sykes, and sold, when a yearling, to Sir Matthew White Ridley, Bart.

ABRAHAM COOPER, R.A.

THIS eminent animal painter was born in Red Lion Street, Holborn, in September 1787, where his father carried on the business of a tobacconist, and lived in easy circumstances. His son, the subject of this memoir, not caring to follow that trade, took an Inn at Holloway, the result being mismanagement and ruin. In his earlier years, whilst at school, young Cooper evinced a strong disposition for drawing, embellishing his copy-books with sketches of horses and dogs. Soon afterwards he painted several portraits of horses, in water-colours, for a Mr. Phillips. At this time he was twenty-two years of age. Mr. Henry Meux, of Castlebar Hill, near Ealing, had, in the year 1809, a favourite old horse called Frolic, which Mr. Cooper was in the habit of riding and driving. Desirous of possessing a portrait of the old horse, Mr. Cooper tried his hand at it, and succeeded in producing an admirable likeness. Thus encouraged, he purchased a little work, entitled "An Introduction to Oil-Painting," published by Laurie and Whittle, of Fleet Street, from which he acquired the first rudiments of the art. At the earnest solicitation of Mr. Meux, Cooper resigned to him the portrait of Old Frolic, which he had painted for himself, and that gentleman ever after remained his firm friend and patron. Mr. Cooper also possessed himself of a few odd volumes of the Old Sporting Magazine. Benjamin Marshall's productions therein excited in him a keen spirit of emulation, and he soon, through the mediation of his uncle, Mr. Davis, of equestrian celebrity, obtained an introduction to Mr. Marshall, who, with that generosity so natural to him, received the young aspirant with great warmth of heart, and offered him admission at all times to his studio. With these advantages Mr. Cooper studied his art with great assiduity, and every fresh attempt revealed the superiority of his talents. In the year 1812 he became a member of the "Artist's Fund," and, eventually, its President. In 1817 he was elected an "Associate of the Royal Academy," and his fine picture, of Marston Moor, led to his election, in 1820, as a Royal Academician. His late Majesty, George the Fourth, was the first to sign his diploma, and his Majesty also employed him to paint his renowned mare, Fleur-de-Lis, most justly considered one of his most successful portraits of the many racehorses he painted. Among his numerous patrons may be mentioned the Dukes of Grafton, Bedford and Marlborough; the Earls of Essex, Carlisle, Egremont and Upper Ossory; Lords Ribblesdale, Arundel, Ducie, Chas. Kerr, Holland, and C. Bentinck; Sir M. White Ridley, Colonel Udny, Mr. Harvey-Combe, and several others.

The engraving of the portrait is by Mr. Thompson, from a painting by J. Jackson, R.A.

CHATEAU-MARGAUX.

CHATEAU-MARGAUX (first entered as "Brother to Addy"), was a brown colt, bred by the Earl of Egremont in 1822, and got by Whalebone, out of Wasp (sister to Scorpion), by Gohanna, out of a mare by Highflyer, out of Chanticleer's dam, by Eclipse, out of Rosebud, by Old Snap, out of Miss Belsea (bred by Sir Wm. Middleton, of Belsea Castle, Northumberland, in 1753), by Regulus, her dam, by Bartlett's Childers, out of a mare by Honeywood's White Arabian, out of the "dam of the two True Blues," which mare was bred by John Bowes, Esq. (ancestor of the Earls of Strathmore), of Gibside Park, near Newcastle on Tyne, and was got by the Byerley Turk.

Mr. Honeywood's White Arabian was first the property of Sir John Williams, Bart., who sold him to Mr. Turner, of Suffolk, who disposed of him to Mr. Honeywood. The two True Blues, both greys, and the sons of the White Arabian, were racers of very high form.

CAMEL.

CAMEL was a very dark brown colt, bred by the Earl of Egremont in 1822, and got by Whalebone, out of a mare (bred by Mr Elwes in 1812, by Selim, out of Maiden (bred by Earl Fitzwilliam in 1801), by Sir Peter, her dam, by Phænomenon, out of Matron, by Florizel (son of Herod), out of Maiden, by Match'em, out of Mr. J. Pratt's old mare *

* This Squirt-mare was never trained for racing, but was covered twenty-three years, and produced seventeen foals, out of which number (all bred by Mr. John Pratt, of Askrigg, Wensleydale, Yorkshire), were the following eleven good racers, viz.—Miracle, and Dido, by Changeling (brother to Match'em), Conundrum, Ranthos, Enigma, Riddle, Miss Timms, Rasselas, Pumpkin, Maiden and Purity, all by Match'em. The old mare died on the 30th of August, 1777, aged twenty-seven years. Camel had a very fine barrel, and was short in the back, but he had plenty of stride. He had a commanding forehead, good and powerful quarters, with great bone. His qualities may be summed up in a few words, namely, that he was no disgrace to the renowned family (Whalebone, Waxy, Pot8o's, and Eclipse), from which he sprang. "The Druid," in "Silk and Scarlet," observes that "the cart-horse quartered Camel can fairly challenge Sir Hercules for the Whalebone wreath, with the two famous brothers, Touchstone and Lancelot. The curious growth of Camel's quarters was owing to his having fallen backwards when a yearling." Camel was purchased from Lord Egremont by Mr. Theobald, of Stockwell, and joined the stud there, which, among several other celebrities, comprised Tarrare, Flibbertigibbet (a son of Cornus), Cydnus (son of Quiz), and the Grand Mameluke.

Writing of Camel, in "Scott and Sebright," "The Druid" remarks that "this horse was as good as an annuity of £800 to Mr. Theobald for several seasons after the performances of Touchstone had brought him so prominently into notice, while Caravan, Wapiti, Callisto, and others carried on the game. When the American agents arrived, and bid Mr. Theobald 5000 gs. for him, he gave his verdict without turning round in the box, and would not even allow Lowry time to strip the horse before he refused the offer. Camel was then seventeen years old, and he lived for six seasons more. General Wemyss and Mr. Bramsby Cooper (the eminent surgeon) used to visit, as Mr. Theobald termed him, 'My bit of whalebone,' Mr. Cooper always maintaining that he never looked over a more powerful piece of machinery. His gaskins were enormous, and his leverage so great, that, when Lowry (Mr. Theobald's studgroom) lunged him, he could leap mid-air almost to the last."

by Squirt, her dam, by Mogul (a son of the Godolphin Arabian), out of Camilla, by Bay Bolton, out of Old Lady (dam of the Bolton Grey Starling), by Pulleine's Chestnut Arabian.

S. mg., 8st 3lbs (W. Arnall), match for 200 sovs., beat Colonel Udny's b. c. Tarandus, by Sorcerer, four years, 8st 7lbs (F. Buckle). S. mg., 8st 5lbs each, in a match for 200 sovs. (W. Mr. Mytton was said to have lost £15,000 on this race by his recent purchase of Longwaist; betting, at starting, 7 to 4 on Longwaist, and 7 to 2 against Brutandorf, won by a short neck, after a most exciting and splendid race from start to finish. Though unplaced, Flexible was third, Lord Derby's b. m. Urganda, by Milo (T. Lye), Mr. Geary's br. f. Arachne, by Filho-da-Putá, and Doctor Faustus, being beaten off several lengths. At Manchester, 8st 2lbs (H. Arthur), ran third for the Cup, won by br. f. Signorina, four years, 7st 13lbs (T. Lye), beating Lord Darlington's b. c. Memnon, four years, 8st 2lbs (T. He ran twice, unsuccessfully, at Cheltenham, in 1827, and was then taken out of training, and was sold to Mr. Bach, of Bromfield, for the Stud. In his race with Borysthenes Flexible received an injury from which he recovered very slowly, and which obliged him to quit the Turf.

SIGNAL.

SIGNAL was a very valuable and highly-bred grey Arabian, sent from India to the Hon. Arthur Cole, by his friend and late confederate on the Turf, Captain Maclean, of His Majesty's 13th Light Dragoons, accompanied by the following character: "This little horse, Signal, has never been beaten, and is warranted sound, and quite free from vice. He is five years old off, and stands just fourteen hands high."

The following extracts of Signal's performances, in the year 1828, are from the published accounts of the Madras races in January of that year, viz., A sweepstakes for all Arabs (Orelia excepted), of 50 gold mohurs each, p. p., 8st 7lbs each, one mile and three-quarters, was won by Captain Maclean's silver-grey Arab, Signal (ridden by Salter), beating Colonel Showers' bay Arab, Houndsfoot (ridden by Hall). Run in 3 min. and 15 secs.; even on Houndsfoot, and 2 to 1 against Signal. They both went off at score, Houndsfoot taking the lead, of which he was quickly deprived by Signal, who was never afterwards headed. The race from start to finish was close and beautiful. Same day, a sweep for all Arabs (Orelia excepted), of 50 gold mohurs each, 8st 7lbs each, two miles, was won by Signal (ridden by Salter), again beating Houndsfoot (ridden by Hall); betting even. This was a magnificent race throughout; and, although Signal defeated Houndsfoot, at the same weights as on Monday, it was thought by many that the extra quarter of a mile would greatly increase Houndsfoot's chance; consequently, Houndsfoot started with 5 to 4 laid on him, but which odds were instantly snapped up. As the flag fell, the two horses jumped off together; and, after twenty strides, Houndsfoot took the lead, but Signal speedily took the whip-hand and went in front of his opponent, having his head well up; and, keeping this advantage to the distance, appeared to be winning easily. Houndsfoot, however, springing gamely to the taste of the whip, came up to Signal's girths, but could not overhaul him, Signal winning, amidst the wildest excitement, by half a neck. Run in 4 minutes and 1 second. S. mg. (same meeting), for all Arabs (Orelia excepted), Signal won a sweep of 50 gold mohurs each, p. p., 8st 5lbs each, three miles (ridden by Salter), beating Colonel Showers' bay Arab Wildblood, who had beaten Orelia, on the first day, at the difference of 12lbs, which Orelia was obliged to concede, before being allowed to start. This was a neck and neck race to the distance, where Signal quitted Wildblood, and won easily, speed and stamina being both his own. Wildblood was ridden by Hall, with admirable judgment and patience, his riding being highly commended from all quarters. In Weatherby's Stud Book (vol. 3, page 226), the Arabian Signal is credited with a chestnut filly, bred by Mr. B. Thompson in 1830, out of Young Maniac, by Tramp, out of Maniac, by Shuttle.

BABEL.

BABEL (first named Liliās, under which designation she won the Oaks), was a bay filly, bred by Mr. Forth, in 1823, and got by his bay horse, Interpreter (son of Soothsayer), out of Fair Ellen, by the Wellesley Arabian, out of Maria, by Highflyer, out of Nutcracker, by Match'em, out of Miss Starling, by the Bolton Grey Starling, out of a mare by Old Partner, her dam, by Mr. John Croft's Bay Barb, out of a mare by Makeless (son of the Oglethorpe Arabian), &c.

BABEL'S PERFORMANCES.

At Epsom, 6st (ridden by Morgan), won the Craven Stakes, beating Mr. Rogers' ch. c. Muleteer, by Muley, four years, 8st (Wm. Wheatley), second, Mr. R. Benson's ch. f. Rhapsody (who died in 1827), by Woful, three years, 6st, third (H. Arthur); also, not placed, Mr. West's b. f. Mystery, by Phantom, four years, 8st, the Duke of York's br. c. Lionel Lincoln, by Whalebone, four years, 8st, and three others; Muleteer the favourite. S. mg., 8st 4lbs each (T. Lye), won the Oaks of 50 sovs. each, h. ft., forty-nine subscribers (value £1150), beating the Duke of Grafton's ch. f. Problem (winner of the 1000 Guineas), second (Old John Day); also, not placed, Lord Egremont's b. f. Mignonette, by Whalebone (George Dockeray), Lord Jersey's ch. f. Butterfly, by Magistrate (Jas. Robinson), Mr. Forth's b. f. Shortwaist, by Interpreter (Harry Edwards), the Duke of Grafton's b. f. Parapluie, by Merlin (F. Buckle), the Duke of York's b. f. Rachel (winner this year of £1600, and the Oatlands Handicap, at Newmarket), by Whalebone (T. Goodisson) and his ch. f. Elizabeth, by Rainbow, Mr. Mytton's b. f. Louisa (the dam of Jerry, by Smolensko), Mr. Isaac Sadler's ch. f. Tears (second to Problem, in the 1000 Guineas, then General Grosvenor's), by Woful (Sam Day), and five others; betting, at starting, 5 to 4 against Problem, 6 to 1 against Tears, 8 to 1 against Parapluie, and 15 to 1 against Lillas, who was now sold to Mr. George Payne, who renamed her Babel. At Newmarket (Second October), 8st, A. F. (ridden by Sam Chifney), match for 200 sovs., ran a dead heat with Lord Exeter's ch. c. Enamel (winner of the 2000 Guineas, in 1825), by Phantom, four years, 8st 13lbs (W. Arnall); 2 to 1 on Enamel. This was a match of no common order, Enamel being a good four year old, and the Oaks winner receiving 13lbs for the year. In the race they kept close together to the Abingdon Mile Bottom, where Babel began to manifest signs of distress; but, with unflinching gameness, she struggled on, and Enamel, compounding with the weight, gradually lost the advantage he had gained. About thirty yards from home Babel had reached Enamel's withers, and succeeded in making a dead heat of it. Chifney nursed the filly admirably. At Newmarket (Ho.), 8st 11lb (Chifney), match for 200 sovs., was beaten by the Duke of Rutland's b. f. Adeliza, by Soothsayer, four years, 9st (J Robinson); 6 to 4 on Adeliza.

Goodisson), match for 200 sovs., beat Lord Wharnccliffe's br. c. the Dragon, by Cervantes (S. Chifney), both four years old. At Newmarket (Second October), 8st 6lbs (T. Goodisson), ran second in the Garden Stakes of 100 sovs. each, p. p., won by Mr. S. Stonehewer's br. filly, Souvenir, by Orville, three years, 6st 8lbs (A. Pavis). S. mg., 8st 10lbs, D. M. (T. At Abingdon, 8st 9lbs (T. Robinson), heats two miles, won 100 sovs., beating Mr. Mills' br. h. Brownlock, by Blacklock, six years, 9st, and one other, in both heats. Ran once more, without success, and was put to the Stud.

TARRARE'S PERFORMANCES.

Belzoni, by Blacklock, Lord Wharnccliffe's two brown colts, Dragon and Crusader, both by Cervantes, Sir J. Byng's ch. c.

T A R F A R R

Thales, by Tramp, Mr. Harrison's b. c. Royal Oak, by Catton, Mr. George Payne's br. c. The General, by Comus, and fifteen others; betting, at starting, 2 to 1 against Belzoni (winner, this year, of the St. Leger Stakes, at York Spring, beating Mulatto, second, and Bedlamite, third); 6 to 1 against Bedlamite, 8 to 1 against Mulatto, 10 to 1 against Dragon, 17 to 1 against Crusader, and 20 to 1 against Tarrare. The race is thus described in the Sporting Magazine for October, 1826:—"At the second attempt they all got away to an excellent start, the Duke of Leeds' gr. f. by Walton, going off at score, but, failing in the dip, gave place to his Grace's other string, the bay colt by Whisker, who was followed closely by Crusader, Tarrare, Bedlamite and Mulatto, in the order named. At the Red House all were beaten except the last three, who ran every inch of the ground. At one time, Bedlamite came up to Tarrare's head, and for a great distance the race was most beautiful, and the issue very doubtful. Two hundred yards from home, it looked like a dead heat between Tarrare and Bedlamite; but now the good head and helping hand of Sam Day, gave Mulatto a strong turn, and he came to the front like a winner; but, though he ran as honest as truth, he could not quite reach Tarrare, and was beaten by half a length." At York (August), 8st 3lbs, two miles (G. Nelson), ran second in a sweep of 25 sovs. each, won by Lord Kelburne's bl. h. Jerry (St. Leger winner in 1824), by Smolensko, six years, 9st (Harry Edwards), beating the Hon. E. Petre's b. c. Nonplus, by Catton, three years, 7st 2lbs, third, and Mr. Ridsdale's ch. c. Barelegs (brother to Barefoot), by Tramp, four years, 8st 3lbs, last. S. mg., w. o. for a sweepstakes of 100 sovs. each, h. ft., four subscribers. At Doncaster, 8st 3lbs, two miles and five furlongs (G. Nelson), was not placed for the Cup, won by Mulatto (which see).

At York (August), 8st 10lbs, two miles, ran second in a sweep of £325, won by Earl Fitzwilliam's b. c. Medoro, by Cervantes, four years, 8st 3lbs, beating Sir Wm. Milner's ch. c. Malek (brother to Velocipede), four years, 8st 3lbs, third, and Actæon, 9st, last. At Doncaster, 8st 9lbs, two miles (G. Nelson), was unplaced in the Doncaster Stakes, won by Nonplus 8st (T. Nicholson), beating Mr. Petre's b. f. Matilda (winner of last year's St. Leger), by Comus, four years, 8st ; 5 to 4 on Matilda. Mulatto ran four times more this year, without success, viz., once at York (August), once at Doncaster, and twice at Richmond.

At York (Spring), 9st 4lbs, two miles (T. Lye), ran third in a sweep of 20 sovs. each, won by Lord Scarborough's b. c. Cambridge by Catton, four years, 8st 3lbs, second (G. Nelson) ; four ran. Actæon, aged, 8st 4lbs (Harry Edwards), third and last. In this handicap, Mulatto was made to give Actæon 1lb and a year, and Moonshine 3lbs. Actæon (ridden by Harry Edwards) was very refractory at the post, and all through the race preferred hanging to the cords to going straight, to the great mortification of his rider, who had a good lump of money on him, not believing that any horse in the kingdom was capable of giving a pound and a year to Actæon. S. mg., 8st 12lbs, four miles (T. Lye), ran second for the Great Subscription, won by the Hon. E. Petre's ch. h. Granby, by Cannon Ball (W. Scott), Actæon third. He ran twice more, without success, and retired to the Stud, in connection with which his name will always be inscribed in the annals of the Turf, as the sire of Martha Lynn, the dam of Voltigeur.

At Middleham, for two years old, colts 8st 3lbs, fillies 8st (T. Shepherd), won 80 sovs., beating Mr. Darnell's b. f. Decision,† by Magistrate, and two others. At York (Spring), colts 8st 3lbs, fillies 8st (T. Shepherd),

* Old Greyhound was foaled at Hampton Court, and was got by King William's White Barb Chillaby, out of a natural Barb Mare, called Slugey, who was of the highest breed in Barbary, where she was in foal with Greyhound when she was purchased, together with Chillaby, by Mr. Marshall, for King William the Third, and brought to England. Greyhound afterwards became the property of Mr. John Crofts, of Barforth, Yorkshire; Slugey means Greyhound in Barbary.

† This mare died in June, 1834; and, though a moderate racer herself, gave promise at the stud of producing runners of a high class. She was bred by Lady Strathmore, being one of that stream of well-known blood which, for so many years, was an heirloom in the family at Streatlam Castle. She was got by Magistrate, out of Remembrance, by Sir Solomon, out of Queen Mab, by Eclipse, and was sold, when a yearling, to Mr. Darnell. The Racing Calendar shows her four first-born to have been all winners, no less than nineteen rich prizes being credited to them, a success which few brood mares can parallel.

FANNY DAVIES' PERFORMANCES.

At Chester, for three years old, colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 2lbs, not placed in a sweepstakes of 50 sovs. each, h. ft., eleven subscribers, won by Mr. Giffard's ch. colt Leviathan, by Muley (H. Arthur), beating Sir Thomas Stanley's ch. colt, by Tiresias (son of Soothsayer), and five others not placed. At York (August), colts 8st 5lbs, fillies 8st 2lbs (Harry Edwards), won a sweep of 50 sovs. each, h. ft., beating Lord Scarborough's b. c. by Catton : only these two ran ; 5 to 2 on Fanny Davies. S. mg., for three years old, fillies only, 8st 5lbs each (H. Edwards), won a sweep of 30 sovs. each, &c., beating Lord Kennedy's bl. f. Mary Ann, by Blacklock, second, Lord Scarborough's b. f. Pasta, by Catton (G. Nelson), third, and two others ; betting, at starting, 5 to 2 against Mary Ann (ridden by John Jackson), and 4 to 1 against Fanny Davies. At Pontefract, 7st 11lbs each (H. Edwards), won a Produce sweep of £250, beating the Hon E. Petre's ch. f. Missy, by Catton; 3 to 1 on Fanny. S. mg., 6st 9lbs (E. Tickhill, by Catton; 2 to 1 on Fanny. S. mg., for three years old, fillies 8st 4lbs each (St. Leger Course, H. Edwards), won a sweepstakes of £360, beating Lord Muncaster's b. f. Garcia, by Octavian, by six lengths: also (not placed), b. f. Pasta, bl. f. Mary Ann, ch. f. Missy, b. f. Harriet (also Mr. Houldsworth's), by Filho-da-Putã, and two others; betting, 7 to 4 against Fanny Davies, and 3 to 1 against Mary Ann; no others quoted. Fanny Davies went such a clipper over the St. Leger Course that Mr. Houldsworth expressed great regret, shared by all his friends and trainer, that he did not start her for the St. Leger, for which she was entered, considering, from the style in which she defeated a good field in this race, that her chance of winning the St. Leger was second to none. Harriet took the lead, followed by Mary Ann, Garcia, and Fanny Davies. At the end of a quarter of a mile, Harry Edwards, finding the pace not strong enough, came through with Fanny, headed her stable companion, Harriet, and took a commanding lead of two lengths to the Red House, where Garcia (ridden by T. Nicholson), took second place; but Fanny ran on, increasing her lead as she went, winning hands down, and full of running at the finish. The Sporting Magazine for November, 1826, referring to the Doncaster meeting of that year, observes,—“Fanny Davies beat Tickhill very cleverly for the Foal Stakes, a mile and a half, and the only grumbling heard during the meeting was that she was not started for the St. Leger, as she would have won, or been very near it.”

At Chester, 8st, not placed for the Stand Cup, won by Sir T. Stanley's b. h. Dr. Faustus, by Filho-da-Putã (Sim Templeman), beating Leviathan, 8st 2lbs, second, Mr. Geary's br. m. Arachne (dam of Industry, by Priam), by Filho-da-Puta, five years, 8st 8lbs, Mr. Clifton's b. h. Brutandorf, six years, 9st, and three others. At York, ran second in the Great Subscription, won by Mulatto. At Chesterfield she won two purses of 50 and 60 sovs. (ridden by E. Jackson). She ran twice more, at Pontefract for the Cup, and at Doncaster, in a sweepstakes of 50 sovs. each, without success, and was put to the Stud.

MAMELUKE'S PERFORMANCES.

At Newmarket Craven; for three years old, colts 8st 7lbs, fillies 8st 4lbs (J. Robinson), not placed in the Riddlesworth, of 200 sovs. each, h. ft., fifteen subscribers (value £1800), won by b. c. Glenartney* (also Lord Jersey's), by Phantom, out of Web (George Edwards,) beating six others,—the winner being the only one placed, though Mameluke was second. S. mg., received 300 sovs. (forfeit) in a sweepstakes of 200 sovs. each, h. ft., seven subscribers. At Newmarket (First Spring) received 100 sovs. forfeit, from Lord Orford's b. f. by Merlin. At Epsom (James Robinson), won the Derby, of £2560, beating Glenartney (George Edwards), second; also (not placed), Mr. Yates' b. c. Edmund, by Orville, Lord Egremont's b. c. Gaberlunzie, by Wanderer, Mr. Radclyffe's b. c. Windermere, by Whalebone, out of Effie Deans, the Duke of Grafton's b. c. Roderick, by Rubens, Mr. Isaac Sadler's b. c. Defence, by

* Lord Clarendon's b. f. by Partisan, 8st 4lbs (T. Goodisson), came in first, but having by mistake carried only 8st 11lb. the race was adjudged to Glenartney, who came in second, Mameluke being third.

Whalebone, the Duke of Grafton's b. c. Turcoman (winner of the 2000 Guineas), by Selim, Lord Egremont's b. c. Grampus, by Whalebone, Lord G. Cavendish's roan colt, Rapid Rhone (winner of the Grand Duke Michael Stakes, in 1827, and of the Claret Stakes, of 200 sovs. each, &c., at Newmarket, Craven, in 1828), by Partisan, and thirteen others. Betting, at starting, 5 to 1 against Glenartney, 6 to 1 against Windermere (whose public running never sustained his high private reputation), 7 to 1 each against Roderick and Defence, and 9 to 1 against Mameluke. Glenartney took the lead, and kept it to Tattenham Corner, where every horse in the race was beaten, except Mameluke. The two then came on together; and, at the distance, it was any odds on Glenartney; but just at this point, Edwards took a very strong pull at his horse, when Robinson, with fine judgment, slipped Mameluke on the instant and won by a length. It was universally remarked that, had Edwards' bridle broke, Glenartney must have won. After the race, Edwards frankly admitted his mistake, adding also that Lord Jersey's orders were that each jockey was to do his best to win. Mameluke was sold, on his Derby credentials, to Mr. John Gully, for £4000, whilst no amount of money could have purchased Glenartney. At Doncaster (now Mr. Gully's), ran second in the Great St. Leger, won by the Hon. E. Petre's b. f. Matilda, by Comus (which see, for starters, &c.). The following remarks respecting Mameluke, and his race for the St. Leger, under the heading of "A Visit to Doncaster," appeared in the October number of the Sporting Magazine, for 1827. "I suppose there never was so undecided an opinion upon the merits of a horse, who had done so much, as upon Mameluke. Bred by Mr. Elwes (though Lord Jersey had always the credit of having bred both him and Glenartney) from his very excellent mare Miss Sophia, Lord Jersey's judgment induced him to purchase the foal. Mameluke's début in the Riddlesworth was greatly against him. Both he and Glenartney were prodigious favourites, and Lord Jersey declared to win with Mameluke. The filly, by Partisan, out of Donna Clara, however, came in first; but being three pounds short in weight, the race was given to Glenartney, the second horse, and the only one that was placed. Numbers, however, maintained that Mameluke was second, and that the judge made a mistake in assigning that place to Glenartney. As to the St. Leger, there were a great many false starts, which gave rise to much animated conversation, and some suspicions, as the jealousy of a south-country horse winning the St Leger is too well-known to be enlarged upon. If these false starts (as was asserted) were pre-arranged to tease Mameluke, the intention succeeded admirably, as that horse, who had never before shown any temper, became quite unmanageable, and Chifney had the greatest difficulty in getting him to the Post; Matilda too, from being impetuous, and always very quick at starting, ran nearly up to the hill every time. When at last they did start, Translation and Matilda got away at least sixty yards in advance of everything, Mameluke being one of the very last, so that the two fillies were on the top of the hill before Mameluke was half-way. At the top of the hill Matilda had the lead, and kept it to the Red House, where Mameluke, who had been making tremendous exertions, got up and looked so well and full of running that Mr. Gully offered to lay an even thousand on his horse. From the Red House to the distance post, and even beyond it, the race was very fine and close, Mameluke at one time getting his head in front, a position he was unable to maintain, and Matilda won by half a length. Robinson's riding throughout the race claims the highest admiration, and I do not think any other man in England could have ridden Matilda as he did. A Scotch gentleman presented him with £1000, and a complimentary congratulation on the magnificent horsemanship he displayed." Betting—5 to 2 against Mameluke, 4 to 1 against the Hon. E. Petre's ch. c. Granby (winner, two days after, of the Gascoigne Stakes), by Cannon Ball, and 10 to 1 against Matilda.

At Newmarket, Craven, 8st 2lbs (W. Wheatley), won the Oatlands, beating the Duke of Richmond's roan filly, Miss Craven, by Mr. Lowe (son of Walton), three years, 7st 3lbs, second, Anticipation, three years, 7st, Memnon, five years, 9st 4lbs, and one other. S. mg., 8st 7lbs, each (Wheatley), won the Port Stakes, of £400, beating Lord George Cavendish's beautiful bay colt, Amphion, by Partisan; only two ran. At Newmarket (First Spring), received 100 sovs., forfeit, from Mr. Lumley's b. f. Babel. At Doncaster, 8st 3lbs, not placed for the Cup, won by Major Yarburgh's b. c. Laurel, by Blacklock (which see for details).

At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 12lbs (Wm. Wheatley), match for 200 sovs., beat Mr. Molony's ch. c. Rough Robin, by Sober Robin (son of Orville), three years, 8st 5lbs. At Ascot, 8st 12lbs, ran second for the Cup, won by Lord Chesterfield's b. c. Zinganee, four years, 8st 2lbs, (Sam Chifney), beating, also, Cadland, The Colonel, Bobadilla (winner of the Ascot Cup, in 1828), Green Mantle, and Lamplighter,—a rare field of horses. At Goodwood, 9st 3lbs (W. Wheatley), ran second for the Cup, won by His Majesty's b. m. Fleur-de-Lis, aged, 9st 3lbs (J. Robinson), beating, also, Lord Exeter's br. f. Varna, by Sultan, three years, 7st 4lbs (F. Boyce), the Duke of Richmond's b. h. The Alderman, by Bourbon, aged, 9st 6lbs (W. Arnall), Colonel Wilson's b. h. Lamplighter, six years, 9st 6lbs (old John Day), and the Duke of Richmond's (late Mr. Molony's) ch. c. Rough Robin, four years, 8st 10lbs (Arthur Pavis). Betting, at starting, 6 to 4 on Mameluke, 4 to 1 each against Varna and Rough Robin (winner of the rich Garden Stakes, at Newmarket, Second October, 1828), 8 to 1 against Fleur-de-Lis, and 12 to 1 against The Alderman. An unusual degree of excitement was displayed on this race. All sorts of opinions were expressed in reference to the chance of each of the horses backed; but the prevailing one favoured that of Mameluke, his supporters observing that Varna was too young, Fleur-de-Lis too old, Rough Robin, Lamplighter and The Alderman all too slow. The Northerners, however, very doggedly remarked that "the old mare looks well, and that, not long before, she had run the Flying Zinganee to a head, that the distance, moreover, just suited her; and, lastly, that Jem Robinson would ride her." They all got well away to an excellent start,—The Alderman and Varna leading at a clipping pace, Mameluke going on third, Lamplighter fourth, Fleur-de-Lis fifth, and Rough Robin last—all close up to the leaders. This order was kept for more than half-way, when Mameluke shot like lightning ahead, followed by Fleur-de-Lis, the rest being quite outpaced, as the speed now was terrific. Between these two the race down the hill was splendid, the mare sticking close to Mameluke's quarters to the half-distance. Two hundred yards from home Mameluke was seen to falter ; but he still ran on most gamely, till the mare got on level terms with him, when it became evident that the favourite was beaten. Fifty yards from home Fleur-de-Lis passed him, and won easily by three lengths. After the race, Mr. Delme Radcliffe (His Majesty's Master of the Stud), kissed the grand old mare ; and complimented Robinson on his fine riding. At Newmarket (Second October), 9st 7lbs, ran third and last in the Garden Stakes, of 100 sovs. each, two miles, won by Sir Mark Wood's b. f. Lucetta, by Reveller, three years, 6st 10lbs (Arthur Pavis), beating Mr. Sowerby's bl. h. Coroner, by Magistrate, four years, 7st 9lbs, second. S. mg., 10st each, B.C., for The Whip, and 200 sovs. each (J. Robinson), beat Colonel Wilson's b. h. Lamplighter (F. Buckle) ; 12 to 10 on Mameluke. At Newmarket (Houghton), 8st 12lbs (Robinson), won a Handicap Plate, of 100 sovs., beating Coroner, four years, 7st 13lbs, second, Mr Roberts' b. f. Locket, by Blacklock, four years, 8st, third, Lamplighter, 8st 6lbs, fourth, and the Duke of Richmond's ch. h. Helenus, by Soothsayer, aged, 9st, last ; 6 to 4 on Mameluke, who was now sold to Mr. Theobald, and transferred to his Stud, at Stockwell.

(G. Dockeray), Lord Exeter's ch. f. Marinella, by Soothsayer (J. Spring), Mr. Harris' b. f. by Tramp (Tom Aldcroft), Mr. Gore's br. f. Belvidera, by Blacklock (A. Pavis), Mr. Maberly's b. f. Livonia, by Smolensko (G. Edwards), Mr. Rawlinson's b. f. Passion, by Spectre (J. Chapple), Colonel Wilson's ch. f. by Rubens (Wm. Scott), Lord Wharnccliffe's br. f. by Filho-da-Putá (H. Edwards), and Mr. Combe's filly, by Whalebone (Sam Barnard). Though not in the market quotations, Colonel Wilson's filly had a great many friends, and the knowing ones from Newmarket stood on her to the last, but she sadly disappointed her supporters. Brocard started first favourite, at 7 to 2, then came Toso (winner, this year, of a sweepstakes of £1100, at Newmarket, First Spring, and at the same meeting defeated Babel in a match) at 4 to 1, Donna Clara filly at 7 to 1, Souvenir at 9 to 1, Gulnare at 14 to 1, and Translation at 35 to 1. Gulnare was very partially backed; and with the exception of these and Colonel Wilson's filly, nothing else was thought of. The race from end to end, was very fast and very truly run. Brocard, Gulnare, Livonia, and Colonel Wilson's filly got well off together, and made very strong running up the hill. The two last, however, were dead beat at the Rubbing House, and were pulled up before they reached Tattenham Corner. All the rest were well landed round the corner, where John Day made a resolute effort to take the lead with Translation; but Brocard held it to the distance, where she was challenged by both Gulnare and Translation. The race home was beautiful, the three lying evenly abreast to within fifty yards of the winning-post, when Frank Boyce, by real good riding, science and judgment, got Gulnare in front, who, though hard pressed, won by nearly a length. At Brighton, w. o. for £75; and at Goodwood, w. o. for 80 sovs. At Egham, 8st 7lbs (Frank Boyce), won the Magna Charta Stakes, of £150, beating Mr. Ramsbottom's roan colt, Prism, by Rainbow, three years, 8st 5lbs. At Newmarket (Second October), 7st 11lbs (Frank Boyce), match for 200 sovs., beat Lord Anson's ch. c. Noureddin (winner, in 1826, of the Scrub Stakes, of 100 sovs. each, six subscribers, at Newmarket, Houghton, and the Gold Cup, this year, at Newmarket, Houghton), by Aladdin, four years, 8st 8lbs; 3 to 1 on Gulnare. At Newmarket (Ho.), 8st 9lbs (F. Boyce), match for 200 sovs., beat Lord Exeter's Marinella, by Soothsayer, 8st (F. Buckle); 6 to 4 on Gulnare.

At Epsom, 8st, ran second in the Craven Stakes, won by Lord Wilton's ch. h. Goshawk, by Merlin, five years, 8st 9lbs (Sam Day), beating Mr. George Payne's ch. c. Oppidan, by Rubens, three years, 6st, third, and two others. At Newmarket (Ho.), 8st 8lbs (F. Boyce), won a sweep of 10 sovs. each, after a dead heat with Mr. Rush's b. h. Carthago, by Pioneer (son of Whiskey), five years, 8st 8lbs, b. m. Pastime, six years, 9st 7lbs, with seven others, not being placed; 2 to 1 against Carthago (a good, honest, and successful runner), and 5 to 1 each against Gulnare and Pastime. After the dead heat, 6 to 4 on Carthago (ridden by J. Robinson). S. mg., 8st 7lbs each, match for 300 sovs., h. ft., received £150 from Mr. Thomas Thornhill's ch. c. Merchant (winner of the Clearwell and Prendergast Stakes, at Newmarket), by Merlin, three years old. Gulnare ran once more, this year, without success.

1829.

At Newmarket (First Spring), 8st 12lbs (F. Boyce), match for 200 sovs., beat Lord Tavistock's (late Lord Grosvenor's) ch. f. Rosetta, by Blacklock, three years, 8st; 6 to 4 on Rosetta. Gulnare ran twice more, without success, and was put to the Stud.

MATILDA.

MATILDA, bred by and the property of the Hon. Edward Petre, of Stapleton Park, Yorkshire, was a bay filly, got by Comus (son of Sorcerer), out of Juliana, by Gohanna, out of Platina, by Mercury (son of Eclipse), out of Grey Skim's dam, by Herod, out of Young Hag, by Skim, out of Hag, by Old Crab (both of these were grey mares), out of Ebony, by Childers, out of Old Ebony, by Basto (son of the Byerley Turk).

Matilda was of a very fidgety disposition, and, after winning the St. Leger, most uncertain in her running. When a yearling, she measured only fourteen hands, one inch and a half, just an inch higher than Whisker's son, The Colonel, at the same age. A handsomer little filly than Matilda, and a finer and more slashing colt than Mameluke, never met together on any race-course. Mr. Petre eventually gave Matilda to the Duke of Cleveland, who bred from her the brown colt Henriade, by Voltaire, Foxberry and Alzira, all very fair runners, and some others.

DEFENCE

DEFENCE.

DEFENCE was a bay colt, bred by Mr. Isaac Sadler (the quondam Livery stable keeper at Oxford*) in 1824, and was got by Whalebone, out of Defiance (bred by Mr. Sadler in 1816), by Rubens, out of Little Folly, by Highland Fling (a son of Spadille, by Highflyer), out of Harriet, by Volunteer, out of a mare by Alfred (brother to Conductor, by Match'em), out of Magnolia (bred by Lord Abingdon in 1771), by Old Marske, out of a mare (foaled in 1756), by Babraham (son of the Godolphin Arabian), out of a mare by Sedbury (son of Old Partner), out of Ebony, by Flying Childers, out of Old Ebony, by Basto, out of the Duke of Rutland's Massey Mare, by Mr. Massey's Black Barb.

Defence started but once, unplaced to Mameluke, in the Derby of 1827, in which race he was so seriously lamed as to compel his retirement altogether from the Turf; but he acquired imperishable renown at the Stud, and his name will be remembered when Mameluke's may be forgotten. The Defence blood, however, has gradually become extinct.

He was the sire of Mr. Gregory's brown colt, Barrier (winner of the Molecombe Stakes and the Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, in 1841, and a 500 sovs. sweepstakes at Bath, in 1842), of the Duke of Richmond's ch. c. Bulwark (winner of the July Stakes at Newmarket, and a sweepstakes of 200 sovs. each, at Goodwood, in 1838), of Mr. I. Sadler's ch. c. Defender, and Defensive, of Lord Albemarle's ch. c. The Emperor (sire of the famous French horse, M^{on}arque, and winner of the Emperor of Russia's Plate at Ascot in 1844, and 1845), of Mr. Etwall's br. c.

* Mr. Sadler was in league with the Days. He had a Stud-farm at Northleach, near Cheltenham, and also at Stockbridge. At Oxford he had only hunters and hacks.

Palladium (second to Barrier in the Sussex Stakes at Goodwood, and winner of a Produce Stakes of 50 sovs. each, and the Foalstakes, of 50 sovs. each, both at Winchester, a Produce Stakes of 50 sovs. each, at Salisbury, and also a Produce Stakes of 50 sovs. each, at Abingdon, all in 1842, as a three year old), of Mr. Fox's ch. c. Tipple Cider, and of several other winning colts. Defence was also the sire of the following excellent mares, viz.,—of Barricade (sister to Barrier, and winner of the rich Sussex Stakes at Goodwood), of Benedetta (winner of the Hopeful Stakes at Newmarket), of Ægis, Fortress, Deceit, Deception (second to Bloomsbury in the Derby, and winner of the Oaks, in 1839), of Decision (winner of the Molecombe Stakes, at Goodwood), of Decisive (winner, at Stockbridge, of £850, Produce Stakes), of Diversion, Lallah Rookh, Protection, Science, and Victoria, all capital performers on the Turf, and some of them famous at the Stud.

Defence was a horse of very fine mould, and great muscular power. He had a plainish head, very full chest, splendid shoulders, rare back ribs, a good barrel, fine quarters, and capital hocks. He was short in the back, and altogether one of the most compact horses ever seen. He stood a trifle under fifteen-two. He imparted to his stock the stamina and lasting powers which so pre-eminently distinguished the Whalebone blood.

LAUREL.

LAUREL (own brother to Belinda) was a brown colt, bred by Major Yarburgh in 1824, and was got by Blacklock, out of Wagtail (bred by the Major in 1818), by Prime Minister (son of Sancho), out of a mare by Orville, out of Miss Grimstone, by Weasel (son of Herod), out of a mare by Ancaster (son of Blank), her dam, by the Damascus Arabian, out of a mare by Sampson, out of a dau. of Oroonoko, out of Sophia (sister to Mirza), by the Godolphin Arabian. The Damascus Arabian was a black-brown horse, foaled in 1754, and brought into England in 1760; and, in 1761, 1762, and 1763, covered thoroughbred mares only, at Mr. Wm. Coates' at Smeaton, near Northallerton; and, in 1764, at Mr. Samuel Tate's, at Mickleham, near Leatherhead, Surrey. He was known to be of the purest Arabian breed, without any mixture of the Turcoman or Barb. He was a horse of great bone and substance, standing fourteen hands and half an inch high, which size very few Arabians ever exceed. He was bred by the Sheick, or Chief, of Acria, noted for his breed of horses, and presented, when a foal, to the Bashaw of Damascus. He was purchased, at two years old, by an English gentleman, who brought him to England.

Edwards), and one other ; 6 to 5 on Mameluke, 4 to 1 against Laurel, and 6 to 1 against Longwaist : at starting, Longwaist jumped off with the lead, making the pace very strong to past the distance, where Nicholson brought up Laurel, and, after a very close and most exciting race, defeated the old horse by a neck, three lengths between second and third, Mameluke fourth, a head only from the third, the rest beaten off.

Petre's ch. h. Granby, by Cannon Ball, five years, 8st 10lbs (Wm. Scott); 2 to 1 against Laurel, 5 to 2 against Voltaire, and 7 to 2 against Fleur-de-Lis; at starting, Granby took the lead at high-pressure speed, having Laurel at his heels, followed by Voltaire, Medoro, Fleur-de-Lis, and Cistercian, in the order named, the last four keeping about a length from each other till they approached the Red House, where Cistercian made a vain effort to get in front, for Laurel defeated this attempt and, heading Granby, came at a rattling pace down to the distance, where Robinson called upon the game old mare, but unavailingly, as she was already beaten.* At the half distance, Lye, seeing he

* A correspondent, writing to the Editor of the Sporting Magazine, in 1829, on the disgraceful management of His Majesty's horses, says:—"While on this subject, Mr. Editor" (referring to a very remarkable circumstance relating to "The Colonel," and which will appear in the notice of that horse), "may I be allowed to mention another fact concerning Fleur-de-Lis, which is quite enough to prevent her winning the Cup at Doncaster, next week? Everybody knows that, after her severe race for the Goodwood Cup, she commenced her long and arduous journey to Doncaster, where she would have to contend with all the crack horses of the North. Now, I happened to be staying at one of the Inns, on the road, where Fleur-de-Lis stopped, and was asked in the evening by the landlord whether I 'should like to see the King's favourite mare?' 'Is it Maria?' † I asked. 'No! It is had nothing to fear from Fleur-de-Lis, raced up to Laurel, and the two came on together past the stand ; but, a few strides from home, Voltaire got his head in front and won, after a slashing set-to with Laurel, by half a length. When Lord Cleveland had obtained Lord Fitzwilliam's permission for Lye to ride Voltaire, so great was the opinion Tommy had formed of his mount, that he backed the colt for £500, and never hedged a penny of it. S. mg., 8st 5lbs each, four miles (Nelson), won £175, beating Moonshine. At Lincoln, 8st 10lbs, ran second for the Grand Falconer's Cup, won by Fleur-de-Lis (J. Robinson), beating Bessy Bedlam, Ballad Singer, Robin Hood, and two others.

At York (Spring), 9st 1lb, ran third and last in the Constitution Stakes, won by Medoro, six years, 9st 1lb (Wm. Scott), beating Cistercian, 8st, second. At York (August), 9st, two miles (Nicholson), won the Cup, and Sweepstakes, beating Lord Queensberry's (afterwards Lord Cleveland's) b. f. Maria (the dam of Euclid, by Emilius), by Whisker, three years, 6st 11lbs, second, Mr. Ridsdale's ch. c. Bryan, by Blacklock, three years, 7st, third, and Medoro, 9st, last. Nicholson contrived to get Laurel off with a considerable start, of which he made the most by a tremendous pace, leading his horses by several lengths for a mile and a half. Before reaching the stand, however, the two young ones caught him, and a general whipping and spurring commenced, in a most exciting contest, which Laurel won with great difficulty from the little Maria by half a length: Medoro was ten lengths behind Bryan. S. mg., 8st 11lbs (Nicholson), ran second for a Silver Tureen and Sweep (value £290), won by Mr. Houldsworth's ch. f. Fortitude (winner in 1829, of the Champion Stakes, at Lincoln, and, at Lincoln, this year, of the King's Plate), by Whisker, four years, 7st 8lbs (P. Conolly), beating Lord Sligo's br. c. Brine, by Waxy Pope (Derby winner, in 1809), ch. f. Lucy, by Tramp, four years, 7st 9lbs, Lord Fitzwilliam's br. m. Ballad Singer (winner, in 1829, Fleur-de-Lis.) I went to the stable, and found every hole and crevice closely stuffed with hay, when a free current of air is so essential to the health of a racehorse. The ostler said that he would call the King's groom, but I was unwilling to break in upon the rest of so fine a mare, who had before her a long day's journey on the morrow.

(Signed) "INDEPENDENCE, Sept. 3rd, 1829."

of the King's Plate, at Lincoln, and the King's Plate, at this meeting, and also the King's Plate, this year, at Doncaster), by Tramp, five years, 8st 6lbs (T. Lye), and Mr. John Scott's br. c. Barleycorn, by Figaro, three years, 6st 6lbs: Laurel took the lead, out-pacing everything, except Fortitude, who collared him fifty yards from home, and being pressed hard by Conolly, won a fine race, by half a length; Ballad Singer and Barleycorn were fully 100 yards behind at the finish, distance two miles, pace throughout tremendous; 5 to 2 on Laurel. At Pontefract, 9st 3lbs (Nicholson), two miles and a quarter, won the Cup, beating Lord Scarborough's br. colt, Cistercian (who, in 1829, ran a dead heat, and divided, with Medoro, for the Doncaster Stakes, and which he won this year), four years, 8st 3lbs (G. Nelson). At Doncaster, 9st (Nicholson), not placed for the Cup, won by Lord Kelburne's br. c. Retriever (winner, in 1829, of the St. Leger Stakes, at York Spring, a sweepstakes of £1700, at Doncaster, beating Fortitude, second, and was a good second to Medoro for the Gold Cup, at Richmond), four years, 8st 3lbs (T. Lye), beating Medoro, six years, 9st (H. Edwards), second, Fleur-de-Lis, 9st (Nelson), and three others, not placed. S. mg., 8st 10lbs, four miles (Sim Templeman), won £175, beating Ballad Singer, 8st 11b, and three others. At Lincoln, won a Purse of 70 gs.

At York (Spring), 9st 2lbs (Nicholson), two miles, ran second for the Gold Cup, of 160 sovs. added to a Handicap Sweep, of 25 sovs. each, 15 forfeit and 5 if declared, &c. (value £370), won by Lord Cleveland's famous little filly, Maria (winner, at York August, of the Great Subscription Purse), by Whisker, four years, 8st 4lbs (Lye), beating also Medoro, Retriever, and four others. At Beverley, 9st (Nicholson), won the Gold Cup, beating Lord Scarborough's b. h. Cambridge, by Catton, 9st, and one other. At York (August), 9st (T. Nicholson), ran third and last, for a Silver Tureen, won by Maria, four years, 7st 13lbs (Lye), beating Medoro, second, 9st (H. Edwards); 6 to 4 on Maria, and 5 to 2 against Medoro. At Doncaster, 9st, two miles (Nicholson), ran second for the Doncaster Stakes, of £140, won by Maria, 8st (Lye), beating two others ; 5 to 2 on Maria. S. mg., 8st 10lbs (Nicholson), four miles, ran third in a sweep of £200, won by the Hon. E. Petre's ch. h. Rowton (St. Leger winner, in 1829), by Oiseau (son of Camillus), five years, 8st 5lbs (Wm. Scott), beating Medoro, 8st 10lbs (H. Edwards), second, and one other ; even on Rowton, and 4 to 1 each against Laurel and Medoro. This was Laurel's last appearance on the Turf.
