SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT -

Commencement message of Ivan Hinderaker,
Chancellor, University of California at Riverside

It is necessary for us to provide an equal chance for all who want to build, an equal chance for all who want to earn the respect of others, an equal chance for all to express themselves in the ways most meaningful to them, an equal chance to feel and to know pride in one's person and in one's culture.

It is necessary for us to decide what we want to accomplish. If we don't want to get anything done, then it doesn't matter much how we do it. If we do want to get something done, then it matters very much how we do it.

It is necessary for us to protect the integrity of UCR from those who despair so deeply or whose anger is so uncontrolled that the overriding emotion is hate; the overriding goal destruction. Such protection cannot be insured by force. Chiefly, our campus is protected through the voluntary consent of its members. For that to be possible, individuals must respect the rights of other individuals. They must respect UCR. There must be a feeling by individuals that they have a personal stake in the success of UCR. There must be enough of all these things so that consent is voluntarily given.

I appreciate the dedication of UCR students to constructive achievement. They have concerned themselves with both their needs and my problems. They have generated both constructive criticism and constructive pressure. They have shown respect for their fellow students and for the needs of the whole campus.

Our goal is the creation of a community which is, in every sense, worthy of the name "university." I think we have made a start.

NIGHT LIGHTING FESTIVAL

At dusk on Saturday June 21, lights of various kinds and colors were switched on at Descanso Gardens, signaling the beginning of the 6th biennial Festival of Gardens, Lights and Fountains. From that magic summertime hour until August 10, the century-old oak forest and the colorful shrubs, flowers and lawns will form the background for 25 separate garden areas created by southern California's best landscape architects, lighting specialists, and designers of outdoor furniture.

In keeping with this year's celebration of California's bicentennial anniversary, the dominant mood will be Spanish, with patios and ornately tiled pools and fountains suggesting California as it was in the days when Jose Maria Verdugo was patron of a huge Spanish land grant.

As in the past, the Festival is expected to attract close to 100,000 visitors, many of whom will make their visit a day-long outing in order to enjoy some of the Garden's other attractions. There is, for example, a bird-watching station which affords a close-up view of a feeding station. There are the world-famous rose gardens and, for a bit of relaxation and refreshment, the Oriental Tea Pavilion and surrounding Japanese garden.

The purpose of the Festival, which is sponsored by the Descanso Gardens Guild, Inc., is to demonstrate the latest ideas in garden and patio design, technically and esthetically, for the benefit of home owners and builders. This year's exhibits have been designed with the practical needs and financial considerations of the average homeowner in mind.
