

Shaw Colle

May 14

Someday perhaps I shall ~~be able~~ have knowledge of genera sufficient to carry through such things as I may recognize as new in genera as well as species.

I hope to procure for you a quantity of our "Kai Apple" seed. (Aberia Cappa) before long. What I have now of has been carelessly saved and is not worth sending. The shrub is really the most magnificent hedge-matter conceivable. Evergreen, shining, handsome, the thorns would "persuade" an elephant to keep on the other side, and as most of our S.A. shrubs grow more quickly abroad than at home, it may prove very valuable in the prairie states at least, for a first and lasting fence.

The Bowiea enclosed is most curious. It is not the alaudia B. of Aitton, nor but of Hooker. Poor old Bowie is still alive, and I am told Ecklon too, at Capetown, but both have gone down to the dogs, my informants state - I know not with what correctness, through Boer brandy and half-caste connexions.

My paper is full. Once more let me thank you for your great continued kindness, and assure you that as you are so good as to promise to "place" any collections sent, I will endeavor from time to time to send such as may be worth your notice.

I have the honour to remain

Yours truly yours

Peter Macbride.

My dear Dr. Gray,

Your very h and last week per favour of D a hasty reply to post by the "Rou pressed it, determining to write to sailing about the 23-4th. Instr ter Shaw your very valuable p books. I may say - all - are now familiar with the "Botanical Li examination of its new form sh a new work. I promise myself combined, in that process which as "eating a book up" in the Ap so few, save those having a pa are worthy.

I have once run through the excel and am much delighted with that are you to have so many finding that you afford me no blanket as to S.A. plants. There about a "cubic yard" of S.A. su with 3 or 4 lbs. of your most show been almost without exception
