

Easton, Pa.,

June 22d, 1877.

My dear Sir,

I have your note of the 20th. Please accept my thanks for the botanical information conveyed. The supposed Ellisia was a hasty guess without careful examination. It is surely Polemonium micranthum, as I have it from Greene.

Do me the favor to inform Doctor Gray that I shall be very glad to receive the advanced sheets of the Fl. N. Am., which he has so kindly offered to send me.

Yrs. very truly,

Thos. C. Porter

P.S. - Accept my thanks also for the last nos. of yr. Contributions, which reached me just after my letter was mailed.
