

London, Canada, 19th August 1887

Dear Sir,

I take the liberty to trespass on your kindness the second time. With this I mail a dozen or thirteen specimens chiefly compositae for identification. The compositae and two of the labiate are from such a friend travelling in the U.S. picked up.

Where may I obtain your monograph on the roses? How can I procure your Bibliographical Index?

I enclose a stamped envelope in the box of specimens.

Yours very respectfully

Professor Sumner Watson
