

The Botanical Gazette.

EDITORS:

JOHN M. COULTER,

WABASH COLLEGE, CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND.

CHARLES R. BARNES,

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, WIS.

J. C. ARTHUR,

PURDUE UNIVERSITY, LAFAYETTE, IND.

August 18.1891.

My dear Dr. Watson:--

I was sorry to have to leave Cambridge without seeing you again, but as I had made all my arrangements on the supposition that you were to return on Monday I had no alternative. As both Miss Clark and Mr. Fernald were on hands I thought that the business of the herbarium would be better attended to probably than when in my charge. Going without seeing you, I was obliged to use my own discretion as to what books could be taken. I think that I have nothing that you are likely to need. The list of those that I took is in Miss Clark's hands.

My boxes of papers, books, etc. which I sent by freight came last week and were unpacked; yesterday I resumed work, beginning upon the Leguminosae.

My wife is already considerably improved by reason of the change. She sleeps and eats much better than in her desolation at the Sanitarium. She stood the journey well---much better than I anticipated and I hope that she will steadily gain in strength.

Your "Contributions XVIII" came yesterday; for which, thanks.

Very cordially yours,

C. R. Barnes

Cambridge University

August 18. 1891.

My dear Dr. Watson:--

I was sorry to have to leave Cambridge without seeing you again, but as I had made all my arrangements on the supposition that you were to return on Monday I had no alternative. As both Miss Clark and Mr. Fernald were on hands I thought that the business of the herbarium would be better attended to probably than when in my charge. Going without seeing you, I was obliged to use my own discretion as to what books could be taken. I think that I have nothing that you are likely to need. The list of those that I took is in Miss Clark's hands.

My boxes of papers, books, etc. which I sent by freight came last week and were unpacked; yesterday I resumed work, beginning upon the Leguminosae.

My wife is already considerably improved by reason of the change. She sleeps and eats much better than in her desolation at the Sanatorium. She stood the journey well---much better than I anticipated and I hope that she will steadily gain in strength.

Your "Contributions XVIII" came yesterday; for which, thanks.

Very cordially yours,

Aug 18, 1891

Barnes, Charles Reid. 1891. "Barnes, Charles R. Aug. 18, 1891 [to S. Watson]."
Asa Gray correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/221276>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/259061>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Arcadia 19th Century Collections Digitization/Harvard Library

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.