

for there he gave
her perhaps 15£ or 20 £ apiece. I do not know exactly how
much.
He has now issued
a "uniform" edition
of everything he
can get of hers.
I have seen several volumes. One contains my memoir of her,
& just a paper. The story of a short life & Daddy Darwin.
It is a very ugly

ORWELL HOUSE,

My dear Dr. Gray -

I waited till I got back here, before
answering you about Roberts', as I hoped to find some details
amongst my Lister's
papers relating to
their transactions.
But I have not
succeeded in finding
much.

All that I am sure

Of it that since
"Jai Rangas" was published by the

Roberts has paid
nothing for that. &
all the other books
he has issued.

He was angry that he began to publish
with S.D.Lt. instead of Bell because
S.D.Lt. has an agent
(Totts & Young) in New

York. & of course
the English edition
was circulated
through them.

Roberts produced a facsimile of Jai Rang^{as} cuts & all. directly
it came out. &
sent only his her one
copy. price 2 dollars & his time!!

Previous to 1883 he had taken "early
sheets" of 3 books
of hers. Great Smear^{eng} his to sixteen or
I forget which other

life my kind
love. I look back
with much great
pleasure to our
late meeting.

— & I look forward
to reading the
"Reminiscences"

edition I think
the margins are
so narrow a poor.
Please do not take any trouble about
Robert. so long as there is no legal protection of copyright
he must expect
to be plundered!

I am now going
to bring out an
enlarged edition
of Mother's book

on "fundials" ^{on Bell} their mothers" ^{with some} & want too ^{at 10/6 a copy}

So as to pay for
the cost of production, but I hope I shall
get there in England,
as I do not think
American readers w^d
take much interest
in the subject.

However - I might not to say this perhaps

for Whittier's lines
on a Dial are some of the most fine that I know!

I hope that you
& Mr. Gray have had a pleasant
visit at Miss North's - & will
get safely home
in time.

Please give your
