Abstract.—Lectotypes are designated from syntype series for 98 species of Chrysidae from the Palearctic, Neotropical and Ethiopian regions.

The Chrysidae comprises approximately 4000 species. Many of these species are based on syntype series. Because of the possibility of a syntype series containing individuals of more than one species or even genera, lectotypes need to be designated to prevent confusion. In preparation of a world revision of the Chrysidae with R. M. Bohart it has become necessary to designate lectotypes before the final revision is completed.

Type material was examined from the following institutions and individuals: BUDAPEST—Zoological Department, Hungarian Natural History Museum, Budapest (L. Zombori, J. Papp); CAPETOWN—Department of Entomology, South African Museum, Capetown (V. Whitehead); LENINGRAD—Zoological Institute, Academy of Sciences, Leningrad, USSR (V. A. Trajitzyn, Y. A. Pesenko, E. Budrys); LONDON—Department of Entomology, British Museum (Natural History), London (M. C. Day, C. Vardy); OXFORD—Hope Entomological Collections, Oxford University Museum, England (C. O'Toole); PARIS—Museum National d'Histoire Naturale, Laboratoire d'Entomologie, Paris, France (M. Kelner Pillault); PRETORIA—Department of Entomology, Transvaal Museum, Pretoria, South Africa (R. Toms, M. C. Scoble), and VIENNA—Zweite Zoologische Abteilung, Naturhistorisches Museum, Vienna, Austria (M. Fischer).

The following list of types is organized alphabetically by genus. The type repository is indicated in parentheses, followed by the correct genus if that name differs from that of the original description.
