

April 11, 1910

Dear Chamberlain:-

I certainly had ideal weather for the Penn. trip. Three days I was working with my sleeves rolled up above the elbows, and two days I had my hat off most of the time and was perfectly comfortable all the time. Easter afternoon I pecked quite a bunch of Arbutus to bring home, part of it was in full bloom, but most of it was only well along in bud. I returned via the Str. Maryland route from Jersey City to Harlem.

Am sorry to hear that you have got to change your plans for the summer. Where do the people go who want you to join them?

I do not know where you can get a copy of Farlow's paper on nomenclature. Perhaps Dr. Robinson might be able to tell you. I had quite a talk with Farlow within a week of the time that he sailed. Am glad to say that he is a strong advocate of the same date that I am for the starting point for the mosses (Hedwig, 1801*)

Let me know when you decide about your summer. If you are about New England perhaps we can get in a few days together in early September.

Cordially,

Collins, J. Franklin. 1910. "Collins, James Franklin Apr. 11, 1910 [Collins to Chamberlain]." Edward Blanchard Chamberlain letters to James Franklin Collins

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/258554>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/277846>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.