

Charlotte, Vt.

26, Jan., 1885.

Dear Dr. Gray,

I am jubilant this morning. With this pass by which I may travel at will along the base of the Sierra Madre and an unusual depth of snow in those mountains to insure a good growth of vegetation the coming season, I feel that ~~now~~ the success of my next journey is almost assured.

Now I will get off as early as possible with a view of beginning in the low and warmer country between Chihuahua and Zacatecas, as at Lerdo.

Deeply grateful for your kindness in this and other matters, I remain
Yours faithfully, C. G. Pringle.
