

Charlotte, Vermont.
25. June, 1886.

Dear Dr. Gray,

Yours of the 21st finds me still at ^{home} though I expect to be off ere many days, since I hear of rains beginning to come among the Mexican mountains.

Accept my thanks ^{for} the advance of $10 on account of Mr. John Ball, which shows your confidence in my making another collection.

This opportunity to recuperate my health and determination is not unwelcome.
(Though I did not accept it patiently) because I had had two years of very exhausting labor in gathering each year in the face of the difficulties opposed by the regions travelled, more than 20,000 specimens, and had suffered serious detriment from fever, etc.

I am grateful for the liberal supply of your last Contributions. Did it escape your notice that my 142, which you have named Randia Pringlei, was described (so it seems to me,) by Mr. Watson, Proc. Am.
Acad. XVIII, 98. ~~as~~ ~~under~~ under the name of Basanacantha (?) reticulata?

Yours faithfully,
C. L. Pringle.
