

It gives me great satisfaction to learn that my collection of this year is likely to be more interesting than former ones. My plan is a slow one, — working along our boundary then out from it.

May I beg you to examine soon
two plants in the bundle not for sale?
No. 1534, a Dahlia, and 1485, a Begonia.
I have brought home roots of these, and may be able to turn them to some account,
if you can give me the names.

Yours faithfully,

C. G. Pringle.

Charlotte, Vermont.

14, Dec., 1887.

Dear Mr. Watson,

Thanks for your letter of the 12th with later news of Dr. Gray's condition. There would seem to be little possibility of his long surviving.
Truly, a great sorrow has fallen upon us. I am stunned by its suddenness and weight; but find I have lost
my director and best friend.

And the information concerning
Mr. Bicksdorf gives me peculiar pain; for I was one of the first among botanists to gain his friendship; and,
since my visit to his pleasant and secluded home on the banks of the Columbia, I have felt much interest in him, and have held him in high esteem.

I am glad you name my panoply;
it relieves me of one anxiety.
A few of them are known to me, having been named by Dr. Gray heretofore; and others I guess at. It may aid
you a little, if I give a list of these.

Your kind reference to my pecuniary matters, past and prospective, reminds me that I ought to put myself in the way to receive any advice in respect to my plans for the future, which you may be pleased to give. I have expressed to you the uneasiness caused me by my being in debt, when my life may be somewhat less secure, perhaps than when I am at home, and my desire and hope to be able to pay my debt the coming spring. Doing this will leave me short of funds for another journey. And I do want to keep at work. Under these circumstances an offer from C. R. Orcutt tempts acceptance.

I don't know how well founded is the ambitious enterprise he represents; how written to Dr. Farry, who must know all about it. If there is danger of those elections going to Grinnell, perhaps, were I there, I could serve Cambridge well by turning them either. On the other hand I would like to follow up the beginning made in the Cordilleras region, where I have in store a good equipment. Should I go in spring time again, say early in March or even in February, and follow the streams down to the orange orchards, I would find in flower many shrubs and trees, and even herbs, which even Palmer did not get at Patopilas. Then if some rain should fall on the mountains, or they should have snow this winter, as they usually do, I would be ready for the resulting vegetation.

Should this winter be like the last - I don't want to be anywhere in North Mexico till next July.

Pringle, Cyrus G. 1887. "Pringle, Cyrus Guernsey Dec. 14, 1887 [Pringle to S. Watson]." Cyrus Guernsey Pringle letters to Asa Gray

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/258804>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/278290>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.