My dear Doctor Kennedy:

Boston
U.S.A.

Last Tuesday Marie and I made a comfortable journey to Boston. She was not much fatigued and has been gaining strength every day since. To avoid extra strain on her heart I carry her down stairs for dinner and up again <sup>after supper</sup> at bed time. She enjoys just being at home, but she has also been reading, mending and seeing her friends. The nurse came in town with us from Bryn Mawr and saw us comfortably settled in the drawing room on the Colonial Express. Marie is getting used to doing without the nurse, but finds it convenient fix her hair back of her head instead of on top. By the time you get home she should be quite strong again. Carrie & George wait till the eclipse is over before coming to visit us for four weeks, so we expect them next Thursday eve.

Since I wrote you Marie has gained steadily. We were able to set the date for our return at least two weeks ahead, and abide by it. We feel very grateful to be safe at home again. We had Thunder Shower this morning and cold east wind all day. We found the house in good order and a very warm welcome. Derby and Tim had not forgotten us.
We rejoice that you will have a glimpse of Spain, <sup>every</sup> a brief one. Marie sends much love to you all.
We know you will not be sorry you went even if a cloud should hide the eclipse. We hope the day will be clear however and that you will enjoy all the homeward journey.

With kind regards to you all

Sincerely

Calvin H. Page
