

cluding others from participating by giving the whole ourselves and now many will be interested in the work instead of a few.

Very truly yours,

Goodall

Two hundred and eighty five
Commonwealth Avenue

February 19, 1914.

Dr. George G. Kennedy,
Readville,
Mass.

Dear Doctor:

I have your favor of the 18th and think everything is going on very nicely. I wrote to Dr. Robinson, as I promised, that I would add fifteen to your ten and that it was my desire and I believed it was yours that these subscriptions should be conditional on the raising by Dr. Robinson of the balance.

He telephoned me last evening and seemed to be delighted with our subscriptions and with the prospect of soon raising the balance. Miss Minns has already subscribed one thousand and several others have made appointments with him. I think there is no doubt of his success.

Personally I am more than pleased with this outcome. I had a feeling that we were in a sense ex-

White, George R. 1914. "White, George R. 19 Feb 1914." George Golding Kennedy correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/173449>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/285469>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.