

Cutter Modoc, At Sea,
Tail of the Grand Banks,
Friday, 6 April, 1908.

Dear Friend Weaver -

It was a great pleasure to see you and Miss Brown once more. You appeared in fine health and in good spirits which condition is as it should be.

I enjoyed my evening with you very much and only regret we did not have an opportunity to see more of you.

I am enclosing my latest list of bird notes trusting they may be of some interest to you or your friends who are bird lovers.

We released the Myans last night, returned on board the Oceanographic party and are now scouting to the Northwest along the East Slope of the Grand Bank for ice bergs.

It has been a lovely trip since leaving Boston Monday last. Fine clear smooth weather all the way - to day is no exception. This is very unusual. I can assure you.

I am well and in good spirits but will be glad when the patrol is over for the season and I can return home to my little family.

Regards for your self and Miss Brown and with many thanks for your kindness to me while in Boston. Remain Sincerely Yours,
W. H. Mendenhall

Munter, William H. 1928. "Munter, William H. Apr. 6, 1928." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/159799>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/289333>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.