

Charlotte,

6. Jan; 1886.

My Dear Friend,

Oh, dear! Have I kept your parcel to Mr. Baker waiting so long? When you asked for a specimen of the Asplenium in particular to send him, I had just told you in a letter (or card) which must have passed your request in the way, that I would replace any specimens (of your own) you might send away. My ferns had not yet come; nor are the ones yet got from the railroad, so bad have been the roads. But I divide my specimen to get enough to show the character of the plant. New Herbarium will have a good specimen in my set it will receive —

Good for the plates! The exposures varies, you say. Then the light must have varied; for the drops was always the same, and always held naturally without rubber spring —

Yours faithfully,

Pringle —

Pringle, Cyrus G. 1886. "Pringle, C.G. Jan 6, 1886." George Edward Davenport correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/175072>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/290841>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.