

THE FAIRBANKS MUSEUM OF NATURAL SCIENCE
ST. JOHNSBURY, VERMONT

Feb. 21, 1906.

Mr. Geo. E. Davenport,
Needford, Mass.

My dear Mr. Davenport,

Thank you for the Rhodora, with inclosures, received from you today. The "fern find" in Proctor is certainly a very interesting one, and your account of it makes Vermonters feel that it will be worth their while to keep their eyes wide open and perhaps discover more ferns, next summer.

I suppose you know of Miss Darling of Hartland, and her discovery of the Aspidium Felix-mas? It was an interesting item as reported at the Botanical Club meeting.

I wish that you might attend the summer meeting of the society, at Mr. Mansfield.

Thanking you for the Phocora,
I am,

Sincerely yours,
(Miss) Delia L. Griffin,
Director.
