

Lauderdale Wis.

July 7th 1898-

My dear friend Deane -

Lauderdale never has seemed more attractive to me than it does this summer. Mrs. Bell made a remark last evening which I never before has not occurred to some of us to make before - namely - that the Lakes are really quieter now than they were when we first began coming here, seven years ago - With all the cottages and guests at the hotel there is less noise and disturbance than there was in the earlier day. At that time there were half-a-dozen "clubs" which came out every season with the express purpose of "raising old fod" in which purpose they were eminently successful. It may have been "fun" for the "clubs" but it was a serious annoyance to the few families that came over for a month or two's rest. Happily every one of those clubs is defunct. Their property having passed into private hands, with the exception of the "Belvoir" the members of which have a quarrel among themselves - neither party being able to buy out the other and so both stay away.

The club now which is called "Belvoir Island" the most valuable property on the Lakes.

The evening of our arrival I was toed - not to say - commanded by my better nine-tenths th go and lie in the hammock while the rest of the family, unpacked the trunks - to lie in fact. Till I was called to supper! Well I was all stuffed up with dust and car smoke

- somewhat tired - and no offer'd a very feeble protest. How grateful was the pure air and the perfect stillness of this summer evening!
I feel them - what I have already begun to realize. That Land and all would serve me better than did Georgia last winter. I have brought a lot of sewing work with me and hope to accomplish something worth while if I do gain in strength.

I had a nice letter from you before I left Rockford - and an other since my arrival here

What a jinxed fellow you are not to "reck count"

I did not know how it was with Rand talk - but before I got the hint from you I had begun to notice the morbid feeling in his letters which you deplore and in my last letter to him - dropping all traces of previous correspondence I set out to "shake him up" and make him realize that there was nothing in the whole business to give any one of us a moments anxiety or concern - If any one need feel blue it is Britton - over the flat failure of the work with a long name - as even Dr Coulter remarked to me "evidently condemned by the botanical fraternity"

We are to have a 6th pike which Walter caught yesterday raised for dinner today - Wish you and Mrs Deane could be with us! Cordially Webb
