

Dear Deane, Providence, Feb 8. 1894—
Your Bulletin of today is better, Chorizandra is a thing I especially desire as showing a Loganiaceae plant with simple leaves. Tell me, what is the name of the plant sold in shops as a curiosity - with inflated petioles & floating - called "water Hyacinth," Some call it a Pontederiac, but it has not the ghost of a resemblance to ours. Took some of my classes yesterday - on the whole, feel pretty well, would like more time in form of duets, Now I have dolours for my dollars. Castanet & Collins see in Castet Cast net and saw Fernand - who, it seems is to specialize on Coarx. Give my racial love to Bailey - whose name is quite familiar to me. My Hyacinths are up, the little pots; what will become of 'em, Send me the bill for flowers - Mia & the dear tots are well. My regards to your most excellent wife, Truly yours W. W. B.

POSTAL CARD ONE CENT.

UNITED STATES AMERICA

THIS SIDE IS FOR ADDRESS ONLY.

*Eichornia
crassipes,*

Mr Walter Deane-

9 Brewster Street-

Cambridge-
Mass.

Bailey, William Whitman. 1894. "Bailey, William Whitman Feb. 8, 1894 [postcard]." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164802>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/300534>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.