

My Dear Deane,
Don't take me so seriously, I am nothing if not gossamer, The clock, however ~~highly~~ ^{highly} ~~serious~~ ^{serious} ~~act~~ ^{act}; must perform its gancey that really I owe you, My life is a hum drum that I find I have with little to record, But an event is approaching; the children are coming home - and the Stonewall are going to bloom - and the hopes are peeping, So - I have hopes, as it were, Do you ever see Clute's magazine the Am Botanist; I write every month for it, Too busy to write more, No chance of writing Clute again, Yours ever Percy, April 8, 1905
