

Rue de Pillon - six -

Mon cher Deane,

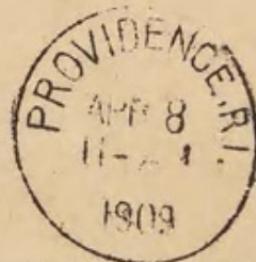

, à Providence

April 8, 1909

Pardon me;

In my last I was guilty of a curious flander, or what would be so if committed by any one less arithmetically stupid, I should have said Whitman's cards were 25 cents a dozen.

not a set, as I wrote. Consequently we sent you only about 8 cents worth of his stuff. As you asked for 2 sets of his product truly, I suppose you want the rest of your $1.50 in my Whately book for which I will try to send you as soon as possible, I have a horrible suspicion after all - that you are, in the kindness of your heart, only writing here to ail me & it makes me "down sick" as the little girl said - I write this in bed, awake all night. Tak!
