Dear Deane,

POST

EAST
CARD
— SIDE
STATION

I got home last eve for good & all - except the day of an anticipated storm.
Dear really, driven to town by a sharp frost which touched our morning-glories, & which and nearly froze me stiff in the night. Our only measure of heating is by a little oil-stove in my room and the kitchen stove - and how man is ever more regretted than I in a cold house. I came up last aft with my wife. The well known Sunday - and again next Wed - when she said they were not in a week packing up I am sorry that my wife will not see Mr. Pope, & that they have and that they have furnished I am and W. W. B.
