

6 Cushing St. Providence

Mr 25, 1912

My dear Deane, I have just been ill again in the queer way that I was about a year ago, losing the partial use of my working memory for about an hour. This time there was no pain attendant; I simply groped in vain for sentences and words where into to express myself. Except for more than usual rheumatic pains, I am today about at my normal "mean eminence".

I congratulate you on the dear old Soliloques - pet of mine always and from every point of view. I sometimes wish I'd given some to the Club, as I am rapidly being forgotten here by the authorities. Here's the last paper, I think still values me, but my heart is sore. I am told that a year ago the Poet, at the big Visitors meeting, said that authors only live plants are brought here & yet he himself should understand that short history Deane on the limits of his answers! W. W. I

EAST — — SIDE
STATION

THIS SIDE OF CARD IS FOR ADDRESS ONLY

Mr Walter Deane
29 Brewster Street
Cambridge
Mass

Bailey, William Whitman. 1912. "Bailey, William Whitman Mar. 25, 1912 [postcard]." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164555>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/300912>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.