

and expect to go to California the latter part of June 24 Devonshire Tr.

Boston - May 6, 1855

Dear "Walter"

It's different - when you thus turn our guns upon us! I had not seriously considered this when I ventured my suggestion - You see you are older than ~~we~~ - a very little - but enough to make it seem a bit of unwarrantable familiarity on our part.

However - we can do no less than believe that you are moved by the same tenderly impulse - and we shall look upon it as the token of a friendship, the value and delight of which we have not been slow to recognize and acknowledge - As such a token - we accept and welcome it.

Charlotte will be happy in it and will join in warmest acknowledgments and greetings - to "Margaret" and "Walter" - (Just think of it!)

Faithfully yours

Robert Ware

A note from Dr. Brainerd today in which he uses the expression "the Spring has come so remarkably early".
It seems he is fairly in a lot of work just now in the violet - blackberries

Ware, Robert Allison. 1915. "Ware, Robert Allison May 6, 1915." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/163304>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/304084>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.