

Sunday, May 15.

My Dear Deane:

It is 3 weeks to-day since I was waylaid, and I am still flat on my back with two unhealed holes in my abdomen. I hope to sit up a bit in a day or two, but it will be a week yet, I fear, before I go home. As soon as I get up, danger of hernia begins.

How lazy I am! It is astomishing how empty the long days are! Two apple trees, a Morello-Cherry and a pear are all the outer world with which I am familiar, and I watch

the croles and vireos
with surpassing interest as they come and go. It is all very strange and unnatural. But then how thankful I should be, for a poor woman across the hall is lying in her last illness, poor thing! Remember me to Mrs. D. L.H.B.

1892

City Hospital
Albany NY

Bailey, L. H. 1892. "Bailey, Liberty Hyde May 15, 1892." Walter Deane correspondence

View This Item Online: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/item/164204>

Permalink: <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org/partpdf/306241>

Holding Institution

Harvard University Botany Libraries

Sponsored by

IMLS

Copyright & Reuse

Copyright Status: Public domain. The BHL considers that this work is no longer under copyright protection.

This document was created from content at the Biodiversity Heritage Library, the world's largest open access digital library for biodiversity literature and archives. Visit BHL at <https://www.biodiversitylibrary.org>.