Dear Deane:

Glad of thy letter! How busy the days have grown, and how time does fugit! Day by day I grind away, hoping for the time when, far off, I may see the letter Z. But that letter seems to be a will o' the wish. We are now half way down the letter S. Shortie is the "stunt" (as we say at Cornell) that I did to-day. Vol. 3 is all in type and will be out some time, and or soon thereafter. I am staying closely at home, except now and then I hop on the train and run over to

Baltimore or New York or Chicago so that I will not forget how to behave myself on the cars.

We are all well, and when we can pay the grocer we are happy. I wish that you and Mrs.
D. could drop in and see us in our new home, with the flowers all a-bloom in the conservatory adjoining my study. It is really too bad that Boston was located so far away from Ithaca.

I have big plans on hand when the Cyclo. is done. Sometime I'll whisper it to thee.

Thine L.H.B.

I'll send you the Quarterlies when they are out.
